Coup De Torchon Clean Slate:

Film Noir Jennifer Fay, Justus Nieland, 2009-12-04 The term film noir still conjures images of a uniquely American malaise hard boiled detectives fatal women and the shadowy hells of urban life But from its beginnings film noir has been an international phenomenon and its stylistic icons have migrated across the complex geo political terrain of world cinema This book traces film noir's emergent connection to European cinema its movement within a cosmopolitan culture of literary and cinematic translation and its postwar consolidation in the US Europe Asia the Middle East and Latin America The authors examine how film noir crosses national boundaries speaks to diverse international audiences and dramatizes local crimes and the crises of local spaces in the face of global phenomena like world wide depression war political occupation economic and cultural modernization decolonization and migration This fresh study of film noir and global culture also discusses film noir's heterogeneous style and revises important scholarly debates about this perpetually alluring genre

Landscapes of Loss

Naomi Greene, 1999-04-18 In this book Naomi Greene makes new sense of the rich variety of postwar French films by exploring the obsession with the national past that has characterized French cinema since the late 1960s Observing that the sense of grandeur and destiny that once shaped French identity has eroded under the weight of recent history Greene examines the ways in which French cinema has represented traumatic and defining moments of the nation's past the political battles of the 1930s the Vichy era decolonization the collapse of ideologies Drawing upon a broad spectrum of films and directors she shows how postwar films have reflected contemporary concerns even as they have created images and myths that have helped determine the contours of French memory This study of the intricate links between French history memory and cinema begins by examining the long shadow cast by the Vichy past and shifting political and historical perspectives toward the nation's more distant past which also emerged in these years Finally the mood of nostalgia and melancholy that appears to haunt contemporary France is analyzed in the context of films about the nation's imperial past as well as those that hark back to a golden age a remembered paradis perdu of French cinema itself

The Crime Novel Tony Hilfer, 2014-07-03 Although rarely distinguished from the detective story the crime novel offers readers a quite different experience In the detective novel a sympathetic detective figure uses reason and intuition to solve the puzzle restore order and reassure readers that right will always prevail In the crime novel by contrast the hero is either the killer the victim a guilty bystander or someone falsely accused and the crime may never be satisfactorily solved These and other fundamental differences are set out by Tony Hilfer in The Crime Novel the first book that completely defines and explores this popular genre Hilfer offers convincing evidence that the crime novel should be regarded as a genre distinct from the detective novel whose conventions it subverts to develop conventions of its own Hilfer provides in depth analyses of novels by Georges Simenon Margaret Millar Patricia Highsmith and Jim Thompson He also treats such British novelists as Patrick Hamilton Shelley Smith and Marie Belloc Lowndes as well as the American novelists Cornell Woolrich John Franklin Bardin James M Cain and Fredric Brown In addition he defines the distinctions between the American crime novel and the British showing how their differences correspond to differences in American and British detective fiction This well written study will appeal to a general audience as well as teachers and students of detective and mystery fiction For anyone interested in the genre it offers valuable suggestions of what to read next
