Book Of Iris A Biography Of Robin Hyde:

The Book of Iris Derek Challis, Gloria Rawlinson, 2002 Brilliant beautiful difficult and doomed Iris Wilkinson known as the writer Robin Hyde led a short tumultuous and incredibly productive life Here her story is told for the first time in a dramatic and deeply moving narrative Researched by both authors from 1965 to 1971 it was written in a first draft by Iris Wilkinson s friend Gloria Rawlinson since Rawlinson s death in 1995 it has been revised and completed by Derek Challis Wilkinson s son It includes appalling accounts of hidden pregnancies harsh experience as a solo mother dependence on drugs intimate acquaintance with sexism and poverty mental breakdown and a perilous trip to China in wartime There are deep friendships and hurtful betrayals Always there is a dedicated and determined commitment to writing Jacket Young Knowledge: the Poems of Robin Hyde Michele Leggott, 2013-10-01 Young Knowledge presents for the first time a full chronological record of the poems of Robin Hyde a New Zealand writer active in the 1930s whose full achievement is only now being recognised Drawing on the 500 poems extant Michele Leggott has chosen 300 divided into five sections Her aim is to arrive at a better understanding of the 15 years of massive production which shaped the poet and which may be her major literary work Young Knowledge shows Robin Hyde s growth as a poet her response to the painful events of her life and to the political and social world around her The poems are remarkable both for their acute observation of the physical and emotional world and for their powerful prophetic and visionary elements The introduction and notes to Young Knowledge available here www.nzepc.auckland.ac.nz/authors/hyde make this an authoritative and comprehensive text and a brilliant presentation of a great poet An extra pleasure is the inclusion of five stunning photographs of Robin Hyde used on the cover and to head each section which have not previously been known Old Black Cloud Jacqueline Leckie, 2024-06-13 Mental depression is a serious issue in contemporary New Zealand and it has an increasingly high profile But during our history depression has often been hidden under a long black cloud of denial that we have not always lived up to the Kiwi ideal of being pragmatic and have not always coped Using historic patient records as a starting place and informed by her own experience of depression academic Jacqueline Leckie s timely social history of depression in Aotearoa analyses its medical cultural and social contexts through an historical lens From detailing its links to melancholia and explaining its expression within Indigenous and migrant communities this engrossing book interrogates how depression was medicalised and has been treated and how New Zealanders have lived with it Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide Different Lives Hans Renders, David Veltman, 2020-06-15 Internationally acclaimed biographies are almost always written by British or American biographers But what is the state of the art of biography in other parts of the world Introduced by Richard Holmes the volume Different Lives offers a global perspective seventeen scholars vividly describe the biographical tradition in their countries of interest They show how biography functions as a public genre featuring specific societal issues and opinion making Indeed the volume aims to answer the question how can biography contribute to a better understanding of differences between societies and cultures Special attention is given to the US China and the Netherlands Other contributions are on Australia Belgium Canada the Czech Republic Denmark Iceland Iran Italy New Zealand Spain and South Africa This book represents a much needed breakdown of the history and current status of Biography Studies throughout the world Any educator teaching a course in higher education that includes Biography Studies should definitely consider this as a major text for inclusion Billy Tooma film maker and Assistant Professor Wessex County College The rise of biography is the literary event of our time Hamilton and Renders are its pioneer scholars and their compelling primer is a must read Joanny Moulin Institut Universitaire de France on Nigel Hamilton and Hans Renders in The ABC of Modern Biography 2018 See inside the book

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Patrick Parrinder, 2011 This series presents a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction and written by a international team of scholars dust jacket A Life of J.C. Beaglehole T. H. Beaglehole, 2006 But this scholarly achievement was in many ways matched by the part he played in the intellectual and cultural life of New Zealand in his time A prolific writer and critic he became committed to making New Zealand a more lively and civilised place to live and through his work at Victoria University his teaching his involvement with the New Zealand Council for Civil Liberties and the New Zealand Historic Places Trust among many such organisations his influence was far reaching Drawing on J C Beaglehole s own writing especially his sparkling unpublished letters the author has woven together all the aspects of his father s life into an immensely readable narrative The two chapters on Beaglehole s work on James Cook create a picture of the historical scholar at work and give the book an international significance BOOK JACKET Race, Empire and First World War Writing Santanu Das, 2011-04-28 Drawing upon fresh archival material this book recovers the experience of different ethnic groups during the First World War conflict

Foreigners and Foreign Institutions in Republican China Anne-Marie Brady, Douglas Brown, 2012-09-10 Republican China attracted an uncommon diversity of foreign interests groups and individuals which included missionaries adventurers diplomats academics humanitarians and refugees as well as hedonists and tourists By exploring the diverse nature of foreign activities in Republican China this book complicates the dominant narratives of the imperialistic foreigner and Chinese victim and moves beyond the depiction of foreigners as privileged and the Chinese as simply weak The spaces and relationships examined in the essays in this volume reveal a complex series of interactions between foreigners and the people of China which go far beyond one way transmission or exploitation Indeed this book examines how diverse and sometimes seemingly peripheral foreign individuals and communities influenced literature education trade sexual morality warfare and architecture in China and in the process were themselves profoundly changed in ways that are as remarkable as those experienced by the Chinese they had come to observe meet exploit conquer assist or change Bringing together the work of a diverse group of scholars on Republican China this edited volume adopts a uniquely multi disciplinary approach to the study of foreigners in China and utilises the perspectives of historiography literary studies cultural studies sociology anthropology and political science As such this interesting and innovative book will be of great interest to students and scholars from diverse fields including Chinese and global history politics and international relations Chinese studies literary studies and gender studies

Letters of Frank Sargeson Sarah Shieff, 2012-02-03 A rich and riveting record of both literary and social value Frank Sargeson is one of New Zealand's best loved and most important writers Besides the ground breaking short stories he wrote memoirs novels and plays He encouraged at least three generations of younger writers and for most of his adult life the famous bach behind the hedge at 14 Esmonde Road was at the heart of New Zealand's artistic and literary world Sargeson was also a prolific letter writer and this selection of 500 of the most fascinating ranges over half a century from 1927 to 1981 The letters are immensely readable vividly capturing his life and times his milieu and his personality Frank loved gossip could be bitchy and peevish but also kind affectionate funny ribald astute This collection selected edited and annotated by Sarah Shieff is a document of extraordinary significance for all those interested in New Zealand's literary and social history

Landfall Charles Brasch, 2003 Better Britons Nadine Attewell, 2014-02-05 In 1932 Aldous Huxley published Brave New World his famous novel about a future in which humans are produced to spec in laboratories Around the same time Australian legislators announced an ambitious experiment to breed the colour out of Australia by procuring white husbands for women of white and indigenous descent In this study Nadine Attewell reflects on an assumption central to these and other policy initiatives and cultural texts from twentieth century Britain Australia and New Zealand that the fortunes of the nation depend on controlling the reproductive choices of citizen subjects Better Britons charts an innovative approach to the politics of reproduction by reading an array of works and discourses from canonical modernist novels and speculative fictions to government memoranda and public debates that reflect on the significance of reproductive behaviours for civic national and racial identities Bringing insights from feminist and queer theory into dialogue with work in indigenous studies Attewell sheds new light on changing conceptions of British and settler identity during the era of decolonization

Picking Up the Traces Lawrence Jones, 2003. The story of the generation of New Zealand writers who came of age in the 1930s and who deliberately and decisively changed the course of literature is told in this book, shedding important new light on the key participants including Allen Curnow, Denis Glover, and Robin Hyde. The movement is traced through small circulation magazines and small press publications from 1932 to 1941. The repudiations and loyalties by which the movement defined itself are explored, including its opposition to the literary establishment and to late Georgian verse, its naming of its precursors and allies from the 1920s, and its choice of overseas models such as the British Moderns and the new American short story writers. For the creation of a new literature, it opposes the cultural myths supported by the literary establishment and the writers' responses to the world-wide social upheavals of the period: the Depression, the international crises of 1935 to 1939, and World War II.

Farming, Fascism and Ecology Philip Coupland, 2016-09-19. The life of Jorian Jenks, 1899-1963, has great potential to upset settled assumptions. Why did a sensitive and intelligent man from a liberal family become a fascist? How did a Blackshirt go green? The son of an eminent academic, from his childhood onwards Jenks instead longed to farm. Lacking the means to do so, he worked as a farm bailiff and then in New Zealand as a government agricultural instructor. Finally, a legacy permitted him to come home and become a tenant farmer. Struggling to survive in the economic depression of the 1930s, he became an author and activist for rural reconstruction. Then, having lost faith in the established parties, he joined the British Union of Fascists. Becoming one of the Blackshirts' leading figures, he was imprisoned without trial during the war. On his release, Jenks returned to the struggle, this time in the cause of ecology, becoming a pioneer of today's organic movement and a founder of the Soil Association. This book draws on an extensive range of sources, a large proportion of which were previously unseen by historians. For the first time, it portrays the private and public life of this unusual man, revealing many hitherto un glimpsed facets of Jenks' life.

This Paper Boat Gregory Kan, 2016-02-22. In these poems, rich in understatedly beautiful imagery, two authors, their families, and their many ghosts navigate oceans, forests, gardens, and houses in New Zealand, Singapore, China, and in dreams. This Paper Boat follows the author as he traces his own history through the lives and written fragments of Iris Wilkinson, aka Robin Hyde, of his parents, and their parents. He explores old territories of Robin Hyde's, still dripping with the past: the tide pool at Island Bay with its shrimp and driftwood, the garden at Laloma with its crushed lemon leaves. He listens to the stories of his parents and their parents the eels and milk frangipani trees drains and barbed wire of their childhoods He remembers a jungle of his own he searches for ghosts in the water While stumbling across irreparable fractures between worlds the author uncovers the permission to have beautiful and imperfect plans Mason Rachel Barrowman,2003 The full story of the gifted but troubled R A K Mason is told for the first time in this accessible biography The puzzling reasons after his extraordinary beginning that Mason almost completely stopped writing poetry are investigated The legendary story of how Mason dumped 200 copies of his first book The Beggar into Auckland harbor in disappointment disgust or despair because no one would buy it is explored as a symbol of a time the 1920s and 1930s when a true vital native literature struggled to be written or heard in a provincial and puritanical country Also explored are how Mason's political beliefs prompted him to turn his creative energies to left wing theater movements in the 1930s the impact that family pressures had on his life and his late in life diagnosis with manic depression

Quandaries of Belonging Michael Jackson,2020-12-15 Those who leave their homelands either under duress or by design will see them in a different light than those who have stayed put Michael Jackson argues that the perspective of the expatriate may be compared with what ethnographers call stranger value In moving between detachment and deep immersion this bifocal perspective implicates a bicultural one which is why Jackson has recourse to Mori traditional knowledge not in order to impose a Eurocentric interpretation on them but to show how cross cultural conversations and interactions can promote new forms of sociality and coexistence

Passport to Hell Robin Hyde,2015-06-08 Passport to Hell is the story of James Douglas Stark Starkie and his war Journalist and novelist Robin Hyde came across Starkie while reporting in Mt Eden Gaol in the 1930s and immediately knew she had to write his queer true terrible story The result was greeted by John A Lee war veteran author and politician as the most important New Zealand war book yet published Born in Southland and finding himself in early trouble with the law the young Starkie tricked his way into a draft in 1914 by means of a subterfuge involving whisky and tea In his subsequent chequered career in Egypt Gallipoli Armenti res the Somme Ypres he showed himself a soldier and not a soldier with a contempt of danger and discipline alike Hyde took the raw horrors respites and reversals of Starkie's experiences and composed a work of literature much greater than a mere documentary of war She portrays a man carousing in the brothels of Cairo and the estaminets of Flanders looting a dead man's money belt and filching beer from the Tommies attempting to shoot a sergeant through a lavatory door in a haze of absinthe yet carrying his wounded captain back across No Man's Land a man recommended for the V C and honoured for his bravery but also subject to nine court martials It is a portrait of a singular individual something of a visionary in Hyde's words who has also been described as the quintessential New Zealand soldier And against the contradictory elements of Starkie's character Hyde shows a war machine that preaches Thalt shall do no murder one moment and sends men over the top the following day to kill Robin Hyde was one of New Zealand's true literary trailblazers and in this book she redefined the parameters of novel and memoir In its psychological acuity and emotional depth Passport to Hell is one of the finest war books we have Published to mark the centenary of this quintessential New Zealand war story this newly reset edition includes Hyde s final authorized text from 1937 and an introduction and notes by D I B Smith East by South Charles Ferrall,Paul Millar,Keren Smith,2005 At a time when China is being seen as the next superpower both sweatshop and powerhouse for the global economy political courtship on the part of interested governments is accompanied by grassroots hostility Such ambivalence is not new
