Babylon Jar:

Assyrian Stone Vessels and Related Material in the British Museum Ann Searight, Julian Reade, Irving Finkel, 2008-07-17
This catalogue makes available more than 600 complete or fragmentary stone vessels kept in the British Museum. Most of them were excavated at Nineveh and other major sites in northern Iraq and Syria and are presented here for the first time. They range in date from prehistory down to the Persian and Hellenistic periods; the bulk belong in the eighth and seventh centuries when the Near East under Assyrian rule grew increasingly cosmopolitan. The collection includes luxury items made for palaces and temples, often bearing royal inscriptions, besides many perfume jars, mortars, and other vessels for practical use. The catalogue incorporates extensive information on material culture, art, technology, economic relationships, and social and religious practices and will be used by historians, archaeologists, philologists, and anthropologists alike. Painted Pottery of the Near East in the Second Millennium B. C. and Its Chronological Background Marian Welker, 1948
This is a print on demand edition of an important, hard-to-find publication. Babylon's Cap Michael J. H. Godfrey, 2013-08-08
To read Revelation for meaning today, we need to recognize and accept that the Christian community itself has often become the wearer of Babylon's Cap of oppression. This is a reading of Revelation that seeks to hear the voices of postcolonial pain while never pretending to be a postcolonial analysis. The Red Sea from Byzantium to the Caliphate Timothy Power, 2012
This book examines the historic process traditionally referred to as the fall of Rome and rise of Islam from the perspective of the Red Sea, a strategic waterway linking the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean and a distinct region incorporating Africa with Arabia. The transition from Byzantium to the Caliphate is contextualized in the contestation of regional hegemony between Aksumite Ethiopia, Sasanian Iran, and the Islamic Hijaz. The economic stimulus associated with Arab colonization is then considered, including the foundation of ports and roads linking new metropolises and facilitating commercial expansion, particularly gold mining and the slave trade. Finally, the economic inheritance of the Fatimids and the formation of the commercial networks glimpsed in the Cairo Geniza is contextualized in the diffusion of the Abbasid bourgeois revolution and resumption of the India trade under the Tulunids and Ziyadids. Timothy Power's careful analysis reveals the complex cultural and economic factors that provided a fertile ground for the origins of the Islamic civilization to take root in the Red Sea region, offering a new perspective on a vital period of history. Lost Heritage McGuire Gibson, H. D. Baker, 1992 Confrontation with Ideologies, Babylon in a Jar Andrew Hudgins, 2001
These diverse poems of past and present of order and disorder press on with the forceful explorations that Andrew Hudgins began with his first book SAINTS AND STRANGERS, a runner-up for the Pulitzer Prize in 1985. The wide-ranging poems in this new volume respond with passion to the natural world, to family life, to history, to inheritance, before he flooded the rubble he swept up the dust of Babylon to give as presents and he stored it in a jar. Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine, 1884
World-famous Women Frank Boott Goodrich, 1871 The Archaeology of Death in the Ancient Near East Stuart

Campbell,Anthony Green,1995 The conference in Manchester in 1992 which this book came out of was organised to raise the profile of the study of mortuary remains in the Ancient Near East Thirty papers from the conference are published here covering a wide variety of regions and periods from Epipalaeolithic to modern Many different aspects are examined physical anthropology burial goods social structure ethoarchaeology etc This volume has a wide relevance not only to the areas specifically addressed but also in the interpretation of burial remains and the evolution of society
