Blonde Joyce Carol Oates, 2000-04 The Black Eyed Blonde Benjamin Black, 2014-02-27 It is the early 1950s Marlowe is as restless and lonely as ever and business is a little slow Then a new client is shown in young beautiful and expensively dressed She wants Marlowe to find her former lover a man named Nico Peterson Soon he is tangling with one of Bay City's richest families and developing a singular appreciation for how far they will go to protect their fortune The Jumbo Book of Blonde Jokes Ed Sullivan, 2004-07 If the latest research on genetics is correct two hundred years from now the last blonde will be living in Finland and blondes in their non chemically enhanced state will have disappeared which gives us males a rather tight deadline to make the most of the situation pass round some jokes and ponder on the dismal state the world will be in once there are no more blondes From quick fire short jokes to long complex tales on blondes Ed Sullivan's lifelong collection of blonde jokes leaves few stones unturned and even fewer areas untouched when it comes to milking a situation for fun All of which is an excellent reason to open up this eBook fire up our email and fill up the inbox of friends and relatives with some truly hilarious stuff A Companion to the Modern American Novel, 1900 - 1950 John T.

Matthews, 2013-03-25 This cutting edge Companion is a comprehensive resource for the study of the modern American novel Published at a time when literary modernism is being thoroughly reassessed it reflects current investigations into the origins and character of the movement as a whole Brings together 28 original essays from leading scholars Allows readers to orient individual works and authors in their principal cultural and social contexts Contributes to efforts to recover minority voices such as those of African American novelists and popular subgenres such as detective fiction Directs students to major relevant scholarship for further inquiry Suggests the many ways that modern American and fiction carry new meanings in the twenty first century Fiction Unbound Sebnem Toplu, 2011-07-12 This book covers all Bernardine Evaristo's major works Lara 1997 and Lara 2009 The Emperor's Babe Soul Tourists Blonde Roots and Hello Mum Each chapter focuses on a particular novel combining a close analysis of the author's technique with a penetrating understanding of the basic themes which underlie all of Evaristo's work. This monograph exposes that Evaristo is not simply interested in multicultural issues to label them as such; it is to overlook her achievement as a novelist. It shows instead how Evaristo combines apparently disparate elements, for example historical research with late twentieth-century allusions in a narrative such as The Emperor's Babe to show how African Caribbeans have been coming to Britain for thousands of years. Yet Evaristo is not just interested in the African Caribbean experience; this book shows how she tries to question those basic concepts, for example Englishness or patriotism, which lie at the heart of mainstream white culture in contemporary Britain. It argues that Evaristo is interested in alternative constructions, not only of nationalism but of other basic issues such as race, gender, and class. Her books give the chance for hitherto marginalized characters, slaves, women, or victims of a patriarchal world to tell their stories and postulate alternative views of the world they live in. Above all, this monograph shows how Evaristo refuses to be pigeon-holed; she is not simply a black British writer but someone who focuses on the interconnectedness of society. This book calls for readers to adopt a more enlightened approach, not only to issues of culture and identity but to the work of Evaristo as a whole.

Taking up where Of Modern Dragons 2007 left off, these essays continue Lennard's investigation of the praxis of serial reading and the best genre fiction of recent decades, including work by Bill James, Walter Mosley, Lois McMaster Bujold, and Ursula K. Le Guin. There are groundbreaking studies of contemporary paranormal romance and of Hornblower's transition to space, while the final essay deals with the phenomenon and explosive growth of fanfiction and with the increasingly empowered status of the reader in a digital world. There is an extensive bibliography of genre and critical work with eight illustrations. John Lennard is Director of Studies at Hughes Hall, Cambridge, and has also taught for the Universities of London, Notre Dame, and for the Open University, and was Professor of British American Literature at the University of the West Indies, Mona, 2004-09. Of Modern Dragons and other essays on genre fiction, 2007, is also available from Lulu.

The Drowned Muse Anne-Gaëlle Saliot,2015 The Drowned Muse is a study of the extraordinary destiny in the history of European culture of an object which could seem at first glance quite ordinary in the history of European culture It tells the story of a mask the cast of a young girl's face entitled L'Inconnue de la Seine the Unknown Woman of the Seine and its subsequent metamorphoses as a cultural figure Legend has it that the Inconnue drowned herself in Paris at the end of the nineteenth century The forensic scientist tending to her unidentified corpse at the Paris Morgue was supposedly so struck by her allure that he captured in plaster the contours of her face This unknown girl also called The Mona Lisa of Suicide has since become the object of an obsessive interest that started in the late 1890s reached its peak in the 1930s and continues to reverberate today Aby Warburg defines art history as a ghost story for grown ups This study is similarly a ghost story for grown ups narrating the aura of a cultural object that crosses temporal geographical and linguistic frontiers It views the Inconnue as a symptomatic expression of a modern world haunted by the earlier modernity of the nineteenth century It also investigates how the mask s metamorphoses reflect major shifts in the cultural history of the last two centuries approaching the Inconnue as an entry point to understand a phenomenon characteristic of 20th and 21st century modernity the translatability of media Doing so this study mobilizes discourses surrounding the Inconnue casting them as points of negotiation through which we may consider the modern age Flappers and the New American Woman Catherine Gourley,2008-01-01 Examines the symbols that defined perceptions of women during the late 1910s and 1920s and how they changed women s role in society

K. Patell,Deborah Lindsay Williams,2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public s attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States
