Chinese Law Jianfu Chen, 2023-09-25 Law in particular

its actual functioning in any given society is above all a part of the culture of that society a part of its historical political social and intellectual creation If a black letter approach towards law in the West is under increasing criticism it is particularly unhelpful if not misleading in understanding Chinese law its nature and developments Rather to understand Chinese law its nature and developments we need to examine the Chinese legal traditions the prevailing political and economic situations Party policies on economic reform and tolerance towards political liberalisation and scholarly discussions and debate This is the approach of this book Its aim is to put Chinese law in context to outline the nature and present status of its development and to analyse the meaning of the law within the Chinese context However this monograph does not ignore the practical needs for determining the precise contents of the black letter law either A study of this kind necessarily involves a process of topic selection However to avoid over generalisation and over simplification it also demands a considerable degree of comprehensiveness in coverage For this reason the book covers what the Chinese scholars term fundamental law and basic branches of law while other topics are covered because they are either crucial for the understanding of the law such as legal traditions in China or of practical importance such as foreign investment and trade Chapter One provides an historical background to traditional Chinese legal culture and modern law reforms The historical background of specific topics is examined as the topics are analysed in the following chapters Chapter Two deals with the changing fate of law under Communist rule Its focus is on the underlying factors and justifications for such changes Chapter Three introduces discussions on specific branches of law from public law constitutional law law making administrative law criminal law criminal procedure law to private law civil law family law contracts law on business entities and law on foreign investment and trade Each of these is dealt with in a separate chapter After the analysis of these substantial topics certain conclusions are drawn which attempt to define the nature of Chinese law and its developments in present day China

Governance, Decentralization and Reform in China, India and Russia Jean-Jacques Dethier, 2000-09-30 The papers in Governance Decentralization and Reform in China India and Russia which were presented at a ZEF conference in May 1999 deal with three critical aspects of governance in China India and Russia political reforms at the local level fiscal reforms in intergovernmental relations and legal reforms The volume collects contributions from 24 outstanding economists political scientists and legal specialists including Vito Tanzi Daniel Treisman Pranab Bardham Jean Dr ze Katharina Pistor and Kathryn Hendley Distorted economic and political incentive structures capture of the state by powerful elites and inoperative legal systems are factors that have greatly complicated the political economy of reform in these three large countries with heterogeneous populations Addressing these political and institutional issues is essential to designing good policies One particular goal of this volume is to bring together new analytical insights and empirical evidence on governance a new and growing field of research The volume is divided into three parts fiscal federalism decentralization and provision of local public goods and legal reforms Part I discusses the role of incentives in fiscal federalism The papers analyze the effects of different revenue sharing mechanisms between different levels of government in particular the effects on regional growth and inequality and the incentives that local politicians may have to provide public goods depending on fiscal arrangements with the central government In adapting their governance structures all three countries have been striving for increased decentralization But the theoretical literature suggests that in a decentralized setting second best solutions must prevail it is not possible to ensure incentive compatibility simultaneously with optimal allocation of resources and a balanced budget in providing public goods Part II discusses taxation and public expenditure management both as a political and as a budgetary process Two questions which the papers address are Does participation of stakeholders and accountability of public authorities improve economic and social outcomes Does better governance in the provision of basic goods such as health care and education improve equity While decentralization is often seen as a way to improve the quality of public services rule based governance is viewed as a safeguard against the arbitrariness of public officials and weaknesses in law enforcement The five papers in Part III focus on the rule of law the role of the judicial system in establishing a rule based economy and the effectiveness of legal institutions during the transition from socialism to a market economy They present overviews of current legal reform issues in the three countries and discuss various conceptual approaches to addressing legal reform issues
