F. Foster Professor of Irish History and a Fellow Hertford College,2002-09-06 Roy Foster is one of the leaders of the iconoclastic generation of Irish historians In this opinionated entertaining book he examines how the Irish have written understood used and misused their history over the past century Foster argues that over the centuries Irish experience itself has been turned into story He examines how and why the key moments of Ireland s past the 1798 Rising the Famine the Celtic Revival Easter 1916 the Troubles have been worked into narratives drawing on Ireland s powerful oral culture on elements of myth folklore ghost stories and romance The result of this constant reinterpretation is a shifting Story of Ireland complete with plot drama suspense and revelation Varied surprising and funny the interlinked essays in The Irish Story examine the stories that people tell each other in Ireland and why Foster provides an unsparing view of the way Irish history is manipulated for political ends and that Irish poverty and oppression is sentimentalized and packaged He offers incisive readings of writers from Standish O Grady to Trollope and Bowen dissects the Irish government s commemoration of the 1798 uprising and bitingly critiques the memoirs of Gerry Adams and Frank McCourt Fittingly as the acclaimed biographer of Yeats Foster explores the poet s complex understanding of the Irish story the mystery play of devils and angels which we call our national history and warns of the dangers of turning Ireland into a historical theme park The Irish Story will be hailed by some attacked by others but for all who care about Irish history and literature it will be essential reading Little Lizzie, by M. Gillies, followed by Lucy Meridyth, and Making something [by M.L. Child]. Mary Gillies,1866 Married and Making a Living Barbara Kranendonk,1997 Our economy is characterized by a changing labor market in which large companies are forced by competition to downsize by laying off employees whose skills are specialized and where alternatives are either less attractive or nonexistent Small family businesses which have increased in numbers during the last decade are one means to address such an employment problem Changing careers as a result of corporate downsizing is a traumatic experience but sharing time and responsibilities with a spouse in a family owned business without preparation multiplies that stress This book describes the organization of roles and work tasks typical in a group of married couples who own and manage small franchise businesses These work relationships demonstrate high levels of togetherness and adaptability but family research has shown that these characteristics are often problematic in marital relationships Notable problems for these couples include covert and overt conflict as well as a fusion of work roles Too much flexibility leads to unclear and inconsistent work assignments and impulsive decision making The book outlines several techniques for educating and coaching business spouses

Photography and Making Bedouin Histories in the Naqab, 1906-2013 Emilie Le Febvre, 2023-12-22 Introducing a novel anthropological study of photography in the Middle East Emilie Le Febvre takes us to the Naqab Desert where Bedouin use photographs to make and respond to their own histories She argues Bedouin presentations of the past are selective but increasingly reliant on archival documents such as photographs which spokespersons treat as evidence of their local histories amid escalating tensions in Israel These practices shape Bedouin visual historicity that is the diverse ways people produce their pasts in the present with images This book charts these processes through the afterlives of six photographs c 1906 2013 as they circulate between the Naqab's entangled visual economies a transregional landscape organised by cultural ideals of proximity and assemblages of Bedouin iconography Le Febvre illustrates how representational contentions associated with tribal civic and Palestinian Israeli politics influence how images do history work in this society She concludes Bedouin visual historicity is defined by acts of persuasion during which photographs authenticate alternating history projects Here Bedouin value photographs not because they evidence singular narratives of the past Rather the knowledges inscribed by photography are multifarious as they support diverse constructions of history and society with which members mediate a wide range of relationships in southern Israel This book bridges studies of anthropology photography Palestinian Israeli politics and Bedouin Middle East history
