Of Ralph A Fiction:

Gender in the Fiction of George Sand Françoise Massardier-Kenney, 2023-11-20 In Gender in the Fiction of George Sand Françoise Massardier Kenney argues that the major nineteenth century French writer George Sand articulates in her novels a complex and extremely modern conception of gender questioning prevalent patriarchal modes of discourse and redefining masculinity and femininity Through the analysis of a representative sample of Sand's works Indiana Jacques La dernière Aldini Jeanne Horace Valvère Melle la Quintinie Gabriel Lucrezia Floriana and Nanon Massardier Kenney uncovers the themes and strategies used by Sand to challenge essentializing and negative representations of women Gender in the Fiction of George Sand demonstrates the centrality of Sand's pioneering exploration of the construction of gender This original study will be of interest to scholars of nineteenth century French literature and culture women's literature and gender studies

Hugo Gernsback and the Century of Science Fiction Gary Westfahl, 2007-08-01 An examination of science fiction editor and author Hugo Gernsback's career this critical study explores the many ways in which his work influenced the genre It summarizes the science fiction theories of Gernsback and his successors considers his efforts to define science fiction both verbally and visually and for the first time offers detailed studies of his rarest periodicals including Technocracy Review Superworld Comics and Science Fiction Plus An analysis of his ground breaking novel Ralph 124C 41 A Romance of the Year 2660 and its influences on a variety of science fiction novels films and television programs is also offered The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction Liam Harte, 2020 Presents essays by thirty five leading scholars of Irish fiction that provide authoritative assessments of the breadth and achievement of Irish novelists and short story writers Bachelors, Manhood, and the Novel, 1850-1925 Katherine V. Snyder, 1999-09-02 Katherine Snyder's study explores the significance of the bachelor narrator a prevalent but little recognised figure in premodernist and modernist fiction by male authors including Hawthorne James Conrad Ford and Fitzgerald Snyder demonstrates that bachelors functioned in cultural and literary discourse as threshold figures who by crossing the shifting permeable boundaries of bourgeois domesticity highlighted the limits of conventional masculinity The very marginality of the figure Snyder argues effects a critique of gendered norms of manhood while the symbolic function of marriage as a means of plot resolution is also made more complex by the presence of the single man Bachelor figures made moreover an ideal narrative device for male authors who themselves occupied vexed cultural positions By attending to the gendered identities and relations at issue in these narratives Snyder's study discloses the aesthetic and political underpinnings of the traditional canon of English and American male modernism Mythic Black Fiction Jane Campbell, 1989 Campbell examines Black literature as it seeks to reverse and supplant the various dehumanizing myths promulgated by White American culture Analyzing fourteen literary works written over more than a century Campbell shows that this fiction permits Black authors to act as revisionist historians offering a transcendent view of the future through an exploration of the past In searching for rhetorical devices according to Campbell Black writers often draw on elements of myth that by definition articulate a culture's most profound perceptions and can be used in fiction to awaken readers' deepest urges. In a substantial work of literary history, Jane Campbell undertakes to reassess 14 Afro-American historical novels which encapsulate the realities of various periods: slavery, post-Reconstruction, and the decades leading up to the eighties. This book is worth reading by any student of Afro-American literary history. Cheryl Clarke, The Black Scholar. It is an important study which will enable us to better understand the full range of Afro-American literature. Thomas F. Gossett, Georgia Historical Quarterly.

The Mechanics of Wonder Gary Westfahl, 1998-11-01. The Mechanics of Wonder will arouse debate and force the questioning of presuppositions. No other book so closely examines the origins and development of the idea of science fiction, and it will stand among a small number of crucial texts with which every science fiction scholar or prospective science fiction scholar will have to read.

The Cambridge Companion to the Twentieth-Century American Novel and Politics Bryan M. Santin, 2023-10-12. Surveying the relationship between American politics and the twentieth-century novel, this volume analyzes how political movements, ideas, and events shaped the American novel. It also shows how those political phenomena were shaped in turn by long-form prose fiction. The book is made up of three major sections. The first section considers philosophical ideologies and broad political movements that were both politically and literarily significant in the twentieth-century United States, including progressive liberalism, conservatism, socialism, and communism, feminism, and Black liberation movements. The second section analyzes the evolving political valences of key popular genres and literary forms in the twentieth-century American novel, focusing on crime fiction, science fiction, postmodern metafiction, and immigrant fiction. The third section examines ten diverse politically minded novels that serve as exemplary case studies across the century. Combining detailed literary analysis with innovative political theory, this Companion provides a groundbreaking study of the politics of twentieth-century American fiction.

Nelson's Navy in Fiction and Film Sue Parrill, 2009-12-21. This book provides summaries and analyses of more than 250 novels and nearly 30 films and examines the extent to which they accurately reflect the history, mores, and manners of the period and the extent to which they reveal the ideas and attitudes of their authors and of the periods in which they were written. Particular emphasis is placed on the nature and importance of the war at sea for the British and on the role of famous naval officers such as Nelson, Pellew, Duncan Smith, and Cochrane in the defeat of Napoleon.

The Man with the Strange Head and Other Early Science Fiction Stories Miles John Breuer, 2008-01-01. Gathered here for the first time are Miles J. Breuer's first publication, The Man with the Strange Head, his neglected dystopian novel Paradise and Iron, appearing here in book form for the first time, stories such as Gostak and The Doshes, and Mechanocracy, and Breuer's essay The Future of Scientifiction, one of the early critical statements of the genre.

Also included are some of the author's letters from the Discussions column of Amazing Stories. Much of what we know as science fiction saw the light and found its themes, styles and modes in the science fiction magazines of the early twentieth century. It was in these magazines of the 1920s and 1930s that Breuer often led the way. Breuer himself found his inspiration in the work of H. G. Wells and in turn influenced science fiction masters from Jack Williamson to Robert A. Heinlein. The Man with the Strange Head and Other Early Science Fiction Stories collects the best work of this pioneer of the genre.

Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction Robyn McCallum, 2012-10-02 Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction examines the representation of selfhood in adolescent and children's fiction using a Bakhtinian approach to subjectivity, language, and narrative. The ideological frames within which identities are formed are inextricably bound up with ideas about subjectivity, ideas which pervade and underpin adolescent fictions. Although the humanist subject has been systematically interrogated by recent philosophy and criticism, the question which lies at the heart of fiction for young people is not whether a coherent self exists, but what kind of self it is, and what are the conditions of its coming into being. Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction has a double focus: first, the images of selfhood that the fictions offer their readers, especially the interactions between selfhood, social and cultural forces, ideologies, and other selves; and second, the strategies used to structure narrative and to represent subjectivity and intersubjectivity.

Australian Crime Fiction Stephen Knight, 2018-06-28 Australian crime fiction has grown from the country's origins as an 18th century English prison colony. Early stories focused on escaped convicts becoming heroic bush rangers, or how the system mistreated those who were wrongfully convicted. Later came thrillers about wealthy free settlers and lawless gold seekers, and urban crime fiction, including Fergus Hume's 1887 international best-seller The Mystery of a Hansom Cab, set in Melbourne. The 1980s saw a surge of private eye thrillers popular in a society skeptical of police. Twenty-first century authors have focused on policemen and increasingly policewomen, and finally indigenous crime narratives. The author explores in
