Annals Of London A Year By Year Record Of A Thousand Years Of History:

The Annals of London John Richardson,2000 Year by year from 1065 to the present disasters innovations and everyday events are revealed to display the wide spectrum of London life The sweep of the book is vast and its details magnificent Richardson s informative text is supported by an extraordinary and eclectic collection of 200 historical illustrations 7 color maps

The Lambeth Cholera Outbreak of 1848-1849 Amanda J. Thomas,2010-01-13 This work brings together a unique range of sources to reveal a forgotten episode in London s history Situated opposite Westminster on the south bank of the River Thames by 1848 Lambeth s waterfront had become London s industrial center and a magnet to migrant workers The book exposes the suffering of the working population in the face of apathy and ineptitude and convincingly challenges the long standing belief that London s numerous cholera outbreaks beginning in 1832 were unrelated The work combines recent scientific research with first hand accounts to show for the first time that in the nineteenth century cholera was very probably endemic in the River Thames

Research for Writers R. Michael Stewart,2001 Peoples on Parade Sadiya Qureshi,2011-10-31 Examines the phenomenon of human exhibitions in nineteenth century Britain and considers how this legacy informs understandings of race and empire today

Sara Baartman and the Hottentot Venus Clifton Crais,Pamela Scully,2021-10-12 Displayed on European stages from 1810 to 1815 as the Hottentot Venus Sara Baartman was one of the most famous women of her day and also one of the least known As the Hottentot Venus she was seen by Westerners as alluring and primitive a reflection of their fears and suppressed desires But who was Sara Baartman Who was the woman who became the Hottentot Venus Based on research and interviews that span three continents Sara Baartman and the Hottentot Venus tells the entwined histories of an elusive life and a famous icon In doing so the book raises questions about the possibilities and limits of biography for understanding those who live between and among different cultures In reconstructing Baartman s life the book traverses the South African frontier and its genocidal violence cosmopolitan Cape Town the ending of the slave trade the Industrial Revolution the French Revolution the Napoleonic Wars London and Parisian high society and the rise of racial science The authors discuss the ramifications of discovering that when Baartman went to London she was older than originally assumed and they explore the enduring impact of the Hottentot Venus on ideas about women race and sexuality The book concludes with the politics involved in returning Baartman s remains to her home country and connects Baartman s story to her descendants in nineteenth and twentieth century South Africa Sara Baartman and the Hottentot Venus offers the authoritative account of one woman s life and reinstates her to the full complexity of her history

The Lost World of James Smithson Heather Ewing,2010-12-15 In 1836 the United States government received a strange and unprecedented gift a bequest of 104 960 gold sovereigns then worth half a million dollars to establish a foundation in Washington for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men The Smithsonian Institution as it would eventually be called grew into the largest museum and research complex in the world Yet it owes its existence to an Englishman who never set foot in the United States and who has remained a shadowy figure for more than a hundred and fifty years. Smithson lived a restless life in the capitals of Europe during the turbulent years of the French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars at one time he was trailed by the French secret police and later languished as a prisoner of war in Denmark for four long years. Yet despite a certain penchant for gambling and fine living he had by the time of his death in Paris in 1829 amassed a financial fortune and a wealth of scientific papers that he left to the new democracy America. Spurned by his natural father and his country he would be acknowledged for his own achievements in the New World. Drawing on unpublished diaries and letters from archives all over Europe and the United States Heather Ewing tells the full and compelling story for the first time revealing a life lived at the heart of the English Enlightenment and illuminating the mind that sparked the creation of America's greatest museum. A Forgotten Christian Deist Jan van den Berg, 2021-07-22 This is a cultural and intellectual biography of a neglected but important figure Thomas Morgan 1671-1743. Educated at Bridgewater Academy he was active as Presbyterian preacher, medical practitioner and one of the first who called himself a Christian Deist. Morgan was not only a harbinger of the disparagement of the Old Testament but also a prolific pamphleteer about things religious and a publisher of medical books. He received praise for his medical work but a negative press for his theological visions and he ended as a forgotten figure in history. This book restores an overlooked writer to his due place in history. It is the first modern biography of Morgan and its readership comprises historians of deism, the enlightenment, the eighteenth century, theology and the church, Presbyterianism and medical history. An Uncommon Cape Eleanor Phillips Brackbill, 2012-09-07 When Eleanor Phillips Brackbill bought her suburban Westchester house in 2000 three mysteries came with it. First from the former owner came the information that the 1930s house was a Sears house or something like that. Thrilled to think it might be a Sears Roebuck Co mail order house Brackbill was determined to find evidence to prove it. She found instead a house pedigree of a different sort. Second and even more provocative was the discovery of several iron stakes protruding from the property's enormous granite outcropping bigger in square footage than the house itself. When queried about them the former owner told her someone a long time ago kept monkeys there chained to the stakes. Monkeys? Was this some kind of suburban legend? A third mystery came to light at closing when a building inspector's letter contained a reference to the house having had at one time a different address. Why would the house have had another address? Her curiosity aroused and intent upon finding the facts Brackbill gradually peeled back layers of history allowing the house and the land to tell their stories and uncovering a past inextricably woven into four centuries of American history. At the same time she found thirty-two owners across 350 years who had just one thing in common: ownership of a particular parcel of land. An Uncommon Cape not only tells the story of an eight-year odyssey of fact-finding and speculation but also answers the broader question: What came before and through material presented in twenty-two sidebars offers readers insights and guidelines on how to find the stories behind their own homes. Being Bewitched Kirsten C. Uszkalo, 2017-03-01 In 1622 thirteen year old Elizabeth Jennings fell strangely ill After doctors treatments proved useless her family began to suspect the child had been bewitched a suspicion that was confirmed when Elizabeth accused their neighbor Margaret Russell of witchcraft In the events that followed witchcraft hysteria intertwines with family rivalries property disputes and a web of supernatural beliefs Starting from a manuscript account of the bewitchment Kirsten Uszkalo sets the story of Elizabeth Jennings against both the specific circumstances of the powerful Jennings family and the broader history of witchcraft in early modern England Fitting together the intricate pieces of this complex puzzle Uszkalo reveals a story that encompasses the iron grip of superstition the struggle among professionalizing medical specialties and London s lawless and unstoppable sprawl In the picture that emerges we see the young Elizabeth pinned like a live butterfly at the dark center of a web of greed and corruption sickness and lunacy Henry Handel Richardson Michael Ackland,2004-06-29 This 2004 book is a complete biography of Henry Handel Richardson Emma Darwin James D. Loy,Kent M.
