internationally in contemporary children's culture. It follows recent shifts in adaptation studies that call for a move beyond fidelity criticism, a paradigm that measures the success of an adaptation by the level of fidelity to the original text, toward a methodology that considers the adaptation to be always already in conversation with the adapted text. This book visits children's literature and culture in order to consider the generic, pedagogical, and ideological underpinnings that drive both the process and the product. Focusing on novels as well as folktales, films, graphic novels, and anime, the authors consider the challenges inherent in transforming the work of authors such as William Shakespeare, Charles Perrault, L. M. Montgomery, Laura Ingalls Wilder, and A. A. Milne into new forms that are palatable for later audiences, particularly when for perceived ideological or political reasons the textual transformation is not only unavoidable but entirely necessary.

Contributors consider the challenges inherent in transforming stories and characters from one type of text to another across genres, languages, and time, offering a range of new models that will inform future scholarship.

Canadian Women in Print, 1750-1918 Carole Gerson, 2011-05-24 Canadian Women in Print 1750-1918 is the first historical examination of women's engagement with multiple aspects of print over some two hundred years, from the settlers who wrote diaries and letters to the New Women who argued for ballots and equal rights. Considering women's published writing as an intervention in the public sphere of national and material print culture, this book uses approaches from book history to address the working and living conditions of women who wrote in many genres and for many reasons. This study situates English Canadian authors within an extensive framework that includes francophone writers as well as women's work as compositors, bookbinders, and interveners in public access to print. Literary authorship is shown to be one point on a spectrum that ranges from missionary writing, temperance advocacy, and educational texts to journalism and travel accounts by New Woman adventurers. Familiar figures such as Susanna Moodie, L. M. Montgomery, Nellie McClung, Pauline Johnson, and Sara Jeannette Duncan are contextualized by writers whose names are less well known, such as Madge Macbeth and Agnes Laut, and by many others whose writings and biographies have vanished into the recesses of history. Readers will learn of the surprising range of writing and publishing performed by early Canadian women under various ideological, biographical, and cultural motivations and circumstances. Some expressed reluctance, while others eagerly sought literary careers. Together they did much more to shape Canada's cultural history than has heretofore been recognized.

Cooper, Aïda Hudson, 2003 Windows and Words is a collection of seventeen essays that confirms and celebrates the artistry of Canadian Children's Literature. There are essays that survey a wealth of English language fiction from the internationally acclaimed work of Lucy Maud Montgomery the aboriginal adolescent novel to the increasingly multi cultural character of children's books. Others examine book illustration visual literacy and the creative partnership seen in the picture book and its art design. With contributions by two Governor General's Award winning authors Janet Lunn and Tim Wynne Jones and a final commentary by Elizabeth Waterson the heart of this collection offers a unique perspective on the artistry of writing for children and claims a rightful place for Canadian children's literature as literature.

Montgomery Irene Gammel, 2005-01-01 Who ultimately is L M Montgomery and why was there such an obsession with secrecy hiding and encoding in her life and fiction Delving into the hidden life of Canada s most enigmatic writer The Intimate Life of L M

Montgomery answers these questions The eleven essays illuminate Montgomery s personal writings and photographic self portraits and probe the ways in which she actively shaped her life as a work of art This is the first book to investigate Montgomery s personal writings which filled thousands of pages in journals and a memoir correspondence scrapbooks and photography Using theories of autobiography and life writing the essays probe the author s flair for the dramatic and her exuberance in costuming while also exploring the personal facts behind some of her fiction including the beloved Anne of Green Gables Focussing on topics such as sexuality depression marriage aging illness and writing the essays strip away the layers of art and artifice that disguised Montgomery s most intensely guarded secrets including details of her affair with Herman Leard her marriage with Ewen Macdonald and her friendships with Nora Lefurgey and Isabel Anderson The book also includes rare photographs taken by Montgomery and others many of which have not previously appeared in print One of the highlights of The Intimate Life of L M Montgomery is the inclusion of a secret diary that Montgomery wrote with Lefurgey in 1903 This hilarious document is a rare find for Montgomery s teasing banter presents us with a new voice that is distinct from the sombre tone of her journals Published here for the first time more than 100 years after its composition this diary is virtually unknown to readers and scholars and is a welcome addition to the literature on this important figure This volume fills in many of the blanks surrounding Montgomery s personal life Engaging and erudite it is a boon for scholars and Montgomery fans alike
