Avery,2016-07-27 Driven grouse shooting where flocks of Red Grouse are chased by lines of beaters so that they fly over lines of guns that shoot the fast flying birds is a peculiarly British fieldsport It is also peculiarly British in that it is deeply rooted in the British class system This multi million pound business dominates the hills of the north of England the Pennines the North Yorkshire Moors the Cheviots and throughout Scotland Grouse shooting is big business VERY big business And backed by powerful wealthy lobbying groups its tendrils run throughout British society Inglorious makes the case for banning driven grouse shooting The facts and arguments are presented fairly but the author Mark Avery states from the start why he has after many years of soul searching come down in favour of an outright ban There is too much illegal killing of wildlife such as Buzzards Golden Eagles and most egregiously of all Hen Harriers and as a land use it wrecks the ecology of the hills

However grouse shooting is economically important and it is a great British tradition All of these and other points of view are given fair and detailed treatment and analysis and the author talks to a range of people on different sides of the debate The book also sets out Avery s campaign with Chris Packham to gain support for the proposal to ban grouse shooting culminating in Hen Harrier Day timed to coincide with the Glorious 12th This new paperback edition includes new material on what went on in 2015 including the devastating floods of that winter bringing the story right up to date Mark Avery continues to stir up a debate about fieldsports the countryside and big business in a book that all British conservationists will want to read

The Hand that Feeds Alexander Mullan,Riley Smallman,Herre de Bondt ,Juliette Waterman,2025-05-13 Food plays a major part in shaping human animal relations from nurturing farm and zoo animals to bringing wild birds into suburban gardens Food mediated interactions create personal interspecies bonds enrich and alter environments change species distributions enable new relationships and reconfigure social perspectives but also lead to many concerns over health and disease for example as well as conflicts over spaces and resources However previous attention has almost exclusively focused on the purpose driven utilitarian and economic aspects of feeding rather than the affective and emotional encounters that motivate many feeding practices Presenting new research and interdisciplinary case studies The Hand that Feeds considers animal feeding from historic to modern times The volume explores the nuances and complexity of non utilitarian feeding relationships across urban and rural divides in the wild on the farm at the zoo and in the garden and how our feeding relationships have altered animal distributions and behaviours The authors scrutinise contrasts between which species are promoted and which are persecuted and how the species we choose to feed reflects broader world views and cultural values

Ultimately this volume engages in the discussion of how we feed why we feed which animals we deem worthy of feeding and the widespread impacts of feeding relations Praise for The Hand that Feeds An innovative and exciting collection of studies exploring the cultural phenomenon of animal feeding Drawing on cutting edge approaches and case studies from wild raptors to livestock and zoo animals The Hand that Feeds has started a new conversation on this fundamental relationship between other species and ourselves Aleks Pluskowski University of Reading This fascinating book explores the how why and consequences of people feeding other species drawing on perspectives from the historical life and social sciences Different voices bring diverse observations and viewpoints to a refreshingly lively and informative discussion of a topic that is anything but simple Terry O Connor University of York This is a fantastic interdisciplinary collection interrogating how human animal relations are mediated by food Food can be an enticement a medicine or a poison it can be a vehicle for protection and bonding or distance and killing Dolly J rgensen University of Stavanger
