

NARRATIVE REPORT

A short story written by Astrid Ilano follows a character/narrator who joins community organizers in Barangay Pasil after a devastating fire. The narrator meets the community leader, Nanay Saibing, who shows them around the area while sharing the difficulties experienced by the locals in losing their houses because of the fire incident and having hostility to migrate because of an infrastructure project. The people of Barangay Pasil demonstrate resilience, which makes the narrator realize that even in difficult situations, the people of Barangay Pasil will always show the power of community.

The Agents of Socialization I have encountered in the story are families, peers, and the workplace. The victims of the fire incident in Barangay Pasil, especially the families are eagerly fighting the government for their rights to rebuild their homes in the exact location. Even though the government has a relocation site and free homes for each family victim, they still don't want to leave the Barangay Pasil since they hold their ancestors' beliefs, history, literature, and emotional importance. Other than family, we have peers and workplaces. They also share the same expression towards relocating to another place just because the government wants to build an expressway. Furthermore, they also desire to fight for their rights and rebuild their homes so that they will always be close together.

We encounter "Bayanihan" in the story and it was clearly shown too. Conformity is the key that they are in good situations since they follow rules, "Nagkakaisa", and fight for their rights. Barangay Pasil is a lively village that balances independence

Epistemic Game Theory Andrés Perea, 2012-06-07 In everyday life we must often reach decisions while knowing that the outcome will not only depend on our own choice but also on the choices of others These situations are the focus of epistemic game theory Unlike classical game theory it explores how people may reason about their opponents before they make their final choice in a game Packed with examples and practical problems based on stories from everyday life this is the first textbook to explain the principles of epistemic game theory Each chapter is dedicated to one particular natural way of reasoning The book then shows how each of these ways of reasoning will affect the final choices that can rationally be made and how these choices can be found by iterative procedures Moreover it does so in a way that uses elementary mathematics and does not presuppose any previous knowledge of game theory
