William Park, 2011-09-16 Everyone seems to know what film noir is but scholars and critics cannot agree on any definition Some go so far as to insist that there is no such thing What is Film Noir claims that this confusion arises from the fact that film noir is both a genre and a period style and as such is unique in the history of Hollywood The genre now known as neo noir continues into the present while the period which began in the early 1940s had expired by 1960 William Park surveys the various theories of film noir defines the genre and explains how film noir relates to the style and the period in which it was created The book corrects several common misconceptions that film noir was an afterthought that Hollywood was not conscious of what it was creating and that film noir is too amorphous to be a genre Park also provides a very useful theory of genre and how it relates to film study

The Essence of Film Noir Diana Royer, 2022-06-07 American classic films noir beginning with 1941's The Maltese Falcon and ending with 1950's Sunset Boulevard and the neo noir films made from the 1970s onward share certain thematic aspects stylistic qualities and cultural contexts Their concern with politics their depiction of con artists and the way their characters are shaped by America's puritanical religious roots show that these films are examples of a unique American genre even when the films directors are German emigres with artistic roots in European Expressionism The films psychological depth is revealed stylistically through complex narratives with select directors generating visual poetry as they deal with sex violence and betrayal Some films are based on popular novels inspired by true crime cases A unique approach to film noir scholarship this book discusses the genre's thematic aspects cultural contexts and stylistic

Film Noir and the Cinema of Paranoia Wheeler Winston

Dixon, 2019-07-29 Film Noir and the Cinema of Paranoia is an overview of 20th and 21st century noir and fatalist film practice from 1945 onwards. The book demonstrates the ways in which American cinema has inculcated a climate of fear in our daily lives as reinforced starting in the 1950s by television and later videocassettes, the web and the Internet to create by the early 21st century a hypersurveillance atmosphere in which no one can avoid the barrage of images that continually assault our senses. The book begins with the return of American soldiers from World War II liberated from war in the Pacific by the newly created atomic bomb which will come to rule American consciousness through much of the 1950s and 1960s and then in a newer more small scale way become a fixture of terrorist hardware in the post paranoid ear of the 21st century. Film Noir and the Cinema of Paranoia is constructed in six chapters each highlighting a particular raising of the cinematic stakes in the creation of a completely immersible universe of images. Selling points: Expands the definition of noir to include numerous lesser known works. Deals with Red Scare films of the 1950s in the US. Examines the dark side of the 1960s or films that questioned the emerging counterculture. Explores such neo noir films as The Last Seduction 1993, Angel Heart 1987, The Grifters 1990, Red Rock West 1993, The Usual Suspects 1995, Mulholland Drive 2001, L.A. Confidential 1997 and Memento 2000. Details the noir aspects of the cybernetic age both in online and videogame uses. Perspectives on Film Noir R.

Barton Palmer, 1996. With the revived use of film noir by such contemporary directors as Scorsese, Altman and the Coen brothers, there has been heightened public and academic interest in the film noir as a genre movement and style. In this Perspectives volume, French theories of film noir are discussed with translations of key book reviews, essays and articles. Anglo-American theory and criticism, especially scholarship from the 1980s, illuminates social, literary and philosophical contexts of film noir in the 1940s and the revival of its themes, style and subject matters in the 1970s and 1980s. The Philosophy of Film Noir Mark T. Conard, 2007-08-17. A drifter with no name and no past, driven purely by desire, is convinced by a beautiful woman to murder her husband. A hard drinking detective down on his luck becomes involved with a gang of criminals in pursuit of a priceless artifact. The stories are at once romantic, pessimistic, filled with anxiety and a sense of alienation, and they define the essence of film noir. Noir emerged as a prominent American film genre in the early 1940s, distinguishable by its use of unusual lighting, sinister plots, mysterious characters and dark themes. From The Maltese Falcon 1941 to Touch of Evil 1958, films from this classic period reflect an atmosphere of corruption and social decay that attracted such accomplished directors as John Huston, Alfred Hitchcock, Billy Wilder and Orson Welles. The Philosophy of Film Noir is the first volume to focus exclusively on the philosophical underpinnings of these iconic films. Drawing on the work of diverse thinkers from the French existentialist Albert Camus to the Frankfurt school theorists Max Horkheimer and Theodor Adorno, the volume connects film noir to the philosophical questions of a modern, often nihilistic world. Opening with an examination of what constitutes noir cinema, the book interprets the philosophical elements consistently present in the films' themes, such as moral ambiguity reason versus passion and pessimism The contributors to the volume also argue that the essence and elements of noir have fundamentally influenced movies outside of the traditional noir period Neo noir films such as Pulp Fiction 1994 Fight Club 1999 and Memento 2000 have reintroduced the genre to a contemporary audience As they assess the concepts present in individual films the contributors also illuminate and explore the philosophical themes that surface in popular culture A close examination of one of the most significant artistic movements of the twentieth century The Philosophy of Film Noir reinvigorates an intellectual discussion at the intersection of popular culture and philosophy

Elements of Film Noir and its Implementation in the Contemporary TV-Series "True Detective" Sarah Hofmann, 2016-04-11 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject Film Science grade 1 7 Justus Liebig University Giessen Institut für Anglistik course Introduction to Crime Fiction language English abstract When researching for the topic of film noir it is inevitable to stumble upon keywords like nihilism femme fatales post war American life or the adjectives dark gloomy and mysterious But what is film noir And why does it appear so bleak In this term paper film noir as a movie genre in the 1940s will be examined and applied to the contemporary TV series True Detective 2014 First of all it is important to provide a theoretical foundation Therefore the history of film noir and how it developed will be discussed tersely Afterwards the main elements that mark a film noir as film noir will be described Themes like nihilism or pessimism are essential parts of film noir but so is murder and corruption The characters are also quite dreary there is a male victim who gets seduced by a femme fatale and precisely that woman might be involved with the noir psychopath Hence themes and characters are part of this term paper Cinematic features are not to be forgotten the extensive use of e.g. voice over and cut backs is also representative It will be explained what the features mentioned before are and how they are applied in film noir After the theoretical foundation is made the analysis of the HBO TV series True Detective takes place The choice has been made because many newspapers and articles considered True Detective as film noir and it was sapid to investigate whether this can be proven on facts or whether it is simply an assumption After a short summary of the series the items themes characters and narrative strategies will be explored and applied to the film noir schema Concluding the aspect of neo noir will be taken into account and the decision will be made whether True Detective can be seen as a product of film noir

Out of the Shadows Gene D. Phillips, 2011-11-03 Film noir was a cycle in American cinema which first came into prominence during World War II peaked in the 1950s and began to taper off as a definable trend by 1960 Over the years a group of films from the period emerged as noir standards beginning with Stranger on the Third Floor in 1940 However since film noir is too wide ranging it cannot be kept within the narrow limits of the official canon that has been established by film historians Consequently several neglected movies made during the classic noir period need to be re-evaluated as noir films In Out of the Shadows Expanding the Canon of Classic Film Noir Gene Phillips provides an in depth examination of several key noir films including acknowledged masterpieces like Laura The Maltese Falcon Sunset Boulevard and Touch of Evil as well as films not often associated with film noir like Spellbound A Double Life and Anatomy of a Murder Phillips also examines overlooked or underappreciated films such as Song of the Thin Man The Glass Key Ministry of Fear and Act of Violence Also considered in this reevaluation are significant neo noir films among them Chinatown Hammett L.A. Confidential and The Talented Mr. Ripley In his analyses Phillips draws upon a number of sources including personal interviews with directors and others connected with their productions screenplays and evaluations of other commentators Out of the Shadows explores not only the most celebrated noir films but offers new insight into underrated films that deserve reconsideration Of interest to film historians and scholars this volume will also appeal to anyone who wants a better understanding of the works that represent this unique cycle in American filmmaking
