Brazil's International Activism Monika Sawicka, 2023-06-30 In Brazil's International Activism Monika Sawicka questions how Brazil's deep rooted craving for greatness has led to the quest for status in the twenty first century and contends that the categorization of Brazil as an emerging middle power enriches the understanding of modern Brazilian foreign policy Drawing on the rich vocabulary of role theory Sawicka sets out to establish an original theoretical framework that comprises the structural status the behavioral role and the cognitive ideational identity to assess whether Brazil has performed roles distinguishing a middle power and how the state has reconceptualized them The model is applied to scrutinize how ideational and material drivers impacted Brazil's engagement as an integrator in Latin America donor in Africa mediator in the Middle East and coalition builder of developing states in global fora Despite recent criticism of the concept of emerging middle powers Sawicka argues that Brazil's international activism stands as a precise embodiment of such a power With an aim of theory development and contributing to the debate on Brazil's international standing Brazil's International Activism provides a much required reinterpretation of Brazilian foreign policy which will be of interest to scholars and students of Foreign Policy Analysis International Relations and Latin American Studies

Exploited Earth Teresa Hayter, 2013-11-05 How do types of aid differ Why are there different kinds When is one more appropriate than another How can you tell good aid from bad Friends of the Earth commissioned Teresa Hayter author of Aid as Imperialism and Aid Rhetoric and Reality to examine Britain's aid policy and practice paying particular attention to its effects on the world's forests In this book she describes the history of the different forms of aid and their effects On behalf of one of the West's most effective environmental lobbies Exploited Earth show how and why British aid needs to change Originally published in 1989

Non-Western Encounters with Democratization Christopher K. Lamont, Jan van der Harst, 2016-03-09 Non Western Encounters with Democratization offers diverse perspectives on democracy and transition spanning the Middle East and North Africa to East Asia This unique collection of essays drawn from contextually rich case studies presents readers with a variety of non western encounters with democracy and provides important insights into the dramatic political and social transformations in these regions over the past decades The book offers a deeper understanding of democratization and challenges the image of western democracy as a universal model to which non western societies aspire Taking the events of the Arab Spring as the starting point international contributors look at why the uprisings that rapidly spread across North Africa and the Middle East had a strong resonance in East Asia but failed to inspire similar revolts Through direct engagement with non western experiences of political transition the book demonstrates a unique coherence across two regions relatively under explored in democratization literature

Capitalism and Dispossession David

P. Thomas, Veldon Coburn, 2022-05-25T00:00:00Z This edited collection brings together a broad range of case studies to highlight the role of Canadian corporations in producing deepening and exacerbating conditions of dispossession both at home and abroad. Rather than presented as instances of exceptional greed or malice, the cases are described as expected and inherent consequences of contemporary capitalism and/or settler colonialism. A core purpose of the book is to combine and synthesize analyses of dispossession within and outside of Canada. While the literature tends to treat the two as distinct and unrelated phenomena, these processes are often connected as the normalization of settler colonialism at home can lead to indifference and acceptance of dispossession caused by Canadian companies abroad. This book brings local and global cases together in order to present a rigorous analysis of the role of Canadian corporate activity in processes of dispossession. The book includes a diversity of theoretical approaches related to the overarching theme of capitalism and dispossession, however they share a critical analysis of capitalism and its implications on marginalized peoples at home and abroad. Included are political economy approaches that draw on the work of theorists such as David Harvey, important interventions from Indigenous and settler colonial studies, feminist approaches using the work of scholars such as Silvia Federici, and the concept of environmental racism which draws on both critical race theory and environmental justice literature.

Explorers Matthew Lockwood, 2024-10-15

Wonderfully insightful and entertaining, it gives voice to those who have been overlooked for too long. Eric Jay Dolin, author of Left for Dead. The impulse to seek out new worlds is universal to humanity. Unfurling a tapestry of surprising and historically overlooked figures spanning forty centuries and six continents, historian Matthew Lockwood narrates lives filled with imagination and wonder, curiosity, connection, and exchange. Familiar icons of exploration like Pocahontas, Columbus, Sacagawea, and Captain Cook find new company in the untold stories of people usually denied the title of explorers, including immigrants, Indigenous interpreters, local guides, and fugitive slaves. He highlights female voyagers like Gudrid, Far Traveler, and Freydis Eirsdottir, Viking women who sailed to North America in 1000 AD, and Mary Wortley Montagu, whose pioneering travels to Constantinople would lead to the development of the world's first smallpox vaccine. Figures like Ghulam Rasul Galwan, a guide for European travelers in the Himalayas, reveal the hidden labor, expertise, and local enthusiasm behind many grand stories of discovery. Other characters like David Dorr, a man born into slavery in New Orleans who embarked on a Grand Tour of Europe and Egypt, embody discovery and wonder as universal parts of the human condition. As Lockwood makes clear, people of every background imagine new worlds. Adventurers from every corner of the globe search for the unknown and try to understand it, remaking the world and themselves in the process. Exploration is for everyone who sets off into the unknown. It is the inheritance of all.

Britain's Overseas Aid Since 1979 Anuradha Bose, Peter J. Burnell, 1991

Margaret Thatcher's government pledged in 1980 to give greater weight to political, industrial, and commercial considerations in aid allocation. The contributors to this volume, who include economists, political scientists, and practitioners working in the aid field, examine how this policy change came to be.

made and what it has meant for the country's aid program and for Britain's relationship with the developing world
