She Who Changes C. Christ, 2016-04-15 Can we re-imagine divine power as deeply related to the changing world Can we re-imagine the creation of the world as an ongoing process of co-creation in which every individual from particles of atoms to human beings plays a part Can we re-imagine Goddess/God as the most relational of all relational beings Can we re-imagine the world as the body of Goddess/God If we can then we can understand the deeper meaning of female images of divine power including Goddess/God She Sophia and Shekhina Many traditional understandings of divine power begin with thinly disguised rejections of the female body and connection to the natural world Women theologians from Jewish Christian Goddess and other traditions are re-imagining divine and human power as embodied embedded in a changing world and deeply related to all beings in the web of life Drawing on the work of process philosopher Charles Hartshorne whose insights deserve a wider hearing Carol P. Christ offers intellectual foundations for deeply held feelings about the meanings of female images of divine power Her gift is the ability to make complex ideas seem simple and radically new ideas seem familiar This book is addressed to everyone who has ever wondered about the implications of re-imagining God as female Dark Mother Lucia Chiavola Birnbaum, 2001 Bringing a feminist perspective to contemporary findings of geneticists and archeologists Lucia Chiavola Birnbaum cultural historian points out that the oldest veneration we know is of a dark mother of central and south Africa whose signs ochre red and the pubic V were taken by African migrants after 50 000 BCE to caves and cliffs of all continents The oldest sanctuary in the world was created in 40 000 BCE by African migrants in Har Karkom later called Mt Sinai foundation place of Judaism Christianity and Islam Lucia documents the continuing memory of the dark mother and her values in prehistoric images of the dark mother in historic black madonnas and in other dark women divinities whose sanctuaries are on African paths She tracks the memory in rituals and stories of her Sicilian grandmothers in persecution of dark others in patriarchal Europe and the United States in the rise of nonviolent dark others since the 1960s in the banners of the 1995 World Conference of Women at Beijing and in art She finds the dark mother's values justice with compassion equality and transformation in everyday and celebratory rituals of the world's subaltern cultures and suggests that the image and values are in the submerged memories of everyone The Fabric of the Future M. ### The Gender Imperative

Betty A. Reardon, Asha Hans, 2012-12-06 The book asserts that human security derives from the experience and expectation of human well being which depends on four essential conditions a life sustaining environment the meeting of essential physical needs respect for the identity and dignity of persons and groups protection from avoidable harm and expectations of remedy from them The book demonstrates their integral relationship to human security Patriarchy being the germinal paradigm from which most major human institutions such as the state the economy organised religions and social relations have evolved the book argues that fundamental inequalities must be challenged for the sake of equality and security The fundamental point raised is that expectation of human well being is a continuing cause of armed conflict which constitutes a threat to peace and survival of all humanity and human security cannot exist within a militarised security system The editors of the book bring together 14 essays which critically examine militarised security in order to find human security pathways show ways in which to refute the dominant paradigm indicate a clear gender analysis that challenges the current system and suggests alternatives to militarised security With a mix of female and male feminist scholar activists as contributors the book makes an important contribution to a new discourse on human security

Feminist Mysticism and Images of God Jennie S Knight,2011-02-28 Feminist theologians often claim that women s experience is their starting point However most feminist theology is remarkably void of analysis of particular women s experiences of imaging God In this book Knight provides practical recommendations to help people transform images in the context of religious practices What difference does it make whether we picture God as an elderly white grandfather a nurturing African American mother or a stranger on the bus Jennie Knight says our image of God affects how we see ourselves how we worship how we treat one another how or whether we work for justice and a host of other life practices But after years of knowing intellectually that God transcends a specific human type Knight still struggles to make an emotional connection with God in different forms She suspects that that struggle is why many seminarians who wrote papers about thea theology abandon nontraditional God images once they hit parish ministry perpetuating the practice of seeing God as a European male on a throne and all the accompanying problems that such imagery creates Knight believes that personal and critical reflection in the context of a supportive learning community combined with experiences of diverse images for the divine in worship can lead to profound changes in self image relationship with the divine and agency in the world This book aims to demonstrate why and how this transformation is both possible and necessary The popularity of The Shack The Secret Life of Bees Joan of Arcadia and other works with nontraditional God figures reveals a culture ready to embrace God in many forms Knight examines how the church can do the same
