Covering The 60s George Lois The Esquire Era:

Covering the '60s George Lois, 1996 George Lois was the genius graphic designer responsible for the legendary series of covers of Esquire magazine that were an icon shattering and icon defining commentary on the 60s This collection of the best of those covers includes short anecdotes by Lois but the chief interest is in the pictures he created His covers were generally poster like and free of excess words and yet these pictures say plenty The list of subjects is stellar Marilyn Monroe Norman Mailer Muhammad Ali Andy Warhol Germaine Greer and Richard Nixon Sometimes the picture is a tease for the story within sometimes it subverts it as in the cover of a hangdog Roy Cohn with a ridiculous halo that accompanied a self justifying piece written by Cohn Only one of the covers reproduced here a nude shot of Jack Nicholson was cut before press time The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research David Abrahamson, Marcia R. Prior-Miller, 2015-06-05 Scholarly engagement with the magazine form has in the last two decades produced a substantial amount of valuable research Authored by leading academic authorities in the study of magazines the chapters in The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research not only create an architecture to organize and archive the developing field of magazine research but also suggest new avenues of future investigation Each of 33 chapters surveys the last 20 years of scholarship in its subject area identifying the major research themes theoretical developments and interpretive breakthroughs Exploration of the digital challenges and opportunities which currently face the magazine world are woven throughout offering readers a deeper understanding of the magazine form as well as of the sociocultural realities it both mirrors and influences The book includes six sections Methodologies and structures presents theories and models for magazine research in an evolving global context Magazine publishing the people and the work introduces the roles and practices of those involved in the editorial and business sides of magazine publishing Magazines as textual communication surveys the field of contemporary magazines across a range of theoretical perspectives subjects genre and format questions Magazines as visual communication explores cover design photography illustrations and interactivity Pedagogical and curricular perspectives offers insights on undergraduate and graduate teaching topics in magazine research The future of the magazine form speculates on the changing nature of magazine research via its environmental effects audience and transforming platforms Esquire in the Sixties Christopher M.
