Wetlands of the Interior Southeastern United States C.C. Trettin, W.M. Aust, Joe Wisniewski, 2012-12-06 The early 1990 s marked an environmental watershed for our country Under two federal administrations significant environmental legislative regulatory and institutional changes took place which affected our Nation s wetland resources In just a few years we have seen rapid evolution in the way in which we view wetlands with more emphasis on specific wetland types and the geographic provinces in which they occur This Southern Appalachian Man and the Biosphere SAMAB conference on Wetland Ecology Management and Conservation represents just one example of our desire to understand wetlands in non coastal regions of the southern United States The backdrop to this conference was one where the government universities and private sector have come together to create a broader and more sophisticated understanding of environmental stewardship for our water resources especially wetlands Although enforcement of environmental legislation by federal and state government agencies limited by manpower shortages budgetary constraints and undermined by weak enforcement remains strong as measured by world standards the realization that environmental degradation of wetlands is likely to get much worse necessitates a greater commitment and increased resource allocation for wetland protection and management These continued pressures on the wetland resource will create substantial opportunities for the application of environmentally sound technologies and interdisciplinary modeling teams to keep abreast of the factors influencing wetland integrity and function in the last half of the 1990 s

The Pantanal of Poconé Charles W. Heckman, 2013-03-14 There are many famous wetlands in the world that have been deemed important for the homeostasis of the biosphere and accorded some form of protected status in view of the richness of their flora and fauna The Pantanal located almost directly in the center of the South American continent is among the largest such wetlands in the world It is in fact the largest wetland that is still in a nearly natural state and has not been extensively modified by man for agriculture The extent of the region covered by flood waters at the end of each rainy season varies from year to year sometimes considerably so estimates of the exact area it occupies have varied enormously The size of the 2 2 Pantanal has been reported to be between 80 000 km Bonetto 1975 and 250 000 km Tundisi and Matsumura Tundisi 1985 The most commonly accepted estimates at the present time are approximately 130 000 to 140 000 km supported by estimates made from Nimbus 7 satellite observations Hamilton et al 1996 However Por 1995 suggested that the area extending into Bolivia and Paraguay has not been satisfactorily surveyed leading him to accept the figure of 200 000 km as the area of the entire Pantanal including all of its extensions The main reason for the year to year variation in the extent of the flooding is the considerable difference in timing of the rainfall on the watershed
