Baby Hunger Every Woman's Longing For A Baby:

Baby Hunger Lois Jean Davitz, 1984      With Child in Mind Margaret Sandelowski, 2016-11-11 Sandelowski retells the stories of couples who want to have children but cannot. In their own words the couples candidly discuss what it means to be infertile and how infertility ultimately affects their views of themselves, their values, their children and their interactions with others. Information from more than 500 intensive interviews with women and couples forms the core of With Child in Mind.

Baby Hunger Beth Forbus, 2003-11      Women On Women: A Feminist Study Bhaskar A. Shukla, 2006      Emotion, Theory, Research, and Experience: Biological foundations of emotion Robert Plutchik, Henry Kellerman, 1980      The Baby Matrix Laura Carroll, 2012-05-17 In the movie The Matrix the character Morpheus offers two pills to Neo. If he takes the blue pill he will go on with life as he has before believing what he has always believed. If he takes the red pill he will find out what the matrix really is and many of his earlier beliefs will be shattered. When it comes to taking a hard look at a specific set of beliefs about parenthood and reproduction that has driven our society for generations The Baby Matrix is the red pill. The Baby Matrix looks at long held beliefs about parenthood and reproduction and unravels why we believe what we believe. It lays out: We commonly think our desire to have children boils down to our biological wiring but author Laura Carroll says it's much more than that. Unlike other books on parenthood The Baby Matrix: Why Freeing Our Minds From Outmoded Thinking About Parenthood: Reproduction Will Create a Better World takes a serious look at powerful social and cultural influences that drive the desire for the parenthood experience and lays out why we need to be very aware of these influences to make the most informed decisions about parenthood: the historical origins of beliefs about parenthood and reproduction; why many of these beliefs no longer work for society or were never true in the first place; why we continue to believe them anyway; the prices society pays as a result. The Baby Matrix shows us how we got here, brings to light what is true, which includes knowing about the powerful influence of pronatalism and explains why society can no longer afford to leave pronatalism unquestioned. This is not a book about convincing people not to have children, says Carroll. I want people to be very aware of the long held social and cultural pressures and be able to free themselves from those pressures when making parenthood choices. This will result in more people making the best decisions for themselves, will foster a society in which those who are best suited to become parents are the ones who have children, and one that knows what it means to bring a child into the world today. This book will make you examine your own intentions and beliefs, will rile you and might just change your mind. Whether you are already a parent, want to become a parent, are still making up your mind, or know you don't want children, you'll never think about parenthood in the same way. The Baby Matrix is a must read for anyone interested in psychology, sociology, anthropology, parenting issues, environmentalism, and social justice. But most of all, it's for anyone, parent or not, who reveres the truth and wants the best for themselves, their families, and our world.      Counseling for Unplanned Pregnancy and

Infertility Everett L. Worthington, 1987      Biological Foundations of Emotion Robert Plutchik, Henry Kellerman, 2013-09-17
Biological Foundations of Emotion is a detailed account of the relations between brain structure functions and emotions based on the results of experimental work and theoretical modeling. A range of issues are examined such as whether there are structures, circuits, or biochemical events in the brain that control emotional expressions or experience the effects of lesions and electrical stimulation on emotions and the role of genetics in the expression of emotion. Comprised of 16 chapters, this volume begins with a presentation of general models of brain functioning. The first chapter deals with the neural substrate for emotion and cites evidence showing that the conventional concept of a limbic system underlying all emotions is not adequate. The discussion then turns to ethological and evolutionary factors of emotion with emphasis on neuroendocrine patterns of emotional response. Ictal symptoms relating to the nature of affects and their cerebral substrate, the anatomy of emotions, and neural systems involved in emotion in primates. Subsequent chapters present different but overlapping brain models of aggression and examine the role of biochemistry in understanding emotions. This book will be of interest to biologists and psychologists.

A Woman's Place Lynn Austin,2006-11-01 They watched their sons their brothers and their husbands enlist to fight a growing menace across the seas And when their nation asked they answered the call as well Virginia longs to find a purpose beyond others expectations Helen is driven by a loneliness money can t fulfill Rosa is desperate to flee her in laws rules Jean hopes to prove herself in a man s world Under the storm clouds of destruction that threaten America during the early 1940s this unlikely gathering of women will experience life in sometimes startling new ways as their beliefs are challenged and they struggle toward a new understanding of what love and sacrifice truly mean The Challenges of Working with Child

Sexual Exploitation and How a Psychoanalytic Understanding Can Help Marion Bower,Robin Solomon,2024-06-03 Sexual exploitation is becoming endemic in our society It involves victims being coerced to enter abusive sexual relationships with individuals or gangs It can occur with children from care homes or from more privileged backgrounds Sexual exploitation is so addictive that it is really difficult to extract the victims This is the first book that we are aware of that examines exploitation using a psychoanalytic framework which makes the behaviour and motives of victims and in some cases exploiters comprehensible The book looks at a range of situations from care homes to refugee camps and elite schools

We expect this book to become indispensable for social workers psychotherapists counsellors and care workers who have to tackle child sexual exploitation Giving up an addiction is a struggle Our clinical examples show how much and what kinds of work are needed to start to release girls from their addiction to their exploiters The roots of vulnerability lie in an attack on the maternal function This is reflected in the huge expansion of day care taking children from as little as three months old Care for mothers and children can be transformed We demonstrate how powerful properly organised maternal type care can be to give young people a sound start to their lives
