and its original research and analysis will be important reading for those studying Ethnicity as well as Sociologists Political Scientists and Anthropologists This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies South Korean Social Movements Gi-Wook Shin,Paul Y Chang,2011-06-01 This book explores the evolution of social movements in South Korea by focusing on how they have become institutionalized and diffused in the democratic period The contributors explore the transformation of Korean social movements from the democracy campaigns of the 1970s and 1980s to the rise of civil society struggles after 1987 South Korea was ruled by successive authoritarian regimes from 1948 to 1987 when the government decided to re establish direct presidential elections The book contends that the transition to a democratic government was motivated in part by the pressure from social movement groups that fought the state to bring about such democracy After the transition however the movement groups found themselves in a qualitatively different political context which in turn galvanized the evolution of the social movement sector Including an impressive array of case studies ranging from the women s movement to environmental NGOs and from cultural production to law the contributors to this book enrich our understanding of the democratization process in Korea and show that the social movement sector remains an important player in Korean politics today This book will appeal to students and scholars of Korean studies Asian politics political history and social movements

Means of Exchange Dagfinn Skre,2008-12-31 This second volume based on the excavations of the Viking town Kaupang 2000 2003 presents find types used in economic transactions coins hacksilver ingots weights and balances Changes in type and volume of economic transactions at Kaupang and in Scandinavia are discussed and the economic mentality of Viking crafts and tradesmen is explored Earlier the study of Viking silver currency was based mainly on hoards containing coins and hacksilver In this volume the combined study of the find types mentioned as well as the sophisticated chronology of settlements finds from sites like Kaupang gives a completely new insight into economy and exchange In the early 9th century silver and goods seem to have come to Kaupang mainly from the Carolingian world Silver weighed with locally produced lead weights was used as currency on a limited scale The old e unit was easily convertible to Carolingian units After the mid 9th century this early system was altered The increased availability of silver caused by the import of Islamic coins as well as the introduction in most of Scandinavia in the 860s 870s of standardized weights of probable Islamic origin paved the way from then on for an increasing use of silver as payment These studies demonstrate that sites like Kaupang led the way in economic development in Scandinavia The urban environment promoted an economic mentality which contributed significantly to the fundamental transformation of Scandinavian culture and society which culminated in the region's integration in Christian Europe in the High Middle Ages

Governing Resources in a Changing Environment Mangku Purnomo,2011 Until 1998 Indonesia was ruled by an authoritarian regime under which natural resources were exploited excessively so that resources governance was not appropriate anymore dealing with sustainability issue Throughout the contemporary reform process with the decentralization of power via local and regional autonomy natural resources are no longer dominated by direct state power only but also managed by more actors at various levels of society To employ the concepts of political ecology new institutionalism livelihood strategy and social sustainability the research showed that spatial production of Upland Bromo have always been dominated by state actors in order to establish the control over land and people In the other hand the contemporary environmental changes socially and physically coincidentally lessen the availability and productivity of the resources which in turn has affected the local people's livelihoods leading to the increasing struggle for resources. As a result, three kinds of new local resources governance, namely multi-institutional relationship, bilateral institutional relationship, and personal relationship-based resources governance, are formed. In association with the sustainability issue, these new local resources governance was not really sustainable, signalling by negative value in indicators analysed. Ability to develop sustainability bridge the sustainability and maintenance sustainability. This research gives clear explanation that transformation of regime from authoritarian to democratic in developing countries does not always have significant impact in promoting sustainable resources governance.

Why Muslims Rebel Mohammed M. Hafez, 2003. Rejecting theories of economic deprivation and psychological alienation, Mohammed Hafez offers a provocative analysis of the factors that contribute to protracted violence in the Muslim world today. Hafez combines a sophisticated theoretical approach and detailed case studies to show that the primary source of Islamist insurgencies lies in the repressive political environments within which the vast majority of Muslims find themselves. Highlighting when and how institutional exclusion and indiscriminate repression contribute to large-scale rebellion, he provides a crucial dimension to our understanding of Islamic politics.

New Life Courses, Social Risks and Social Policy in East Asia Raymond K. H. Chan, Jens Zinn, Lih-Rong Wang, 2015-10-30. Social policy in modern industrialised societies is increasingly challenged by new social risks. These include insecure employment resulting from ever more volatile labour markets, new family and gender relationships resulting from the growing participation of women in the labour market, and the many problems resulting from very much longer human life expectancy. Whereas once social policy had to be in step with a standardised, relatively stable and predictable life course, it now has to cope with non-standardised individual preferences, life courses, and families, and the consequent increased risks and uncertainties. This book examines these new life courses and their impact on social policy across a range of East Asian societies. It shows how governments and social welfare institutions have been slow to respond to the new challenges. In response, we propose a life course sensitised policy as an approach to manage these risks. Overall, the book provides many new insights which will assist advance social policy in East Asia.
