Parliamentary Debates New Zealand. Parliament,1950 Breaking The Backcountry Matthew C. Ward,2003-11-02 Even as the 250th anniversary of its outbreak approaches the Seven Years War otherwise known as the French and Indian War is still not wholly understood Most accounts tell the story as a military struggle between British and French forces with shifting alliances of Indians culminating in the British conquest of Canada Scholarly and popular works alike including James Fennimore Cooper s Last of the Mohicans focus on the action in the Hudson River Valley and the St Lawrence Seaway Matthew C Ward tells the compelling story of the war from the point of view of the region where it actually began and whose people felt the devastating effects of war most keenly the backcountry communities of Virginia and Pennsylvania Previous wars in North America had been fought largely on the New England and New York frontiers But on May 28 1754 when a young George Washington commanded the first shot fired in western Pennsylvania fighting spread for the first time to Virginia and Pennsylvania Ward s original research reveals that on the eve of the Seven Years War the communities of these colonies were isolated economically weak and culturally diverse He shows in riveting detail how despite the British empire s triumph the war brought social chaos sickness hunger punishment and violence to the backcountry much of it at the hands of Indian warriors Ward s fresh analysis reveals that Indian raids were not random skirmishes but part of an organized strategy that included psychological warfare designed to make settlers flee Indian territories It was the awesome effectiveness of this guerilla warfare Ward argues that led to the most enduring legacies of the war Indian hating and an armed population of colonial settlers distrustful of the British empire that couldn t protect them Understanding the horrors of the Seven Years War as experienced in the backwoods thus provides unique insights into the origins of the American republic The Southern Colonial Backcountry David Colin Crass,1998 This book brings a variety of fresh perspectives to bear on the diverse people and settlements of the eighteenth and early nineteenth century southern backcountry Reflecting the growth of interdisciplinary studies in addressing the backcountry the volume specifically points to the use of history archaeology geography and material culture studies in examining communities on the southern frontier Through a series of case studies and overviews the contributors use cross disciplinary analysis to look at community formation and maintenance in the backcountry areas of Virginia North Carolina South Carolina and Tennessee These essays demonstrate how various combinations of research strategies conceptual frameworks and data can afford a new look at a geographical area and its settlement The contributors offer views on the evolution of backcountry communities by addressing such topics as migration kinship public institutions transportation and communications networks land markets and real estate claims and the role of agricultural development in the emergence of a regional economy In their discussions of individuals in the backcountry they also explore the multiracial and multiethnic character of southern frontier society Yielding new insights unlikely to emerge under a single disciplinary analysis The Southern Colonial Backcountry is a unique volume that highlights the need for interdisciplinary approaches to the backcountry while identifying common research problems in the field The Editors David Colin Crass is the archaeological services unit manager at the Historic Preservation Division Georgia Department of Natural Resources Steven D Smith is the head of the Cultural Resources Consulting Division of the South Carolina Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology Martha A Zierden is curator of historical archaeology at The Charleston Museum Richard D Brooks is the administrative manager of the Savannah River Archeological Research Program South Carolina Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology The Contributors Monica L Beck Edward Cashin Charles H Faulkner Elizabeth Arnett Fields Warren R Hofstra David C Hsiung Kenneth E Lewis Donald W Linebaugh Turk McCleskey Robert D Mitchell Michael J Puglisi Daniel B Thorp
