state of Bach research Each author covers three aspects within their specific subject area firstly to describe the results of research over the past thirty fifty years concentrating on the most significant and controversial such as the debate over Smend's NBA edition of the B minor Mass Blume's conclusions with regard to Bach's religion in the wake of the new chronology Rifkin's one to a vocal part interpretation the rediscovery of the Berlin Singakademie manuscripts in Kiev the discovery of hitherto unknown manuscripts and documents and the re-evaluation of previously known sources Secondly each author provides a critical analysis of current research being undertaken that is exploring new aspects reinterpreting earlier assumptions and or opening up new methodologies For example Martin W B Jarvis has suggested that Anna Magdalena Bach composed the cello suites and contributed to other works of her husband another controversial hypothesis whose newly proposed forensic methodology requires investigation On the other hand research into Bach's knowledge of the Lutheran chorale tradition is currently underway which is likely to shed more light on the composer's choices and usage of this tradition Thirdly each author identifies areas that are still in need of investigation and research innovative study of nineteenth century cellists and cello playing shows how simple concepts of posture technique and expression changed over time while acknowledging that many different practices co existed By placing an awareness of this diversity at the centre of an historical narrative George Kennaway has produced a unique cultural history of performance practices In addition to drawing upon an unusually wide range of source materials from instructional methods to poetry novels and film Kennaway acknowledges the instability and ambiguity of the data that supports historically informed performance By examining nineteenth century assumptions about the very nature of the cello itself he demonstrates new ways of thinking about historical performance today Kennaway s treatment of tone quality and projection and of posture bow strokes and fingering is informed by his practical insights as a professional cellist and teacher Vibrato and portamento are examined in the context of an increasing divergence between theory and practice as seen in printed sources and heard in early cello recordings Kennaway also explores differing nineteenth century views of the cello s gendered identity and the relevance of these cultural tropes to contemporary performance By accepting the diversity and ambiguity of nineteenth century sources and by resisting oversimplified solutions Kennaway has produced a nuanced performing history that will challenge and engage musicologists and performers alike

Watchorn, 2007-01-01 Isolde Ahlgrimm 1914 1995 was an important pioneer in the revival of Baroque and Classical keyboard instruments in her native city Vienna and later throughout Europe and the United States Ahlgrimm s performances of Baroque music represented a radical departure from the distinctly twentieth century interpretations by the much more famous Wanda Landowska and her followers Peter Watchorn provides an engaging study of Ahlgrimm and argues that her contribution to the harpsichord and fortepiano revival was pivotal and that her use of period instruments and the inspiration she instilled in younger musicians including Nikolaus Harnoncourt and Gustav Leonhardt has been almost entirely overlooked by the wider musical world
