Richard Wright Michel Fabre,1990 This bibliography of Richard Wright s library and reading serves as a key to understanding the development philosophies and aesthetics of this great writer and provides accurate information for the study of intertextuality in his works Richard Wright born in Mississippi in 1908 was largely self taught His only formal schooling was high school As he recounts in Black Boy he used a white friend s library card at the Memphis Public Library where blacks were not allowed That books were almost living companions for Wright is easily understandable Through books and later through relationships with writers he broadened his perspectives his understanding of society and the very craft of writing In the history of Richard Wright perhaps more than with other writers a knowledge of what he actually read and of what authors he preferred is essential in explaining his intellectual development Michel Fabre Wright s biographer and foremost Wright scholar details the volumes in Wright s library and the facts of Wright s reading habits This listing of books that formed and influenced him includes second hand books he bought while living in extreme poverty in Chicago some borrowed books never returned books purchased in New York and Paris books Wright deemed required reading for a growing novelist gift books and others in a comprehensive list on such subjects as contemporary American literature classic European works criminology psychiatry and social sciences In compiling this listing Fabre goes beyond the actual contents of Wright s library for he includes also titles drawn from references in Wright s works and from accounts of people who knew him and his reading habits Included also is an appendix that collects for the first time reviews written by Wright his prefaces forewords and blurbs They show his appreciation of diverse genres and styles although his ideological commitment remained the same In them one sees Wright as an author ready to help younger writers black and white American and French

The Oxford Handbook of Music Listening in the 19th and 20th Centuries Christian Thorau,Hansjakob Ziemer,2019 An idealized image of European concert goers has long prevailed in historical overviews of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries This act of listening was considered to be an invisible and amorphous phenomenon a naturally given mode of perception This narrative influenced the conditions of listening from the selection of repertoire to the construction of concert halls and programmes However as listening moved from the concert hall to the opera house street music and jazz venues new and visceral listening traditions evolved In turn the art of listening was shaped by phenomena of the modern era including media innovation and commercialization This Handbook asks whether how and why practices of music listening changed as the audience moved from pleasure gardens and concert venues in the eighteenth century to living rooms in the twentieth century and mobile devices in the twenty first Through these questions chapters enable a differently conceived history of listening and offer an agenda for future research
