Parliament. House of Commons. Health Committee, 2008 The Modernising Medical Careers MMC programme of work was established in 2003 to address difficulties in poor training and indifferent career prospects experienced by some doctors at Senior House Officer SHO level and by many of those in Staff Grade and Associate Specialist SAS posts A new Foundation programme was introduced in 2005 the Specialty Training system was reformed and the SHO grade scrapped in 2007 As a result of inadequate preparation during the implementation of the reforms in 2007 the MMC programme plunged into crisis The new centralised recruitment system the Medical Training Application Service MTAS proved highly unpopular with both candidates and assessors A major inquiry led by Sir John Tooke examined the 2007 crisis and called both for major changes to the structure of training and for the creation of a new body NHS Medical Education England to oversee medical education The Committee's investigation finds that a divided and inappropriate governance structure flawed project and risk management and poor communication with junior doctors were the most serious failings Coordination between the Department of Health and the Home Office on restricting medical migration was inadequate These practical shortcomings were responsible for some of the direct causes of the 2007 crisis including the defective application form and other aspects of the short listing process the unsafe computer system and the failure to limit the number of applications from overseas doctors The leadership shown by the Department of Health was inadequate The Chief Medical Officer chose not to take on a clear leadership role and thus did not accept responsibility for the 2007 crisis The Committee makes a number of recommendations for change and improvement to achieve a more flexible training system and calls on the Department to address policy issues relating to the wider medical workforce Finance and Business Law Cherry,1999-06

Telephone Directory United States. Department of Defense,1981 Each issue includes a classified section on the organization of the Dept School Reform, Corporate Style Dorothy Shipps,2006 Like other big city school systems Chicago s has been repeatedly reformed over the last century Yet its schools have fallen far short of citizens expectations and left a gap between the performances of white and minority students Many blame the educational establishment for resisting change Other critics argue that reform occurs too often still others claim it comes not often enough Dorothy Shipps reappraises the tumultuous history of educational progress in Chicago revealing that the persistent lack of improvement is due not to the extent but rather the type of reform Throughout the twentieth century managerial reorganizations initiated by the business community repeatedly altered the governance structure of schools as well as the relationships of teachers to children and parents but brought little improvement while other more promising reform models were either resisted or crowded out Shipps chronicles how Chicago s corporate actors led abetted or restrained nearly every attempt to transform the city s school system then asks whether schools might be better reformed by others To show why city schools have failed urban children so badly she traces Chicago s reform history over four political eras revealing how corporate power was instrumental in designing and revamping the system Her narrative encompasses the formative era of 1880 1930 when teachers unions moderated business plans previously unexplored business activism from 1930 to 1980 when civil rights dominated school reform and the decentralization of the 1980s She also covers the uneasy cooperation among business associations in the 1990s to install the mayor as head of the school system a governing regime now challenged by privatization advocates Business people may be too wedded to a stunted view of educators to forge a productive partnership for change Unionized teachers bridle at the second class status accorded them by managers If reform is to reach deeply into classrooms Shipps concludes it might well require a new coalition of teachers unions and parents to create a fresh agenda that supersedes corporate interests This study clearly shows that in Chicago as elsewhere urban schooling is intertwined with politics and power By reviewing more than a century of corporate efforts to make education work Shipps makes a strong case that it s high time to look elsewhere perhaps to educators themselves for new leadership The Professional

Secretary's Handbook American Heritage Dictionary, Robert W Harris, 1984 How a City Learned to Improve Its Schools Anthony S. Bryk, Sharon Greenberg, Albert Bertani, Penny Sebring, Steven E. Tozer, Timothy Knowles, 2023-04-18 A comprehensive analysis of the astonishing changes that elevated the Chicago public school system from one of the worst in the nation to one of the most improved How a City Learned to Improve Its Schools tells the story of the extraordinary thirty year school reform effort that changed the landscape of public education in Chicago Acclaimed educational researcher Anthony S Bryk joins five coauthors directly involved in Chicago's education reform efforts Sharon Greenberg Albert Bertani Penny Sebring Steven E Tozer and Timothy Knowles to illuminate the many factors that led to this transformation of the Chicago Public Schools Beginning in 1987 Bryk and colleagues lay out the civic context for reform outlining the systemic challenges such as segregation institutional racism and income and resource disparities that reformers grappled with as well as the social conflicts they faced Next they describe how fundamental changes occurred at every level of schooling enhancing classroom instruction organizing more engaged and effective local school communities strengthening the preparation recruitment and support of teachers and school leaders and sustaining an ambitious evidence based campaign to keep the public informed on the progress of key reform initiatives and the challenges still ahead The power of this capacity building is validated by unprecedented increases in benchmarks such as graduation rates and college matriculation This riveting account introduces key actors within the schools city government and business community and the partnerships they forged It also reveals the surprising yet essential role of Chicago's innovative information infrastructure in aligning disparate initiatives In making clear how elements such as advocacy civic capacity improvement research and strong democracy contributed to large scale progress in the system's 600 plus schools the book highlights the greater lessons that the Chicago story offers for system improvement overall The Child Victim as a Witness, 1994
