Back Through Interruption Poems Wick Poetry Firsts Paperback:

Back Through Interruption Kate Northrop, 2002 This collection of poetry takes the reader through a world that is at once beautiful and tragic sacrosanct and profane The poems are drawn ineluctably to the place where passion and intelligence collide and often end with passion having fled and intelligence standing alone Rooms and Fields Lee Peterson, 2004 Winner of the 2003 Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize dictionary talks very memorably the bride over the Drina River roughly between Bosnia and Serbia speaks two haunting poems The dead talk wolves talk a teacher talks with a chorus Sometimes I like to imagine this long poem being staged What the music would be Who would do the sets What languages doesn't have a single wasted breath its sense of necessity never lets up I always feel that the people and animals and landscapes being written about are being honoured The work is compassionate and single mindedly alive to its purpose What a rare thing it is to find the meeting of historical political and poetic wisdom Jean Valentine Judge deeply felt A poetic inquiry its concerns are uniquely and fundamentally intimate Compassion drives this collection of spare and gracious poems

Trying to Speak Anele Rubin, 2005 Winner of the 2004 Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize The voice in Anele Rubin's poems is so new and yet the movement is so artful subtle and modest there are never any theatrics in these poems They never yowl Pay attention to me Rubin is on the same wave length with Tomas Transtr mer and Yehuda Amichai The emotional range of her poems like theirs is enormous as is the range of locales many of which I know well and yet in Trying to Speak they appear with a clarity that had eluded me Philip Levine Judge Anele Rubin's poems illuminate an astonishing range of emotional experience Visual tactile simple and complex her words lure you from poem to poem sometimes exquisite sometimes austere always original Ruth Stone This is a powerful and beautifully lyrical book of great wisdom whose theme is emotional resurrection Toi Derricotte The Drowned Girl Eve Alexandra, 2003 Rare in any age is work which incorporates a passion for experience a commitment to truth an ability to plumb the irrational and a fluency in poetic language and music which can work through all these tangled thickets but Eve Alexandra does just that This is true poetry it immediately takes its place as a participant in the vast historical voice which composes poetry a voice which contains ten thousand tones but which takes nothing unto itself which doesn't resonate as do the poems of The Drowned Girl with authenticity and fervor C K Williams Judge One of the things I find compelling about Eve Alexandra's poems is that while the narrator is seductive and beautiful she is not pleasing She does not offer comfort She is not kind or solicitous Like Ariel who performs the tempest for Prospero Alexandra too is a tempestress these are the storms and drownings of her own invention Like Ariel's bedeviling and gorgeous tunes composed to tease the sorrowful these are poems of the taunt and tease the razor in the apple Lynn Emanuel Something bright and reflective something lucid and exacting glints at the center of this fleshy original debut Is it a needle Is it a scalpel Is it a scythe Is it the switchblade a woman might carry in her purse Eve Alexandra wields a tender sharp honesty The lines cut and dice arc and glimmer in the light of her lyricism and intelligence These poems will open you make you bleed make you wonder Terrance Hayes From the Fishhouse Camille T. Dungy, Matt O'Donnell, Jeffrey Thomson, 2009 A leading on line audio archive of contemporary poetry focuses on emerging poets who pay particular attention to the sounds and rhythms of their work This winning anthology of poems is a festival of verse at its acoustic best The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2002 Agni, 2005 American Book Publishing Record, 2003 Bomb, 2003 Poets & Writers, 2002 The Infirmary Edward Micus, 2009 Winner of the 2008 Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize Edward Micus's The Infirmary is a rarity a mature debut a first book of poems with time tested virtues Unlike many of the Vietnam poems written at the time of the war or shortly thereafter poems of anger or protest Edward Micus's poems are composed in every sense of that word They delineate and measure their subjects they do not advocate or hector they do not sentimentalize Many of them like Ambush Moon and So We Shot will take their places among the very best war poems The Infirmary is a book that keeps deepening its concerns For all its early charm it pretties up nothing Yet it's not without humor and its prose interludes are written with the same care that the poems themselves exhibit from the foreword by Stephen Dunn Judge of the 2008 Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize Edward Micus won't write the kind of poem whose language leads only to charming confusions whose music is machine pressed a tin ornament His poems instead speak directly and their quiet searing imagery burns down the fence between visible and invisible world That music you hear it's the rhythm of affection for places lovers friends It's the rhythm of the blood taking in what it can making its laps leading us on Richard Robbins Intaglio Ariana-Sophia M. Kartsonis, 2006 Winner of the 2005 Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize The image evoked by Intaglio this first collection by Ariana Sophia Kartsonis rests on a paradox one perhaps central to the poetic impulse itself that design can be shaped by what is cut away by the loss that surrounds it so that what is missing creates the negative space which raises the figure in relief presents it to sight and touch Relief a word whose two meanings one artistic and material the other emotional and intangible together suggest how art engraves meaning Eleanor Wilner Judge Intaglio is a remarkable new book by a haunting new voice Freighted with music and beauty even the simplest lines are memorable There is this heron in a hush of lift and my eyes are filled with it In the lift there is also a lyric pressure an inner intensity which evokes the best kind of madness Let Nothing be that which bitch slaps the heart for the heart like a hospital is a many winged thing Kartsonis has offered up a vision both playful and painful all of it lit with the eerie glow of her brilliance What a lovely and terrifying offering What an extraordinary introduction to this new poet Laura Kasischke With Intaglio Kartsonis carefully incises the sensuality of history onto the fleet attentions of the day And onto loss onto bereavement she incises the incredible now credible luxuries of everlastingness This is a formidable debut lavish in its mind and loves Donald Revell Poems for the Millennium, Volume Four Pierre Joris, Habib Tengour, 1995 Global anthology of twentieth century poetry Back cover Far from Algiers Djelloul Marbrook, 2008 This work emerged from hundreds of poems that Marbrook composed in the years since September 11th 2001 Marbrook's voice speaks to anyone who has ever had doubts about belonging in a society that is in denial about its own nativist sentiments Constituents of Matter Anna Leahy, 2007 Author Biography An Illinois native Anna Leahy earned an MFA from the University of Maryland and a PhD from Ohio University Her poetry has appeared in The Connecticut Review Crab Orchard Review The Journal Nimrod and other journals She is the author of two chapbooks Turns about a Point and Hagioscope and the editor of Power and Identity in the Creative Writing Classroom The Authority Project Godey's Lady's Book, 1874 Godey's Lady's Book Louis Antoine Godey, Sarah Josepha Buell Hale, 1874 Includes music The Lesbian Muse and Poetic Identity, 1889–1930 Sarah Parker, 2015-10-06 Throughout history the poetic muse has tended to be a passive female and the poet male This dynamic caused problems for late Victorian and twentieth century women poets how could the muse be reclaimed and moved on from the passive role of old Parker looks at fin de si cle and modernist lyric poets to investigate how they overcame these challenges and identifies three key strategies the reconfiguring of the muse as a contemporary instead of a historical mythological figure the muse as a male figure and an interchangeable poet muse relationship granting agency to both
