The Annual Review of Women in World Religions Arvind Sharma, Katherine K. Young, 2001-11-01 This interdisciplinary consideration of women in world religions features new scholarship across traditions and approaches The Annual Review of Women in World Religions Arvind Sharma, Katherine K. Young, 1991 Today's Woman in World Religions Arvind Sharma, 1994-01-01 This book examines how the women's movement is affecting traditional religions and civilizations throughout the world. It reviews cases of global impact in Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and Australian aboriginal religion. This volume completes the trilogy devoted to women in world religions edited by Arvind Sharma. The second book in the series is entitled Religion and Women. The present work surveys the position of women in the religious traditions covered in the first volume of the trilogy Women in World Religions, placing these traditions in contemporary context. Women in World Religions Arvind Sharma, 2024-12-02 This book delves into the future of the relationship between religion and the status of women. With contributions from distinguished scholars, it examines current trends in the following religions: Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, Sikhism, Confucianism, and Daoism. It envisions the implications of these developments for the future position of women. The method employed in this book is characterized by what is known as personalist epistemology. The contributing authors blend their experiences as women within the diverse traditions along with more comprehensive accounts of the role of women in these religions. By doing so, they combine the finest aspects of subjective and objective approaches to studying women in world religions. The contributors examine contemporary trends within their respective religious traditions by combining the finest aspects of subjective and objective approaches to studying women in world religions. It serves as a testament to the enduring interest in women's roles in religion and the dynamic nature of the field. The book intends to appeal to many readers from the general public to academics. It offers valuable insights into the position of women in world religions, making it relevant to both the average person and those engaged in scholarly pursuits. The Annual Review of Women in World Religions Arvind Sharma, Katherine K. Young, 1993-12-01 Just as a mirror captures a large area within its small limit, this journal reflects the otherwise far-ranging and far-reaching phenomena that are categorized as women and religion. The Annual Review of Women in World Religions has been conceived as a forum for the latest historical and anthropological research on women in all religions. It is also a form for discussion of contemporary trends such as the influence of secularism, fundamentalism, or feminism on women and religion. Accordingly, it contributes to the on-going project to add to our basic knowledge about women and helps evaluate the past as well as the present through insights generated by gender studies today. Within the boundaries of academic scholarship, the editors seek to include the research of those who are both inside and outside the traditions. Moreover, the book encourages women and men of all beliefs to participate in the on-going dialogue which it represents and promotes. This journal is polymethodic, interdisciplinary, and multitrade in its approach to the study of women and religion It not only allows the comparative dimension to appear in bolder relief but also helps to establish a dialogue between the two solitudes of humanistic and social scientific studies in the field Volume III contains the following essays Rabi ah as Mystic Muslim and Woman by Barbara Lois Helms Slighted Grandmothers The Need for Increased Study of Female Spirits and Spirituality in Native American Religions by Jordan Paper Women of Medieval South India in Hindu Temple Ritual Text and Practice by Leslie C Orr and Confucianism and Women in Modern Korea Continuity Change and Conflict by Edward Y J Chung
