Christian Theology Daniel G. Groody, 2007-04-01 Since the publication of Gustavo Gutierrez's 1973 groundbreaking work A Theology of Liberation much has been written on liberation theology and its central premise of the preferential option for the poor. Arguably this has been one of the most important yet controversial theological themes of the twentieth century. As globalization creates greater gaps between the rich and the poor and as the situation for many of the world's poor worsens there is an ever greater need to understand the gift and challenge of Christian faith from the context of the poor and marginalized of our society. This volume draws on the thought of leading international scholars and explores how the Christian tradition can help us understand the theological foundations for the option for the poor. The central focus of the book revolves around the question: How can one live a Christian life in a world of destitution? The contributors are concerned not only with a social, economic or political understanding of poverty but above all with the option for the poor as a theological concept. While these essays are rooted in a solid grounding of our present reality they look to the past to understand some of the central truths of Christian faith and to the future as a source of Christian hope. Following Gustavo Gutierrez's essay on the multidimensionality of poverty, Elsa Tamez, Hugh Page Jr, Brian Daley and Jon Sobrino identify a central theological premise: poverty is contrary to the will of God. Drawing on scripture, the writings of the early fathers, the witness of Christian martyrs and contemporary theological reflection they argue that poverty represents the greatest challenge to Christian faith and discipleship. David Tracy and J. Matthew Ashley carry their reflection forward by examining the option for the poor in light of apocalyptic thought. Virgilio Elizondo, Patrick Kalilombe, Mar a Pilar Aquino, M. Shawn Copeland and Mary Catherine Hilkert examine the challenges of poverty with respect to culture, Africa, race and gender. Casiano Floristán and Luis Maldonado explore the relationship between poverty, sacramentality and popular religiosity. The final two essays by Aloysius Pieris and Michael Signer consider the option for the poor in relationship to other major world religions, particularly an Asian theology of religions and the meaning of care for the poor within Judaism. Different

Visions of Love Brian Griffith, 2008 Griffith's narrative moves like a searchlight over each phase of church history, illuminating the visions, options and choices behind events. He traces the rise of a dominant version of Christianity in which the primary concern was a chain of command to be followed with rewards or punishments according to the degree of obedience. And beside this he illuminates another face of Christianity concerned with healing all divisions between loved and unloved people. The story Griffith presents is often deeply disturbing as in his unstinting accounts concerning the gospel for women or the age of holy wars and witch hunts. But ultimately his story offers solid grounds for optimism. He shows that all contention between different religious visions can be a process of building partnership. As Griffith points out, Jesus himself wished to debate his opponents openly, not to silence or eliminate them. He was not afraid of real encounter or the potential of creative conflict. I want to congratulate Brian Griffith on this masterful, controversial and highly readable account. His book offers hope in a divided world where reaction against globalized, godless corporate secularism meets with a war on religious fundamentalism I hope to see other writers do comparable work in highlighting the partnership and dominator visions within their religious traditions around the world Riane Eisler author of The Chalice the Blade Sacred Pleasure Tomorrows Children The Power of Partnership The Real Wealth of Nations I find it gives me an incredibly clarifying perspective on Christianity way beyond my previous understanding It should be read by everyone with an interest in Western Civilization It is a marvelous companion to The Great Turning David Korten author of The Great Turning From Empire to Earth Community
