Deni, Karen Smith Stegen, 2016-04-08 Recent upheaval in the global energy system dramatic increases in demand led largely by developing countries significant decreases in supply as a result of local or regional conflicts and the growing nexus between the burning of hydrocarbons and climate change has unsettled long held notions of energy security For many years transatlantic cooperation helped undergird the system s stability but Europe and North America have drifted apart in several key ways potentially undermining the search for energy sufficiency surety and sustainability Will the transatlantic partners continue on separate paths in the face of dramatic change in the global energy system or does the breadth and depth of the challenges they confront compel them to work more closely together In this edited volume experts from across Europe and North America including advisors to the executive and legislative branches of both the EU and the United States to senior military commanders and to major international organizations and companies examine the most salient facets of the transatlantic energy relationship and discern whether that relationship is characterized by growing convergence or divergence This book was based on a special issue of the Journal of Transatlantic Studies

Power, Energy, and the New Russian Imperialism Anita Orban, 2008-09-30 Russia is the world's foremost energy superpower rivaling Saudi Arabia as the world's largest oil producer and accounting for a quarter of the world's exports of natural gas Russia's energy reserves account for half of the world's probable oil reserves and a third of the world's proven natural gas reserves Whereas military might and nuclear weapons formed the core of Soviet cold war power since 1991 the Russian state has viewed its monopolistic control of Russia's energy resources as the core of its power now and for the future Since 2005 the international news has been filled with Russia's repeated demonstrations of its readiness to use price transit fees and supply of gas and oil exports as punitive policy instruments against recalcitrant states that were formerly part of the Soviet Union striking in turn the Ukraine Georgia Azerbaijan Armenia Belarus and Lithuania Orban reveals for the first time in Power Energy and the New Russian Imperialism Russia's readiness to wield the same energy weapon against her neighbors on the west all of them former Soviet satellite states but now EU and NATO member nations the three Baltic nations and the five East European nations of Poland Slovakia Hungary the Czech Republic and Slovenia Orbán shows how the Kremlin since 1991 has systematically used Russian energy companies as players in a concerted neo mercantilist energy based foreign policy designed to further Russia's neo imperial ambitions among America's key allies in Central East Europe Her unprecedented analysis is key to predicting Russia's strategic response to American negotiations with Poland and the Czech Republic to host the US missile shield She also reveals the economic and diplomatic modus operandi by which Russia will increasingly apply its energy clout to shape and coerce the foreign policies of the West European members of the EU as Russia's contribution to EU gas consumption increases from a quarter today to three quarters by 2020 Orbán proves that Russia's neo mercantilist energy strategy in East Europe is not at all dependent on the person of Putin but began under Yeltsin and continues under Medvedev the former chairman of Gazprom
