Soguel,2012-12-06 Over the past two decades economic theory has extended its field of application to non market goods such as environmental resources and health Although it is impossible to assign a price to these goods on the basis of market mechanisms alone the fact that they have no price does not mean that they have no value One technique in which economists have shown a marked interest is the contingent valuation method CVM which has mainly been used to assign a monetary value to environmental goods It was first applied to natural resources used for recreational purposes CVM has been applied to health only recently so that studies in this field are relatively more scarce than those dealing with the environment although several valuation methodology surveys are available There has hitherto been no book which has drawn together and analyzed recent contingent valuations in the field of transport accidents Contingent Valuation Transport Safety and the Value of Life provides an overview of the experiments conducted in Europe Denmark France the U K Sweden and Switzerland While a number of contributions are critical others show how the estimates obtained in the area of road transport can be used to assess the adverse health effects of other causes such as public transport accidents or air pollution Progress in Economics Research Albert Tavidze,2003 This series spans the globe presenting leading research in economics Perhaps it is a sign of the times that economic weapons such as sanctions seem to be as powerful as or more so than tanks International applications and examples of economic progress are invaluable in a troubled world with economic booms bursting like so many penny balloons Intra industry Trade Extending Brand Equity The Role of Goal Congruence Foreign Direct Investment and Dissemination of Job Opening Information in China Testing Asymmetry in a Cointegrated VAR Based Labor Demand Model Italian Evidence Negative Externality Tacit Bargaining and Cigarette Demand The Case of Environmental Tobacco Smoke in Japan Does Audit Quality Influence Post IPO Survival Dynamic Arbitrage free Asset Pricing with Proportional Transaction Costs Knowledge Structure Technical Progress and Underdevelopment Trap Paternalistic Altruism Life Cycle Hypothesis and the Ricardian Equivalence Three Approaches to Multi dimensional Screening Index Eastside Forest Ecosystem Health Assessment M.
