Cosmopolitan Film Cultures in Latin America, 1896-1960 Rielle Navitski, Nicolas Poppe, 2017-06-19 Cosmopolitan Film Cultures in Latin America examines how cinema forged cultural connections between Latin American publics and film exporting nations in the first half of the twentieth century Predating today's transnational media industries by several decades these connections were defined by active economic and cultural exchanges as well as longstanding inequalities in political power and cultural capital The essays explore the arrival and expansion of cinema throughout the region from the first screenings of the Lumière Cinématographe in 1896 to the emergence of new forms of cinephilia and cult spectatorship in the 1940s and beyond Examining these transnational exchanges through the lens of the cosmopolitan which emphasizes the ethical and political dimensions of cultural consumption illuminates the role played by moving images in negotiating between the local national and global and between the popular and the elite in twentieth century Latin America In addition primary historical documents provide vivid accounts of Latin American film critics movie audiences and film industry workers experiences with moving images produced elsewhere encounters that were deeply rooted in the local context yet also opened out onto global horizons

Lapsplotation, Exploitation Cinemas, and Latin America Victoria Ruétalo, Dolores Tierney, 2009-05-07 Exploring the much neglected area of Latin American exploitation cinema this anthology challenges established continental and national histories and canons which often exclude exploitation cinema due to its perceived low cultural status It argues that Latin American exploitation cinema makes an important aesthetic and social contribution to the larger body of Latin American cinema often competing with Hollywood and more mainstream national cinemas in terms of popularity Violated Frames Victoria Ruétalo, 2022-01-11 When Armando B and Isabel Sarli began making sexploitation films together in 1956 they provoked audiences by featuring explicit nudity that would increasingly become more audacious constantly challenging contemporary norms Their Argentine films developed a large and international fan base Analyzing the couple's films and their subsequent censorship Violated Frames develops a new roughly constructed and bad archive of relocated materials to debate questions of performance authorship stardom sexuality and circulation Victoria Ruétalo situates B and Sarli's films amidst the popular culture and sexual norms in post 1955 Argentina and explores these films through the lens of bodies engaged in labor and leisure in a context of growing censorship Under Peron manual labor produced an affect that fixed a specific type of body to the populist movement of Peronism a type of body that was young lower classed and highly gendered The excesses of leisure in exhibition enjoyment and ecstasy in B and Sarli's films interrupted the already fragmented film narratives of the day and created alternative sexual possibilities

Jacques Tourneur Chris Fujiwara, 2015-05-07 At least three of director Jacques Tourneur's films Cat People I Walked with a Zombie and The Leopard Man are recognized as horror classics Yet his contributions to these films are often minimized by scholars with most of the credit going to the films producer Val Lewton A detailed examination of the director's full body of work reveals that those elements most evident in the Tourneur Lewton collaborations the lack of monsters and the stylized use of suggested violence are equally apparent in Tourneur's films before and after his work with Lewton Mystery and sensuality were hallmarks of his style and he possessed a highly artistic visual and aural style This insightful critical study examines each of Tourneur's films as well as his extensive work on MGM shorts 1936-1942 and in television What emerges is evidence of a highly coherent directorial style that runs throughout Tourneur's works

Cien años de cine argentino Fernando Martín Peña, 2012-01-01 Esta no es una nueva historia del cine argentino sino una interrogación de las que ya se han escrito a través de la revisión contemporánea de varios centenares de films importantes Constituye un relato que puede leerse como una totalidad o de manera fragmentaria y que adopta una curiosa circularidad la forma en que se presenta el cine contemporáneo se parece curiosamente al inicial Por su carácter original imprevisible y heterogéneo por una producción completamente atomizada por la relativa facilidad de acceso a los medios de producción el más reciente cine argentino se parece bastante al más antiguo
