Distributions of Correlation Coefficients Hoben Thomas, 2012-12-06 An important problem in personnel psychology namely the psychometric problem known as validity generalization is addressed in this volume From a statistical point of view the problem is how to make statements about a population correlation coefficient based on inferences from a collection of sample correlation coefficients The first part of the book examines the largely ad hoc procedures which have been used to determine validity generalization The second part develops a new model formulated from the perspective of finite mixture theory and in addition illustrates its use in several applications

The Psychology of Adaptation To Absurdity Seymour Fisher, Rhoda L. Fisher, Rhoda Fisher, 2014-02-25 The major goal of this book is to explore and integrate all that is scientifically known about the utility of magical plans and strategies for coping with life's inevitable absurdities Make believe has great adaptive value and helps the average individual to function better in cultures saturated with puzzling contradictions This book traces the origins of pretending illusion construction and the developmental phases of this skill Further it analyzes how parents depend on pretending to secure conformity and self control from their children It unravels the ways in which make believe is utilized to defend against death anxiety and feelings of fragility It examines the relationship between pretending and the classical defense mechanisms and particularly weighs the evidence bearing on the potential protective power of embracing religious beliefs Finally it defines the diverse contributions of make believe to the construction of the self concept the defensive maneuvers typifying psychopathology and the maintenance of somatic health In short this book pulls together a spectrum of scientific information concerning the defensive value of illusory make believe in coping with those aspects of life such as death loss suffering and injustice that are experienced as unreasonable and beyond understanding The volume is unique not only in the breadth of the literature it analyzes but also in demonstrating the contribution of make believe to both the psychological and somatic aspects of behavior No previous work has documented in such detail and across so many domains how basic the capacity to engage in make believe is to human adaptation

Self-Defeating Behaviors Rebecca C. Curtis, 2013-11-11 In the desert I saw a creature naked bestial Who squatting upon the ground Held his heart in his hands And ate of it I said Is it good friend It is bitter bitter he answered But I like it Because it is bitter And because it is my heart Stephen Crane The Black Riders and Other Lines It is the function of great art to purge and give meaning to human suffering wrote Bernard Knox 1982 p 149 in his introduction to Oedipus Rex This is done by showing some causal connection between the hero's free will and his suffering by bringing to the fore the interplay of the forces of destiny and human freedom Knox states that Freud was wrong when he suggested that it was the particular nature of the material in Oedipus that makes the play so deeply moving and not the contrast between destiny and human will Knox believes that this play has an overpowering effect upon us not only because we share the tendency of Oedipus to direct our first sexual impulse towards our mother and our first murderous wish against our father as Freud tells us but also because the theological modification of the legend introduced by Sophocles calls into question the sacred beliefs of our time Knox 1982 pp 133 137
