Warner, Margaret Sermons Purser, 2017 A 2017 Choice Outstanding Academic Title The mythic American West with its perilous frontiers big skies and vast resources is frequently perceived as unchanging and timeless The work of many western based historical archaeologists over the past decade however has revealed narratives that often sharply challenge that timelessness Historical Archaeology Through a Western Lens reveals an archaeological past that is distinct to the region but not in ways that popular imagination might suggest Instead this volume highlights a western past characterized by rapid and ever changing interactions between diverse groups of people across a wide range of environmental and economic situations The dynamic and unpredictable lives of western communities have prompted a constant challenging and reimagining of both individual identities and collective understandings of their position within a broader national experience Indeed the archaeological West is one clearly characterized by mobility rather than stasis The archaeologies presented in this volume explore the impact of that pervasive human mobility on the West a world of transience impermanence seasonal migration and accelerated trade and technology at scales ranging from the local to the global By documenting the challenges of both local community building and global networking they provide an archaeology of the West that is ultimately from the West A Hero's Journey Chris Dooley, 2022-09-06 A Hero's Journey Beyond Little Norway and Olympia Sports Camp is a compiled history of the Olympia Sports Camp in Huntsville Ontario through the lens of its founder and inspiration Dave Grace the hero of the book's title The hero's journey of the title is Dave Grace's adaptation of the writings and teaching of philosopher Joseph Campbell The basic tenet of the Dave Grace's hero's journey is that heroes all go through a 12 step journey from their own comfort zone to the unknown and all its challenges to a new normal where the hero bestows knowledge learned on others in order to help them on their journey Dave Grace's foundational belief is that we are all heroes on our own path and who we become on our journey is more important than the accomplishments we achieve A Hero's Journey chronicles the people and places that make up the history of the camp while also serving as an inspirational guidebook for readers to each become the hero of their own journey This book also examines the history of the land on which the camp has been built from its Indigenous origins to the European settlement of the 1800s and to the use of the land by the Norwegian Air Force during World War II The book takes readers on a journey through the various stages related to the development of the camp first established in 1974 The book is built on a collection of stories related to mentorship sports psychology and community building as well as interviews of past campers coaches and others with a longtime association with Olympia With this book author Chris Dooley honours Dave Grace and the many others who have been integral to the history of the camp and its land He Was Some Kind of a Man Roderick McGillis, 2011-04-08 He Was Some Kind of a Man

Masculinities in the B Western explores the construction and representation of masculinity in low budget western movies made from the 1930s to the early 1950s. These films contained some of the mid twentieth century's most familiar names especially for youngsters: cowboys such as Roy Rogers, Hopalong Cassidy and Red Ryder. The first serious study of a body of films that was central to the youth of two generations. He Was Some Kind of a Man combines the author's childhood fascination with this genre with an interdisciplinary scholarly exploration of the film's influence on modern views of masculinity. McGillis argues that the masculinity offered by these films is less one dimensional than it is plural, perhaps contrary to expectations. Their deeply conservative values are edged with transgressive desire and they construct a male figure who does not fit into binary categories such as insider/outsider or masculine/feminine. Particularly relevant is the author's discussion of George W. Bush as a cowboy and how his aspirations to cowboy ideals continue to shape American policy. This engagingly written book will appeal to the general reader interested in film westerns and contemporary culture as well as to scholars in film studies, gender studies, children's literature and autobiography.

Go Southwest, Old Man

Mario Materassi, 2009. Go Southwest Old Man a sort of personal remake of Go West Young Man, the founding episteme of the American nineteenth century. Conciliates these two souls well, not to be pretentious, let's simply say two sides that have actually always lived in harmony. This is a book generated by a quarter of a century spent wandering around the canyons and deserts of Arizona, Colorado, Utah and above all New Mexico with a view to penetrating the by now universal legend of the West, approaching the cultures English, Hispanic and native American and mastering the literature. The slant is composite, melding the scholarly with the informative and the travel journal and the writing is composite too because the book speaks English and Italian. It talks about cinema, lots of John Ford and about detective stories, the most popular genre here, about visual arts and Latino folklore, about the legend of the West, the so called Soul of the Southwest and the kitsch style of Santa Fe. And it talks about and with some of the greatest writers that the Southwest has spawned: Rudolfo Anaya, Stanley Crawford, John Nichols and Hillerman. So what we have is a first hand experience of the Southwest where the ego is not entrenched within a precise disciplinary role but opens up and exposes itself to the thrilling risk of the discovery that can renew it.
