Concepts In Cancer Care:

Concepts in Cancer Care Jay S. Cooper, Donald J. Pizzarello, A Theory of Cancer Care in Healthcare Settings Carol Cox, Maya Zumstein-Shaha, 2017-09-01 This book provides healthcare professionals with a practice theory for the care and management of patients who have been diagnosed with cancer. It explores what patients experience and how healthcare professionals can assist them in dealing with their uncertainty and fear as well as planning for the future. Unique to the book is its explication of the emerging theory The Omnipresence of Cancer which is set in the context of a discussion of earlier theories also concerned with cancer care. Chapters demonstrate how The Omnipresence of Cancer has been developed, validated through research and being further tested in relation to cancer care. In particular a chapter on philosophical reflections using theory to produce knowledge for practice is included. Each chapter provides essential background, a synthesis of the current state of knowledge and practice examples associated with cancer care. The combination of theoretical reflection and practice examples is designed to promote comprehension and guidance on implementation of the theory as well as recommendations for practice. This book will be of significant interest to healthcare students and professionals working in the field of cancer care and oncology particularly healthcare professionals working in advanced practice roles and nurse educators. It is also anticipated that professionals working in pastoral care, occupational therapy, social work and radiography will be interested in this book. Concepts in Cancer Care Jay Scott Cooper, Donald J. Pizzarello, 1980

Cancer Nursing Jessica Corner, Christopher D. Bailey, 2001-03-26 The need to improve cancer services is widely recognized. Cancer nurses are increasingly being acknowledged as key players in enhancing care and treatment for people with cancer. However, there is also an acknowledgement of the growing need for greater numbers of nurses with the confidence and skills to meet the demands of this intensely challenging area of health care. Cancer Nursing Care in Context draws upon a unique range of sources from multidisciplinary contributors. These include personal accounts from people with cancer and those caring for them, research evidence and the views and experiences of experts working in the field. Cancer and cancer care are revealed from a number of perspectives, both conventional and unconventional. This book offers an accessible introduction to the disease and its treatment as well as more challenging original material relating to the therapeutic and caring practice. The book is divided into 5 sections. In Part 1, cancer is set in context, the concept of cancer, discourses and the social meaning of cancer and cancer care are introduced and explored. Part 2 deals with the cancer experience from the perspective of the person who is ill as well as family members and health professionals. Part 3 offers detailed insight into cancer treatment. Part 4 explores the nursing management problems relating to cancer. Finally, Part 5 identifies and reviews a number of priorities in cancer care, including cancer in ethnic communities, children and adolescents with cancer, older people, health policy and research. Cancer Nursing Care in Context is essential reading for post-registration cancer nurses and health care professionals. It is also useful for nursing students who wish to develop their knowledge and skills in cancer care The Editors Jessica Corner is Professor of Cancer Nursing and Director of the Centre for Cancer and Palliative Care Studies Institute of Cancer Research London Christopher Bailey is Senior Nursing Fellow at the Centre for Cancer and Palliative Care Studies Institute of Cancer Research London Key features Personal accounts of the experience of cancer and its treatments Care strategies Research reviews Overviews by acknowledged experts A commitment to therapeutic nursing A comprehensive source of information for nurses working in cancer care

Denial and Quality of Life in Lung Cancer Patients Tineke Vos,2025-10-01 Denial in cancer patients is a well known concept The definition of denial however is not unequivocal and covers different ways of evading painful events or feelings This thesis studies denial and its relation to the quality of life in lung cancer patients To assess the level of denial the Denial of Cancer Interview DCI was developed Denial was measured at different time points in the course of the disease The key finding from this study is that patients fare better when they express a moderate level of denial or increase their level of denial from the moment of diagnosis over time This study shows convincingly that denial in lung cancer patients deserves attention in clinical practice In this era of self disclosure it is good to realize that some patients need protection against unbearable facts and feelings Denial can serve this need and should be respected Cancer Treatment Reports,1986 countries Formal Concept Analysis Raoul Medina, Sergei Obiedkov, 2008-02-11 Formal Concept Analysis FCA is a mathematical theory of concepts and conceptual hierarchy leading to methods for conceptually analyzing data and knowledge. The theory itself strongly relies on order and lattice theory which has been studied by mathematicians over decades. FCA proved itself highly relevant in several applications from the beginning and over the last years the range of applications has kept growing. The main reason for this comes from the fact that our modern society has turned into an information society. After years and years of using computers, companies realized they had stored gigantic amounts of data. Then they realized that this data, just rough information for them, might become a real treasure if turned into knowledge. FCA is particularly well suited for this purpose. From relational data, FCA can extract implications, dependencies, concepts, and hierarchies of concepts and thus capture part of the knowledge hidden in the data. The ICFCA conference series gathers researchers from all over the world, being the main forum to present new results in FCA and related fields. These results range from theoretical novelties to advances in FCA-related algorithmic issues as well as application domains of FCA. ICFCA 2008 was in the same vein as its predecessors: high quality papers and presentations, the place of real debate and exchange of ideas. ICFCA 2008 contributed to strengthening the links between theory and applications. The high quality of the presentations was the result of the remarkable work of the authors and the reviewers. We wish to thank the reviewers for all their valuable comments which helped the authors to improve their presentations. Giddens's Concepts for Canadian Nursing Practice - E-Book Debra (Debbie) Sheppard-LeMoine, Lisa-Marie Forcier, 2025-11-21 Learn the core concepts of Canadian nursing care and how to apply them to the clinical setting. Giddens's Concepts for Canadian Nursing Practice uses a simplified intuitive approach to describe 64 important concepts relating to all areas of nursing practice in a Canadian health care context, including Indigenous health, racism, and gender diversity. Integrating the latest Canadian statistics, research, and cultural considerations, this text emphasizes cultural safety, interprofessional collaboration, and health equity. To reinforce understanding, this book also makes connections among related concepts and links you to other Elsevier nursing textbooks. Exemplars for each concept provide useful examples and models showing how concepts are successfully applied to practice. Essential tools and case studies for clinical reasoning in nursing help you confidently prepare for almost any clinical nursing situation. Psychosocial Rehabilitation for Cancer Patients Xu Tian, Maria Jimenez-Herrera, Ting Shuai, Guihua Chen, 2023-10-27 Key Concepts in Palliative Care Moyra A Baldwin, Jan Woodhouse, 2010-10-15 Do you need a succinct introduction to the key theories and principles of palliative care and their application to practice?
