

Christ and Prometheus?

"If there is anything special about my theological pilgrimage, it is the simple fact that I have taught theology both in Eastern and Western Europe ... It is tempting to give an account of my memory and hope in relation to these different contexts ... You cannot dogmatically repeat in Basel what you have learned in Prague. Nor can you forget it ..."

Jan Milič Lochman,1988 The Legacy of Iranian Imperialism and the Individual John Pairman Brown,2012-10-25 The series Beihefte zur Zeitschrift f r die alttestamentliche Wissenschaft BZAW covers all areas of research into the Old Testament focusing on the Hebrew Bible its early and later forms in Ancient Judaism as well as its branching into many neighboring cultures of the Ancient Near East and the Greco Roman world Luther and the Beloved Community Paul R. Hinlicky,2010-05-17 Is Christian belief tenable today Is it possible to be a creedal Christian With the help of Martin Luther Paul Hinlicky here explores classical Christian beliefs regarding the person and work of Christ and human nature and destiny He also counters contemporary objections to creedal faith from the so called new perspective on Paul to Pope Benedict s rejection of the Augsburg Confession to the continuing challenge of Marx Luther and the Beloved Community does not present Luther s medieval thought as a possibility for today but does make him available for the future as a teacher of the faith and a help for tackling contemporary questions of Christian belief According to Hinlicky Luther is misused and misunderstood by those of his own tradition and needs to be understood not as hero of the faith but rather as the proponent of a beloved community that does not yet fully exist In performing this makeover Hinlicky reveals genuine new insights concealed within Luther s rhetoric Doing Theology when God is Forgotten Philip Gordon Ziegler,2007 Wolf Kr tke is widely acknowledged to be the most important theologian to emerge from the struggle of the churches in the former East Germany Working creatively in the tradition of Karl Barth and Dietrich Bonhoeffer he reconsiders the contours of Christian faith in face of the challenges posed by the regnant atheism and cultural disestablishment that continue to shape the cultural landscape of Eastern Germany This book explores in detail Kr tke s contributions to contemporary reflection upon the identity of God humanity and the Christian church and in so doing sheds light upon questions of theological method important in any context Theology Between the East and West: A Radical Legacy Frank D. book is for both evangelicals and ecumenicals interested in a holistic approach to the Christian vision of social transformation. The author compares Richard Mouw's Reformed political theology and Nam dong Suh's Minjung theology to suggest a vision of transformation that is theologically more cogent and politically more engaged. In general, Minjung theology understands transformation in terms of political liberation and Reformed theology in terms of spiritual redemption and theologians of the two theologies have criticized the other's approach as theologically inadequate. However, Suh's formulation of Minjung theology and Mouw's Reformed political theology based on the neo-Calvinist worldview show significant affinities with each other in their understanding of transformation in Christ. Both Suh and Mouw show a broad understanding of liberation and redemption. They develop their theologies in an inclusive both/and way of thinking and their holistic approach is contrasted with the exclusive either/or way of thinking in the Minjung theology of Byung-mu Ahn and the Reformed theology of David VanDrunen. The book concludes that redemption in Christ aims at an all-encompassing transformation that includes not only spiritual renewal but also liberation from social alienation, economic inequality, and political oppression.

Crucicentric, Congregational, and Catholic David R. Peel, 2019-03-04. This book presents a synthesis of Alan Sell's theology drawn from his voluminous publications. As Sell's doctrinal views are explored and interpreted, his indebtedness to P. T. Forsyth becomes clear. What emerges is a theology rooted in and flowing from the Cross Resurrection event. Standing in the Separatist, Dissenting, and Nonconformist traditions, Sell advocates a wholehearted commitment to a Congregational ecclesiology which he maintains carries the potential to break through the logjams holding up the establishment of full ecumenical relationships across the churches. Saddened by Christianity's many sectarianisms, Sell's intentions are thoroughly catholic while his faithfulness to the Christian tradition handed on to him is matched by a willingness to receive insights from beyond it. The result is a generous if eclectic expression of Christian orthodoxy. The critical phase of the book turns upon the question whether Sell's generous orthodoxy is generous enough. Do his theological conclusions actually do justice to the life and ministry of Jesus? And secondly, are they credible in the contemporary world? For all Sell's commitment to apologetics, does his theology actually speak to contemporary hearers?

The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch, Geoffrey William Bromiley, 1999. The Encyclopedia of Christianity is the first of a five-volume English translation of the third revised edition of Evangelisches Kirchenlexikon. Its German articles have been tailored to suit an English readership and articles of special interest to English readers have been added. The encyclopedia describes Christianity through its 2000-year history within a global context, taking into account other religions and philosophies. A special feature is the statistical information dispersed throughout the articles on the continents and over 170 countries. Social and cultural coverage is given to such issues as racism, genocide, and armaments, while historical content shows the development of biblical and apostolic traditions. This comprehensive work, while scholarly, is intended for a wide audience and will set the standard for reference works on Christianity. Outstanding reference sources 2000. American Libraries May 2000. Comp. by the Reference Sources Committee.

Israel and Hellas John Pairman Brown, 1995 Journal of Ecumenical Studies, 1989 What Freedom? Keith W. Clements, 2011-05-23 Wipf Stock has produced this Secondary Study Series on Bonhoeffer's theology We welcome this new series that makes available again some of the foundational texts that continue to influence the way we approach and interpret Bonhoeffer's legacy The books you will find here are works of quality that still hold the power to inform They represent the best of the early in terpretations of Bonhoeffer and his theology H Gaylon Barker Series Editor The Bible and the Politics of Exegesis Norman Karol Gottwald, David Jobling, Peggy Lynne Day, Gerald T. Sheppard, 1991 Beyond Marx and Market Klaus Nürnberg, 1998 Aimed at sixth formers and first year undergraduates this textbook aims to provide an unbiased assessment of the respective merits and demerits of the variety of economic systems that have existed in the 20th century Romantic Echoes in the Victorian Era Andrew Radford, 2017-03-02 In tracing those deliberate and accidental Romantic echoes that reverberate through the Victorian age into the beginning of the twentieth century this collection acknowledges that the Victorians decided for themselves how to define what is Romantic The essays explore the extent to which Victorianism can be distinguished from its Romantic precursors or whether it is possible to conceive of Romanticism without the influence of these Victorian definitions Romantic Echoes in the Victorian Era reassesses Romantic literature's immediate cultural and literary legacy in the late nineteenth century showing how the Victorian writings of Matthew Arnold Wilkie Collins the Brontës the Brownings Elizabeth Gaskell Charles Dickens Gerard Manley Hopkins Thomas Hardy and the Rossettis were instrumental in shaping Romanticism as a cultural phenomenon Many of these Victorian writers found in the biographical literary and historical models of Chatterton Coleridge Byron Shelley Keats and Wordsworth touchstones for reappraising their own creative potential and artistic identity Whether the Victorians affirmed or revolted against the Romanticism of their early years their attitudes towards Romantic values enriched and intensified the personal creative and social dilemmas described in their art Taken together the essays in this collection reflect on current critical dialogues about literary periodisation and contribute to our understanding of how these contemporary debates stem from Romanticism's inception in the Victorian age God or Mammon David W. Smith, 2025-06-30 The rise of neo liberalism and globalization has hardened the capitalist worldview in such a way that it has taken on an idolatrous nature for Christianity in the West At this crucial point in time David Smith prophetically confronts this issue and invites Christians to re examine their allegiances Using Jesus's warning that the worship of God and Mammon are incompatible as a lens Smith traces the tension of this decision from the Mosaic revolution through the history of biblical Israel and into the New Testament. He provides a historical survey of movements in Christianity that emerged in the constant struggle to counter the imperial church's conformity to a materialistic culture. Finally, he examines the modern world's shift toward an economic culture which has abandoned social values and needs. Christianity, which has become a global movement with its heartlands across the southern hemisphere, now faces the challenge and opportunity of a world in deepening crisis. In this timely and important book, Smith encourages us all to join in the quest for an alternative society that is shaped by kingdom values.

Baptism and Christian Identity Gordon S. Mikoski, 2009-07-02 In this book, Gordon Mikoski examines how the sacrament of baptism, the doctrine of the Trinity, and the practice of Christian education together constitute a dynamic nexus that has the potential to foster congregations marked by the formation of both deep Christian identity and creative engagement in public arenas for the common good. After establishing the necessity of holding baptism, Trinity, and ecclesial pedagogy together through his careful study of both Gregory of Nyssa and John Calvin, Mikoski outlines how this nexus can function for contemporary Christian communities as they carry out the work of educational ministry. He then explores the dynamics of faith formation in the contemporary American context, concluding with a suggestive treatment of implications of the baptism-Trinity-pedagogy nexus for the educational ministry of a given congregation. The Ecumenical Review, 1989

Christianity and Human Rights Frederick M. Shepherd, 2009-07-15 In Christianity and Human Rights: Christians and the Struggle for Global Justice, Frederick M. Shepherd has collected essays by scholars and activists who, in a wide variety of ways, confront the issue of Christianity's role in the burgeoning movement for human rights. The volume's contributors provide diverse perspectives on the theology behind the idea of human rights, the debate over its meaning, and the evolution of the struggle for human rights. A wide variety of disciplinary perspectives are represented, from economics, political science, and law to history, philosophy, and theology. The essays also represent a broad political spectrum, including specific accounts from activists participating in the struggle for human rights. Separate chapters focus on cases from Europe, Africa, Latin America, and Asia. Christianity and Human Rights begins and ends with attempts to synthesize current theory and practice, acknowledging both Christianity's great success and its failures in defending basic human rights around the globe.
