Eecke, 2001 In Phenomenology and Lacan on Schizophrenia Alphonse De Waelhens provides a clear summary of Lacan's theory of schizophrenia as Lacan derived it from his commentary of Freud's study of the Memoirs of Schreber. De Waelhens also shows how Lacan's understanding of the schizophrenic as having a defective relation to language can also explain four other characteristics of schizophrenic behavior: the fragmented body image, lack of realistic evaluation of the world, so-called bisexuality, and confusion of birth and death. Third, De Waelhens gives a Hegelian interpretation of the pre-Oedipal experience of the child. He makes use of Freud's study on his grand child using a bobbin and later the words fort da away here to demonstrate that a transitional object allows the child to take distance from its attachment to the mother so that it can start to separate itself from the mother. Taking distance is according to De Waelhens introducing the Hegelian negative which is the birth of the subject. Fourth, De Waelhens gives a dialectic reading of the history of German and French psychiatry. He shows the epistemological contradictions in the work of some of the great nineteenth century psychiatrists relying too exclusively on a biological model of schizophrenia. In his contribution to this volume Wilfried Ver Eecke draws several lessons from evaluating the literature on schizophrenia. He argues that epistemologically neither a biological nor a psychological method of reasoning can capture all the factors that can play a role in the creation of schizophrenia. He relies heavily but not exclusively on the Finnish studies of Tienari, Myrman, and Wahlberg and their colleagues to provide statistical evidence that non-biological factors also play an important role in causing schizophrenia. He relies heavily but again not exclusively on the study by Karon and VandenBos to demonstrate statistically the efficiency of psychodynamically inspired therapy of schizophrenics. Ver Eecke also addresses an apparent inconsistency in De Waelhens' presentation of Lacan's theory of schizophrenia. Where De Waelhens seemed to argue at one time that the mother figure was the crucial figure to explain schizophrenia leading to a defective relation to the body and at another time that it was the role of the father which was crucial leading to a defective relation to language and the symbolic there, Ver Eecke argues that the defective function of each influences the function of the other. He then draws a conclusion for the therapy of schizophrenics: to be helpful a therapist will have to address both deficiencies. The problem for treating schizophrenics is that correcting an unconscious deficiency to the body, a deficiency in the imaginary, requires a totally different kind of intervention than an attempt to correct a symbolic deficiency, a deficiency in the paternal function. A correction of the imaginary requires a kind of maternal mirroring; a correction of the symbolic requires making a distinction or a prohibition stick. One further difficulty arises: Psychotherapy uses language in its treatment. However, language in schizophrenics is deficient. We can therefore expect that language will be inefficient. This is so unless the therapist uses language first to make a repair at the imaginary level and only thereafter makes an attempt to make a correction in the symbolic. In analyzing successful therapeutic techniques reported by several therapists, Ver Eecke discovers that all of them first try to repair the imaginary before they attempt to make corrections to the symbolic.

Hide and Seek Virginia L. Blum, 1995 In response to widespread cultural fantasies about the child including childhood innocence the child as origin of the adult the fetal emergence of subjectivity and the inner child movement Hide and Seek examines representations of the child in fiction psychoanalysis and popular culture Concentrating on the go between function of the child in nineteenth and twentieth century American and British fiction Virginia Blum shows how selected children in the works of L P Hartley Charles Dickens Henry James and Vladimir Nabokov were actually fictional messengers who ultimately were unsuccessful at reconciling impasses in the adult world Throughout her book Blum draws on pop images of real and fictional children ranging from the Baby Jessica case in which the idea of real paternity and family bonds comes to the mythic fore to the film Home Alone in which the abandoned child becomes protector of his family s hearth and home Hide and Seek raises provocative questions about the ways in which our culture fetishizes the idea of the child at the same time that we treat with comparative indifference the conditions under which many real children actually live A work of striking originality and consistent intellectual honesty forcing us into genuinely profound and darkly uncomfortable areas of speculation James R Kincaid author of Child Loving The Erotic Child and Victorian Culture The Backward Child Cyril Burt,1950 Educating Deaf Child V.P. Singh,2004 Guiding the Child (Psychology Revivals) Alfred Adler,2013-04-17 First published in 1930 this book was written under the leadership and inspiration of Alfred Adler He and a group of physicians and educators organized 28 child guidance clinics in Vienna Berlin and Munich in the years prior to publication Conducted according to the tenets of Individual Psychology these clinics revealed many new and stimulating problems that they felt were as applicable to conditions in America and England at the time as in the experimental countries The book was designed as an organized and connected account of the problems accomplishments and failures encountered in the daily work reported from actual experience by the experts in charge Adler edited the volume and assigned each subject to the specialist in that field The result was designed to be of value to the welfare worker the physician and the forward looking parent of the time Today it can be read and enjoyed in its historical context Gender in the Making ,2024-06-24 Elementary Education Acts Great Britain.
