The Borders Within Douglas Monroy, 2008-05-15 Throughout its history the nation that is now called the United States has been inextricably entwined with the nation now called Mexico. Indeed, their indigenous peoples interacted long before borders of any kind were established. Today, though, the border between the two nations is so prominent that it is front page news in both countries. Douglas Monroy, a noted Mexican American historian, has for many years pondered the historical and cultural intertwinings of the two nations. Here, in beautifully crafted essays, he reflects on some of the many ways in which the citizens of the two countries have misunderstood each other. Putting himself and his own quest for understanding directly into his work, he contemplates the missions of California, the differences between liberal and traditional societies, the meanings of words like Mexican, Chicano, and Latino, and even the significance of avocados and bathing suits. In thought provoking chapters, he considers why Native Americans didn't embrace Catholicism, why NAFTA isn't working the way it was supposed to, and why Mexicans and their neighbors to the north tell themselves different versions of the same historical events. In his own thoughtful way, Monroy is an explorer. Rather than trying to conquer new lands, however, his goal is to gain new insights. He wants to comprehend two cultures that are bound to each other without fully recognizing their bonds. Along with Monroy, readers will discover that borders, when we stop and really think about it, are drawn more deeply in our minds than on any maps.

Mother Jones, 1989-11      The Zamorano 80 Revisited Gordon J. Van De Water, 2010-04-16 The vademecum to the legendary Zamorano 80 goal of many bibliophiles of the Golden State. A great reference and a siren's call to the world of bibliomania. W. Michael Mathes, Professor Emeritus, University of San Francisco. Holder of the Orden Mexicana del Guila Azteca, author of numerous books in Spanish and English.      Reading with a Passion Jeffrey Staley, 2002-06-01 In this strikingly personal account of recent literary approaches to the Bible, Jeffrey Staley shows how people's life experiences relate to what they read in the Scriptures. He illustrates his argument from theories of autobiography where recent literary and feminist critiques provide him with tools for reflecting upon his childhood on a Navajo reservation and his family's five generations of contact with the Navajo people in northern Arizona and New Mexico. Using Tony Hillerman's popular detective novels as a lens to refract his own childhood memories, Staley investigates how his cross-cultural childhood and family history have contributed to his understanding of the Fourth Gospel. By combining such diverse materials as popular fiction, medieval passion plays, cultural anthropology, rhetorical studies, and autobiographical reflection, Staley takes his readers on a fascinating spiritual and intellectual journey through the Gospel of John.

A to Z of American Indian Women Liz Sonneborn, 2014-05-14 Presents a biographical dictionary profiling important Native American women, including birth and death dates, major accomplishments, and historical influence.      Encyclopedia of American Literature Manly, Inc., 2013-06 Susan Clair Imbarrato, Carol Berkin, Brett Barney, Lisa Paddock, Matthew J. Bruccoli, George Parker Anderson, Judith S.

Indian Country Martin Padgett, 2006 Indian Country analyzes the works of Anglo writers and artists who encountered

American Indians in the course of their travels in the Southwest during the one hundred year period beginning in 1840 Martin Padget looks first at the accounts produced by government sponsored explorers most notably John Wesley Powell's writings about the Colorado Plateau He goes on to survey the writers who popularized the region in fiction and travelogue including Helen Hunt Jackson and Charles F Lummis He also introduces us to Eldridge Ayer Burbank an often overlooked artist who between 1897 and 1917 made thousands of paintings and drawings of Indians from over 140 western tribes Padget addresses two topics how the Southwest emerged as a distinctive region in the minds of late nineteenth and early twentieth century Americans and what impact these conceptions and the growing presence of Anglos had on Indians in the region Popular writers like Jackson and Lummis presented the American Indians as a primitive culture waiting to be discovered and experienced firsthand Later as Padget shows Anglo activists for Indian rights such as Mabel Dodge Luhan and Mary Austin worked for the acceptance of other views of Native Americans and their cultures

Recovering the U.S. Hispanic Literary Heritage, Volume VIII Clara Lomas, Gabriela Baeza Ventura, 2011-04-30 The eighth volume in the Recovering the U S Hispanic Literary Heritage series which focuses on the literary heritage of Hispanics in the geographic area that has become the U S from the colonial period to 1960

White Women in Racialized Spaces Samina Najmi, Rajini Srikanth, 2012-02-01 At once racially privileged and sexually marginalized white women have been energetic in calling for solidarity among all women in opposing patriarchy but have not been equally motivated to examine their own racial privilege White Women in Racialized Spaces turns primarily to literature to illuminate the undeniable blind spots in white women's comprehension of their advantage The contributors cover extensive historical ground from early captivity narratives of white women in seventeenth century America up to the present day trials of Louise Woodward and Manjit

Basuta both British nannies accused of causing the deaths of their infant charges in the United States Their wide ranging discussions also include representations of white women in Native American Latin American African Asian and Middle Eastern contexts The volume ultimately makes the case that by creating alternative scenarios to particular ethical political or emotional problems against which readers and characters test their responses literature forms an ideal vehicle for exploring white women s actual and potential roles in their efforts to undercut the oppressive force of whiteness Taming the Elephant John F. Burns, Richard J. Orsi, 2003-04-30 Taming the Elephant is the last of four volumes in the distinguished California History Sesquicentennial Series an outstanding compilation of original essays by leading historians and writers These topical interrelated volumes reexamine the meaning of the founding of modern California during the state s pioneer period General themes run through all four volumes the interplay of traditional cultures and frontier innovation in the creation of a distinctive California society the dynamic interaction of people and nature and the beginnings of massive environmental change the impact of the California experience on the nation and the world the influence of pioneer patterns on modern California and the legacy of ethnic and cultural diversity as a major influence on the state s history This fourth volume treats the role of post Gold Rush California government politics and law in the building of a dynamic state with influences that persist today Provocative essays investigate the creation of constitutional foundations law and jurisprudence the formation of government agencies and the development of public policy Authors chart the roles played by diverse groups criminals and peace officers entrepreneurs and miners farmers and public officials defenders of discrimination and female and African American activists The essays also explore subjects largely overlooked in the past such as the significance of local and federal government in pioneer California and early struggles to secure civil rights for women and racial minorities

Contesting the Past, Reconstructing the Nation Ben Railton, 2007-09-30 In this study of Gilded Age literature and culture Ben Railton proposes that in the years after Reconstruction America s identity was often connected through distinct and competing conceptions of the nation s history Concerned with key social questions such as race Native Americans women and the South Contesting the Past Reconstructing the Nation provided close readings of a number of texts for the ways they highlight these issues This book examines established classics newer additions to the canon largely forgotten best sellers recovery gems and autobiographical works by Douglass and Truth poems by Harper and Piatt and short stories by Woolson and Cooke These readings contribute to ongoing conversations over historical literature s definition and value and a greater understanding of not only American society in the Gilded Age but also debates on our shared but contested history that remain very much alive in the present From publisher s description The Bear River Massacre and the Making of History Kass Fleisher, 2004-04-12 Explores how a pivotal event in U S history the killing of nearly 300 Shoshoni men women and children in 1863 has been contested forgotten and remembered Introduction to Psychometric Theory Tenko Raykov, George A. Marcoulides, 2011-01-07 This new text provides a state of the art introduction to educational and psychological testing and measurement theory that reflects many intellectual developments of the past two decades The book introduces psychometric theory using a latent variable modeling LVM framework and emphasizes interval estimation throughout so as to better prepare readers for studying more advanced topics later in their careers Featuring numerous examples it presents an applied approach to conducting testing and measurement in the behavioral social and educational sciences Readers will find numerous tips on how to use test theory in today's actual testing situations To reflect the growing use of statistical software in psychometrics the authors introduce the use of Mplus after the first few chapters IBM SPSS SAS and R are also featured in several chapters Software codes and associated outputs are reviewed throughout to enhance comprehension Essentially all of the data used in the book are available on the website In addition instructors will find helpful PowerPoint lecture slides and questions and problems for each chapter The authors rely on LVM when discussing fundamental concepts such as exploratory and confirmatory factor analysis test theory generalizability theory reliability and validity interval estimation nonlinear factor analysis generalized linear modeling and item response theory The varied applications make this book a valuable tool for those in the behavioral social educational and biomedical disciplines as well as in business economics and marketing A brief introduction to R is also provided Intended as a text for advanced undergraduate and or graduate courses in psychometrics testing and measurement measurement theory psychological testing and or educational and or psychological measurement taught in departments of psychology education human development epidemiology business and marketing it will also appeal to researchers in these disciplines Prerequisites include an introduction to statistics with exposure to regression analysis and ANOVA Familiarity with SPSS SAS STATA or R is also beneficial As a whole the book provides an invaluable introduction to measurement and test theory to those with limited or no familiarity with the mathematical and statistical procedures involved in measurement and testing

A First Course in Structural Equation Modeling Tenko Raykov, George A. Marcoulides, 2012-08-21 In this book authors Tenko Raykov and George A Marcoulides introduce students to the basics of structural equation modeling SEM through a conceptual nonmathematical approach For ease of understanding the few mathematical formulas presented are used in a conceptual or illustrative nature rather than a computational one Featuring examples from EQS LISREL and Mplus A First Course in Structural Equation Modeling is an excellent beginner's guide to learning how to set up input files to fit the most commonly used types of structural equation models with these programs The basic ideas and methods for conducting SEM are independent of any particular software Highlights of the Second Edition include Review of latent change growth analysis models at an introductory level Coverage of the popular Mplus program Updated examples of LISREL and EQS Downloadable resources that contains all of the text's LISREL EQS and Mplus examples A First Course in Structural Equation Modeling is intended as an introductory book for students and researchers in psychology education business medicine and other applied social behavioral and health sciences with limited or no previous exposure to SEM A prerequisite of basic statistics through regression analysis is recommended The book frequently draws parallels between SEM and regression making this prior knowledge helpful

Handbook of Statistical Modeling for the Social and Behavioral Sciences G. Arminger, Clifford C. Clogg, M.E. Sobel, 1995 Contributors thoroughly survey the most important statistical models used in empirical research in the social and behavioral sciences Following a common format each chapter introduces a model illustrates the types of problems and data for which the model is best used provides numerous examples that draw upon familiar models or procedures and includes material on software that can be used to estimate the models studied This handbook will aid researchers methodologists graduate students and statisticians to understand and resolve common modeling problems

San Diego Magazine, 1990-03

Structural Equation Modeling With Lisrel, Prelis, and Simplis Barbara M. Byrne, 2013-05-13 This book illustrates the ease with which various features of LISREL 8 and PRELIS 2 can be implemented in addressing research questions that lend themselves to SEM Its purpose is threefold a to present a nonmathematical introduction to basic concepts associated with SEM b to demonstrate basic applications of SEM using both the DOS and Windows versions of LISREL 8 as well as both the LISREL and SIMPLIS lexicons and c to highlight particular features of the LISREL 8 and PRELIS 2 programs that address important caveats related to SEM analyses This book is intended neither as a text on the topic of SEM nor as a comprehensive review of the many statistical functions available in the LISREL 8 and PRELIS 2 programs Rather the intent is to provide a practical guide to SEM using the LISREL approach As such the reader is walked through a diversity of SEM applications that include both factor analytic and full latent variable models as well as a variety of data management procedures

Contemporary Psychometrics Albert Maydeu-Olivares, John J. McArdle, 2005-05-06 Contemporary Psychometrics features cutting edge chapters organized in four sections test theory factor analysis structural equation modeling and multivariate analysis The section on test theory includes topics such as multidimensional item response theory IRT the relationship between IRT and factor analysis estimation and testing of these models and basic measurement issues that are often neglected The factor analysis section reviews the history and development of the model factorial invariance and factor analysis indeterminacy and Bayesian inference for factor scores and parameter estimates The section on structural equation modeling SEM includes the general algebraic graphic rules for latent variable SEM a survey of goodness of fit assessment SEM resampling methods a discussion of how to compare correlations between and within independent samples dynamic factor models based on ARMA time series models and multi level factor analysis models for continuous and discrete data The final section on multivariate analysis includes topics such as dual scaling of ordinal data model specification and missing data problems in time series models and a discussion of the themes that run through all multivariate methods This tour de force through contemporary psychometrics will appeal to advanced students and researchers in the social and behavioral sciences and education as well as methodologists from other disciplines
