Raw: Architectural Engagements with Nature Brit Strandhagen,Dr Hege Charlotte Faber,Dr Solveig B  ,2014-10-28 Through cross disciplinary explorations of and engagements with nature as a forming part of architecture this volume sheds light on the concepts of both nature and architecture Nature is examined in a raw intermediary state where it is noticeable as nature despite but at the same time through man s effort at creating form This is done by approaching nature from the perspective of architecture understood not only as concrete buildings but as a fundamental human way both of being in and relating to the world Man finds and forms places where life may take place Consequently architecture may be understood as ranging from the simple mark on the ground and primitive enclosure to the contemporary megalopolis Nature inheres in many aesthetic forms of expression In architecture however nature emerges with a particular power and clarity which makes architecture a raw kind of art Even though other forms of art as well as aesthetic phenomena outside the arts are addressed the analogy to architecture will be evident and important Thus by using the concept of raw as a focal point this book provides new approaches to architecture in a broad sense as well as other aesthetic and artistic practices and will be of interest to readers from different fields of the arts and humanities spanning from philosophy and theology to history of art architecture and music

The City Natural Shen Hou, 2010-11-23 The weekly magazine Garden and Forest existed for only nine years 1888-1897 Yet in that brief span it brought to light many of the issues that would influence the future of American environmentalism In The City Natural Shen Hou presents the first biography of this important but largely overlooked vehicle for individuals with the common goal of preserving nature in American civilization As Hou s study reveals Garden and Forest was instrumental in redefining the fields of botany and horticulture while also helping to shape the fledgling professions of landscape architecture and forestry The publication actively called for reform in government policy urban design and future planning for the preservation and inclusion of nature in cities It also attempted to shape public opinion on these issues through a democratic ideal that every citizen had the right and need to access nature These notions would anticipate the conservation and city beautiful movements that followed in the early twentieth century Hou explains the social and environmental conditions that led to the rise of reform efforts organizations and publications such as Garden and Forest She reveals the intellectual core and vision of the magazine as a proponent of the city natural movement that sought to relate nature and civilization through the arts and sciences Garden and Forest was a staunch advocate of urban living made better through careful planning and design As Hou shows the publication also promoted forest management and preservation not only as a natural resource but as an economic one She also profiles the editors and contributors who set the magazine s tone and follows their efforts to expand America s environmental expertise Through the pages of Garden and Forest the early period of environmentalism was especially fruitful and optimistic many individuals joined forces for the benefit of humankind and helped lay the foundation for a coherent national movement Shen Hou s study gives Garden and Forest its due and adds an important new chapter to the early history of American environmentalism

The Haraway Reader Donna Jeanne Haraway, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Black to Nature Stefanie K. Dunning, 2021-04-22 In Black to Nature Pastoral Return and African American Culture author Stefanie K Dunning considers both popular and literary texts that range from Beyoncé's Lemonade to Jesmyn Ward's Salvage the Bones These key works restage Black women in relation to nature Dunning argues that depictions of protagonists who return to pastoral settings contest the violent and racist history that incentivized Black disavowal of the natural world Dunning offers an original theoretical paradigm for thinking through race and nature by showing that diverse constructions of nature in these texts are deployed as a means of rescrambling the teleology of the Western progress narrative In a series of fascinating close readings of contemporary Black texts she reveals how a range of artists evoke nature to suggest that interbeing with nature signals a call for what Jared Sexton calls the dream of Black Studies abolition Black to Nature thus offers nuanced readings that advance an emerging body of critical and creative work at the nexus of Blackness gender and nature Written in a clear approachable and multilayered style that aims to be as poignant as nature itself the volume offers a unique combination of theoretical breadth narrative beauty and broader perspective that suggests it will be a foundational text in a new critical turn towards framing nature within a cultural studies context
