of our northern streams are the water is either too large or too small unless as previously remarked you live near at hand and can catch it at its best A common belief in regard to loch fishing is that the tyro and the experienced angler have nearly the same chance in fishing the one from the stern and the other from the bow of the same boat Of all the absurd beliefs as to loch fishing this is one of the most absurd Try it Give the tyro either end of the boat he likes give him a cast of ally flies he may fancy or even a cast similar to those which a crack may be using and if he catches one for every three the other has he may consider himself very lucky Of course there are lochs where the fish are not abundant and a beginner may come across as many as an older fisher but we speak of lochs where there are fish to be caught and where each has a fair chance Again it is said that the boatman has as much to do with catching trout in a loch as the angler Well we dont deny that In an untried loch it is necessary to have the guidance of a good boatman but the same argument holds good as to stream fishing Bombay in the Days of Queen Anne John Burnell,1933 *Bombay in the Days of Queen Anne, Being an Account of the Settlement Written by John Burnell; with an Introduction and Notes by Samuel T. Sheppard. To which is Added Burnell's Narrative of His Adventures in Bengal with an Introduction by Sir William Foster and Notes by Sir Evan Cotton and L.M. Stern,2012-11-29 The Company State offers a political and intellectual history of the English East India Company in the century before its acquisition of territorial power. It argues the Company was no mere merchant but a form of early modern colonial state and sovereign that laid the foundations for the British Empire in India. Curry Lizzie Collingham, 2006-02-06 Curry serves up a delectable history of Indian cuisine ranging from the imperial kitchen of the Mughal invader Babur to the smoky cookhouse of the British Raj. In this fascinating volume the first authoritative history of Indian food Lizzie Collingham reveals that almost every well known Indian dish is the product of a long history of invasion and the fusion of different food traditions. We see how with the arrival of Portuguese explorers and the Mughal horde the cooking styles and ingredients of central Asia, Persia and Europe came to the subcontinent where over the next four centuries they mixed with traditional Indian food to produce the popular cuisine that we know today. Portuguese spice merchants for example introduced vinegar marinades and the British contributed their passion for roast meat. When these new ingredients were mixed with native spices such as cardamom and black pepper they gave birth to such popular dishes as biryani, jalfrezi and vindaloo. In fact vindaloo is an adaptation of the Portuguese dish carne de vinho e alhos, the name vindaloo a garbled pronunciation of vinho e alhos and even curry comes from the Portuguese pronunciation of an Indian word. Finally Collingham describes how Indian food has spread around the world from the curry houses of London to the railway stands of Tokyo where karee raisu, curry rice, is a favorite Japanese comfort food. We even visit Madras Mahal, the first Kosher Indian restaurant in Manhattan. Richly spiced with colorful anecdotes and curious historical facts and attractively designed with 34 illustrations, 5 maps and numerous recipes, Curry is vivid, entertaining and delicious, a feast for food lovers everywhere. Research Catalog of the Library of the American Museum of Natural History, American Museum of Natural History, Library, 1977

Making the British empire, 1660-1800 Jason Peacey, 2020-06-24 This collection offers a timely reappraisal of the origins and nature of the first British empire in response to the cultural turn in historical scholarship and the new imperial history. It addresses topics that have been neglected in recent literature, providing a series of political and institutional perspectives at the same time it recognises the importance of developments across the empire, not least in terms of how they affected imperial policy and its implementation. It analyses a range of contemporary debates and ideas, political and intellectual as well as religious and administrative, relating to political economy, legal geography and sovereignty as well as the messy realities of the imperial project, including the costs and losses of empire collectively and individually.

Curiosities of Literature John Sutherland, 2009 One of our best known and best loved literary critics turns his attention to the more bizarre areas of literature in this miscellany of fact and trivia. Which author had the heaviest brain? What was the original title of 1984? What do 12% of all winners of the Booker prize have in common? When did cigarettes start making an appearance in English literature? And while we're at it, who wrote the first Western and is there any link between asthma and literary genius? Sutherland's irreverent literary masterpiece illuminates every topic imaginable, from author advances to civil war literature to Victorian sex to odd things eaten by literary characters.
