Alpine Warriors Bernadette McDonald,2015 By the early 70 s they had advanced to the 8000ers Although not exclusively Slovenian the teams were not surprisingly dominated by Slovenian climbers since Slovenia is blessed with the Julian Alps A fiercely steep range of limestone peaks the Julian Alps provided the ideal training ground for Slovenian climbers in both summer and winter The brooding north faces and razor sharp ridges taught them the skills they would need on the highest mountains on earth the Himalaya But when Tito died in 1980 the calm period ended Inter ethnic conflict and economic decline ripped the country apart Serbian Communist leader Slobodan Milosevic led the charge with what appeared to be an unstoppable strategy of aggression and oppression But he misread the strength and character of several Yugoslavian states including that most northerly one Slovenia By the summer of 1991 Slovenia was an independent country

Introduction To'The Alpine Guide.'New Edition John BALL (President of the Alpine Club.),1866 Mountaineering in the Alps Claire Eliane Engel,2025-06-01 Mountaineering in the Alps 1971 examines the two centuries of alpineering where mountaineering as we know it today was first invented and developed It traces the first beginnings of the sport as intrepid explorers ventured into the Alps all the way up to the new developments of the late twentieth century The Alpine Journal ,1864 The 4000m Peaks of the Alps Martin Moran,2007-06 The 4000m Peaks of the Alps provides a practical companion guide to the Alpine 4000ers with detailed description of every worthwhile route from Facile F to Difficile sup D TD As well as the 50 major mountains every significant subsidiary top is visited by one or more route In total over 230 routes are described ranging from beginners climbs on the Breithorn and Allalinhorn to magnificent grandes courses like the Peuterey Ridge of Mont Blanc In addition the valley bases huts and hut approaches are described in detail so that mountaineers can plan and execute their 4000m campaign without need to refer to any other texts The guidebook builds on the Alpine Club s long and distinguished pedigree of publishing regional guides to the Alps Martin Moran brings his climbing passion and experience to add an inspirational flavour to the peak portraits and route descriptions The Laboratory of Progress Joseph Jung,2022-07-29 The Laboratory of Progress Switzerland in the 19th Century tells the improbable story of how a small backward mountainous agricultural country with almost no raw materials became an industrial powerhouse a hub of innovation a touristic mecca and a pioneer in transportation all in the course of a single century That a tiny landlocked country should become a dominant steamship builder for the rest of the world that a country that had never seen a cotton plant should become the world s second largest textile producer that a country with hardly any level terrain should come to boast the world s most highly developed railway network and that a country whose main export was impoverished emigrants should be transformed into one of the world s major financial centres these astonishing developments among many others are explored and explained both through the specific stories of individual innovators and through a prescient analysis of the political economic societal and cultural structures that formed the context in which Switzerland's astonishing transformation took place. The book is a compelling read both for professional historians and for general readers with an interest in Switzerland; it highlights the roles of transport networks and individual pioneers in industrial and political development.

When the Alps Cast Their Spell Trevor Braham, 2004. This is a history of Alpine mountaineering from the earliest explorers of the 12th century to contemporary expeditions.

Alpine Ecosystems in the Northwest Caucasus Vladimir G. Onipchenko, 2013-03-20. Plant geographical description of the area; syntaxonomy, spatial patterns, floristic richness, structure of plant communities in relation to soil properties and herbivore influence were described for a mountain region that is difficult to access. Seasonal, inter-annual and long-term dynamics of vegetation are discussed on the basis of long-term observations as well as pollen and phytolith analyses. Population biology of alpine plants is studied by combination of field observations and mathematical modelling. Plant population strategies and soil seed banks are described for alpine plants from several communities. Results of long-term ecological experiments, plant reciprocal transplantations, dominant removals, light limitation showed the significance of competition and facilitation for community organization. Structure of soil algal and fungal communities is represented as well as mycorrhiza of alpine plants. Main animal groups, wild history and modern nature conservation problems are discussed.

Alpine Plant Life Christian Körner, 2021-03-31. This book is a completely revised, substantially extended treatment of the physical and biological factors that drive life in high mountains. The book covers the characteristics of alpine plant life, alpine climate and soils, life under snow, stress tolerance, treeline ecology, plant water, carbon and nutrient relations, plant growth and productivity, developmental processes, and two largely novel chapters on alpine plant reproduction and global change biology. The book explains why the topography-driven exposure of plants to dramatic micro-climatic gradients over very short distances causes alpine biodiversity to be particularly robust against climatic change. Geographically, this book draws on examples from all parts of the world, including the tropics. This book is complemented with novel evidence and insight that emerged over the last 17 years of alpine plant research. The number of figures, mostly in color, nearly doubled with many photographs providing a vivid impression of alpine plant life worldwide. Christian Körner was born in 1949 in Austria, received his academic education at the University of Innsbruck and was full professor of Botany at the University of Basel from 1989 to 2014. As emeritus Professor, he is continuing alpine plant research in the Swiss Alps.
