Baby Doe:

The Legend of Baby Doe John Burke, 1989-01-01 In her pulchritudinous prime Baby Doe was called the Silver Queen of Colorado by journalists and that shameless hussy by the proper wives of the men who eyed her Flirtatious adventurous ambitious Elizabeth McCourt Doe gave everyone a lot to talk about when she met Horace Tabor the Silver King of Leadville in 1880 Three years later they were free to legalize their passion Although thirty years separated them they were well matched in romantic recklessness If The Legend of Baby Doe is the lowdown on the high jinks of two public lives it is also the story of a love that survived spectacularly good times and bad Before bad times came Baby and Horace went on a spending spree They built an opulent opera house in Denver and bought an Italian ate villa Baby Doe went out bejeweled and ermined and sat at home alone snubbed by the social dragons John Burke has written about the giddy rise of a bonanza king who dreamed of entering the White House with Baby Doe on his arm and about the disastrous fall they took together Wiped out by unwise investments and the Panic of 1893 Tabor soon died leaving Baby Doe and their two daughters penniless Reportedly his deathbed order was to hang on to the Matchless a played out mine filled with water She managed to do that for almost four decades struggling heroically against loneliness poverty and heartbreak and becoming one of the great legends of the American West

Baby Doe Tabor Judy Nolte Temple, 2012-11-27 The story of Baby Doe Tabor has seduced America for more than a century Long before her body was found frozen in a Leadville shack near the Matchless Mine Elizabeth McCourt Baby Doe Tabor was the stuff of legend The stunning divorce married Colorado's wealthiest mining magnate and became the Silver Queen of the West Blessed with two daughters Horace and Baby Doe mesmerized the world with their wealth and extravagance But Baby Doe's life was also a morality play Almost overnight the Tabors' wealth disappeared when depression struck in 1893 Horace died six years later According to the legend one daughter left home never to return the other died horribly For thirty five years Baby Doe who was considered mad lived in solitude high in the Colorado Rockies Baby Doe Tabor left a record of her madness in a set of writings she called her Dreams and Visions These were discovered after her death but never studied in detail until now Author Judy Nolte Temple retells Lizzie's story with greater accuracy than any previous biographer and reveals a story more heartbreaking than the legend giving voice to the woman behind the myth

Women in American Operas of the 1950s Monica A. Hershberger, 2023 The first feminist analysis of some of the most performed works in the American opera canon emphasizing the voices and perspectives of the sopranos who brought these operas to life In the 1950s composers and librettists in the United States were busy seeking to create an opera repertory that would be deeply responsive to American culture and American concerns They did not break free however of the age old paradigm so typically expressed in European opera that is of women as either saintly and pure or sexually corrupt with no middle ground As a result in American opera of the 1950s women risked becoming once again opera s inevitable victims Yet the sopranos who were tasked with portraying these paragons of virtue and their opposites did not always take them as their composers and librettists made them Sometimes they rewrote through their performances the roles they had been assigned Sometimes they used their lived experiences to invest greater authenticity in the roles With chapters on The Tender Land Susannah The Ballad of Baby Doe and Lizzie Borden this book analyzes some of the most performed yet understudied works in the American opera canon It acknowledges Catherine Clement s famous description of opera as the undoing of women while at the same time illuminating how singers like Beverly Sills and Phyllis Curtin worked to resist such undoing years before the official resurgence of the American feminist movement In short they ended up helping to dismantle powerful gendered stereotypes that had often reigned unquestioned in opera houses until then

The Ballad of Baby Doe Duane A. Smith, John Moriarty, 2002 First produced at the Central City Opera House in 1956 The Ballad of Baby Doe is now widely considered a classic and is the second most produced American opera In The Ballad of Baby Doe Duane A. Smith tells the tale of the complicated birth of this most American of operas Inspired in 1953 by composer Douglas Moore's interest in Horace Tabor's story and funded by the Central City Opera House Association the opera came together through a unique combination of hard work and serendipity Smith relates how key people including investors and historians in addition to creative talent turned Moore's idea into a reality and brought the story of the Tabors to millions of opera fans worldwide In addition Smith compares the opera's libretto with historical reality and the book even includes a chapter on the production written by John Moriarty who conducted the opera in 1981 1988 and 1996 For anyone interested in opera history or this Colorado story in particular the emblematic tale of silver millionaire Horace Tabor and the two women he married The Ballad of Baby Doe will be the definitive history for years to come
