Integration of Nature and Technology for Smart Cities Anil Ahuja,2016-03-17 This book is a resumption of the work Integrated M E Design Building Systems Engineering published by Anil Ahuja in 1997 Together with an international group of authors from the engineering urban planning and architecture fields Mr Ahuja discussed new trends and paradigms in the smart buildings and smart city sectors and extended the topic of the previous publication from the building to the entire city A smart sustainable building is not just about the building itself There are things happening in the inside of the building and on the outside A smart building connects the inside with the outside provides efficiencies on both sides synchronizes the outside infrastructure with its inside systems and integrates nature and its occupants in its design A smart building doesn t just provide technology solutions It is about constant exchange between the inside and the outside of the building the contribution of the building to the quality of the entire neighborhood and the rest of the city how the smart building can connect people in a sharing community and how technology can be the key to make it happen High Pressure Vessels Donald M. Fryer,John F. Harvey,2012-12-06

High Pressure Vessels is the only book to present timely information on high pressure vessel design for student engineers mechanical and chemical engineers who design and build these vessels and for chemical engineers plant engineers and facilities managers who use them It concentrates on design issues giving the reader comprehensive coverage of the design aspects of the ASME High Pressure System Standard and the forthcoming ASME High Pressure Vessel Code Coverage of the safety requirements of these new standards is included as well as offering the reader examples and original data a glossary of terms SI conversions and lists of references Emerging Technologies in Airconditioning and Refrigeration ,2001 Commissioning Buildings in Hot, Humid Climates J. David Odom,George DuBose,2000

Prepared in cooperation with Disney Development Company this book deals exclusively with aspects of the design construction or operation of buildings for which even relatively minor errors can have devastating results when the building is located in a hot humid climate Disney s consistent adherence to the principles outlined in this manual has dramatically reduced problems in its new construction The information presented combines the experience of CH2M Hill the largest environmental engineering firm in the U S and Disney one of the premier facility planning and management firms in the world Key issues covered include indoor air quality problem factors hot humid climate considerations new building failure and a model for future success Specifically addressed are schematic design design development final design construction and post construction startup and system commissioning

The concepts and approaches presented are those which have proven successful in designing and operating problem free indoor building environments in hot and humid locations
