Autistic Wendela Whitcomb Marsh,2023-12-05 If anyone suggests that autistic people should not have children in the mistaken belief that they would not be good parents because of their neurodiversity they are wrong Completely wrong This is not to say that every autistic person should have a child any more than every neuro majority person should People usually know for themselves whether or not they want to become parents and if they don t they shouldn t It s as simple as that Of course that doesn t mean that every moment will be sunshine rainbows and cute cuddly babies who sleep all night and never throw their oatmeal on the floor Babies are just teenagers on hold and teenagers are adults in waiting At every step in the growing up process there will be hard times and there will be joyful times Parents have made this same journey since people began peopling and the journey will continue after our children s children have grandchildren of their own We re part of a huge spectrum of parenting through the ages Isn t it a wonder and a privilege to be a link in this chain Having a different brain as autists ADHDers and AuDHDers do does not mean that you shouldn t be part of this link if your heart leads you to parenting You ll be amazing You and I both know though that being neurodivergent in a neuro majority world is not easy Parenting isn t easy either but you can do difficult things You ve been doing them all along haven t you Parenting is just one more challenge you can manage and it s worth it This book is here to help you navigate the unique aspects of parenting while autistic Throughout the book you ll find side trips to focus on various aspects of parenting while autistic Here s a description of each one Sensory Smarts In this section we ll discuss some of the sensory issues related to different stages of the parenting journey You ll find strategies for coping with heightened sensory reactions Make Family Meetings Fun Your family s need for Family Meetings and what you will focus on in these meetings will change as your children grow Keep up with their needs and yours while making it fun for everyone Weekends That Work You deserve a break at the end of a busy week and so do your kids How can you create the kind of weekend that works for all of you You ll find tips in this section Fictional Families Throughout the book the topics and challenges at your child s developmental stages will be illustrated by fictional families who like you are parenting while autistic Follow them on their journeys and see what you may have in common with them Parent To Parent It s important to listen to the authentic voices of actually autistic parents Here you will find words of wisdom from neurodivergent moms and dads who have walked the ND parenting path before you and who want you to succeed too You ve got this Let s go A New Door Opened Rolande Antoinette Degazon-Johnson,Roli

Degazon-Johnson,2001 In the Parish of Clarendon in Jamaica about 10 percent of infants are born to teenage mothers

Between 1986 and 1996 over 500 young mothers and their children participated in the Teenage Mothers Programme TMP. The TMP took an approach that encompassed the development of the young women, stimulation and care for the infants, support in the home and contacts with the infants' fathers. Ten of the mothers who had participated in the early years of the TMP were traced in 1999 and they and their children were interviewed as were a matched comparison group of another 10 mothers and children who had not been in the program. In addition, a focus group interview was conducted with the 10 TMP participants to gain additional information on the positive features of the TMP and suggestions for improvement. The findings provided solid evidence of the positive effects of the TMP. All the former program mothers were employed; most had undertaken post school training and their children were mostly ranked above average by their teachers. In contrast, the comparison group's employment rate was much lower and their children were mostly ranked below average to average by their teachers. The mothers in the comparison group had given birth to more than twice as many infants than mothers in the program group over the same period. Three appendices summarize the focus group interviews: contain the study questionnaire for mothers, teachers and children and summarize previous research on the Teenage Mothers Programme. KB

Daisy's Babies Lisa Kopper, 2000. The story of Daisy and her three puppies and how they play with Baby.

Re-imagining Child Protection Brid Featherstone, Kate Morris, Susan White, 2014-04-14. Raising a number of critical questions. Brid Featherstone, Susan White and Kate Morris challenge a child protection culture that they see as becoming increasingly authoritarian. Calling for a family minded practice of child protection, they argue that children should be understood as relational beings and that greater sensitivity should be paid to parents and the needs they have as a result of the burdens of childcare. They argue that current child protection services need to ameliorate rather than reinforce the many deprivations that parents engaged in their systems face. Bringing together authors who combine a wealth of experience in both scholarship and practice, this book provides a sensitive reassessment of a critical point of contact between governments and families.

Herald and Presbyter, 1894. Unlimited Love Rosemary Farris, 2022-08-05. This is the inspiring story of how one mother and her family had a positive impact on more than four hundred children over their twenty five years of fostering. Learn about their passion and how they welcomed hurt, scared and troubled children into their home at all hours of the day and night and cared for them like they were their own. From newborn babies to toddlers to brothers and sisters and teens, they touched the lives of so many with their love and devotion. What a marvelous story! It is a reminder that there are still good people out there doing their part to help others. aEURBob Morse, writer and editor. I still consider you my parents because you were the first ones to truly love and care for me when I needed it most. aEURPaul, former foster child. I have never met anyone that can match Rosie's love and compassion for her kids and Kenny's support and devotion to Rosie.

Past Daisy Parker's boyfriend has strayed one too many times and she's no longer sitting pretty. Having sacrificed seven years of her life to being his faithful woman and raising his nine year old son the only thing that will calm her now is to hurl his beloved wardrobe out their second story window. Single life may scare Daisy but her mind is made up when the good for nothing returns she'll serve him his walking papers. Only he isn't up to his old tricks that night and what goes down strips Daisy of the option to choose. She's on her own. A Hopeful Future Left penniless homeless and jobless Daisy struggles to make a home for herself and her son. Just when she seems poised to take control and put the baggage of her past behind her complications arise when the towering frame of Daisy's deliciously handsome college crush strolls into town. His unexpected attention makes her feel alive yet she's been burned by love once and isn't sure she can take the heat. As undeniable passions rise so do the stakes and Daisy can't stand to lose another round. A compelling tale of life love and hope.
