Youth, Media and Culture in the Asia Pacific Region Usha M. Rodrigues, Belinda Smaill, 2009-05-05 Youth Media and Culture in the Asia Pacific Region presents an analysis of youth media activities in a diverse but geographically connected Asia Pacific region The region which is spatially connected by its colonial and imperial past is becoming a significant player in the globalized world In this context youth situated in these economically politically and socially structured communities are redefining their locales through their patterns of media use The discourse of youth in this disparate region is manifest in the media through their identity articulations and social activism The book illustrates that these youth subcultures in the Asia Pacific are part of the well marketed global consumerism culture and yet at other times independent of the commodifying impetus of global capital It

draws on case studies to examine some of the media practices youth in the region are engaged in and elucidates the process of social change taking place in some Asia Pacific nations This book contributes to the important and growing field of youth media studies The regionalization of media research is necessarily recuperated here bringing large populations of media users into a frame of reference that allows critical reflection on the new waves of use and sociality in the Asia Pacific region Stephanie Hemelryk Donald Professor of International Studies UTS Mapping the Broad Field of Multicultural and Intercultural Education Worldwide Gunther Dietz, Nektaria Palaiologou, 2012-12-07 The issues which are discussed in the 29 chapters of this volume address core matters with respect to modern diverse societies The most important relate to the following the societal needs of migrant populations and the educational needs of their children the exclusivist policies which usually impact upon migrant groups the need to enrich school texts and curricula with new intercultural and citizenship dimensions the importance of integrating the notion of Paideia within the school ethos and educational programmes This volume has a dual aim The first aim is to envisage the field of Multicultural and Intercultural Education from different disciplines at the international level describing the new educational and social conditions that have been created by recent migration and identifying new trends in the field The second aim is to highlight the importance of Multicultural and Intercultural Education in the development of a new citizen who moves around the world interacting with different people and has a dynamic and flexible identity with polymorphic personal social and cultural characteristics a new intercultural persona To sum up this volume highlights that authors coming from different continents share some common ideas and tend to believe in the notion of Intercultural Multicultural Education as a useful new dimension within the dynamics of many disciplines as a new inter disciplinary approach that is embedded within them and which characterizes modern societies
