Experiences of migration and dwelling in displacement impinge upon the lives of an ever increasing number of people worldwide with business class comfort but more often with unrelenting violence Since the early 1990s the political and cultural realities of global migration have led to a growing interest in the different forms of diasporic existence and identities The articles in this book do not focus on the external boundaries of diaspora what is diasporic and what is not but on one of its most important internal boundaries which is indicated by the second term in the title of this book memory It is not by chance that the right to remember the responsibility to recall are central issues of the debates in diasporic communities and their relation to their cultural and political surroundings The relation of diaspora and memory contains important critical and maybe even subversive potentials Memory can transcend the territorial logic of dispersal and return and emerge as a competing source of diasporic identity The articles in this volume explore how shaped by the responsibilities of testimony as well as by the normalizing forces of amnesia and forgetting and political interests memory is a performative figurative process rather than a secure space of identity Aposynagōgos and the Historical Jesus in John Jonathan

Bernier,2013-09-12 In Aposynagōgos and the Historical Jesus in John Jonathan Bernier utilizes the critical realist hermeneutics developed by Bernard Lonergan and Ben F Meyer to survey historical data relevant to the Johannine expulsion passages John 9 22 12 42 16 2 He evaluates the major two contemporary interpretative traditions regarding these passages namely that they describe not events of Jesus lifetime but rather the implementation of the Birkat ha Minim in the first century or that they describe not historical events at all but serve only to construct Johannine identity Against both traditions Bernier argues that these passages plausibly describe events that could have happened during Jesus lifetime Non-State
