

The real wealth

One day, a rich man decided to take his son on a trip to the country. The wealthy man wanted to show his son how the poor people live so he could be thankful for his wealth.

They spent two days on a farm of a very poor family. On their way home, the rich man asked his son, "How was our trip with this poor family and what did you learn?"

The son answered, "I saw that we have servants to serve us, but they serve others. We have one dog and they have four. We have imported lanterns in our gardens and they have stars at night. We buy our food, but they grow theirs. We have a big pool in our garden, but they have a creek that has no end. We have large walls to protect us and they have friends to protect them." Finally, the son added, "Thanks dad for showing me how poor we are."

Benešová, Martina,et al., The leading topic uniting the texts in this monograph is the Menzerath Altmann law and testing its potential validity on samples in different languages in our case in Chinese Japanese and Czech on spoken as well as written samples and on samples with newly established pioneer unit concepts The Menzerath Altmann law is reported to be capable of being applied on such variety of language aspects and is therefore regarded as a language universal The monograph this way summarizes a follow up research based on other pilot experiments held not only in the mentioned languages and attempts to test the concept of the language universal

The Robbie Burns Revival & Other Stories Cecilia Kennedy,2004 These linked short stories tell the tales of Tony Aardehuis a young Ontario police officer who centres more on the human puzzle than on crime and detection Fraud theft blackmail every small town crime short of murder drives these stories to conclusions that usually warm the heart Along the way Tony struggles like the rest of us to figure it all out The first Tony Aardehuis story was inspired by the Eastern Ontario ice storm of 1998 and the suggestion that natural disaster might double as a murder weapon This constable meets life with a fine blend of curiosity compassion and an occasional bent for bending the rules Tony Aardehuis s adventures have been published in The Grist Mill Bone Dance and Storyteller Magazine where he twice won The Great Canadian Story Contest One story is also shortlisted for a 2003 Arthur Ellis Award

The Change of Narrative Modes in Chinese Fiction (1898-1927) Pingyuan Chen,2022-02-17 This book examines the Chinese fictions xiaoshuo published between 1898 and 1927 three pivotal decades during which China underwent significant social changes It applies Narratology and Sociology of the Novel methods to analyze both the texts themselves and the social cultural factors that triggered the transformation of the narrative mode in Chinese fiction Based on empirical data the author argues that this transformation was not only inspired by translated Western fiction but was also the result of a creative transformation in tradition Chinese literature
