

The background of the slide is a vibrant blue field filled with glowing white and yellow binary digits (0s and 1s). These digits are scattered across the frame, with some appearing larger and more prominent than others, creating a sense of depth and digital activity. Overlaid on this background are several thin, intersecting lines in shades of orange, red, and white, which resemble a complex circuit board or a network diagram. The overall effect is a high-tech, futuristic aesthetic that strongly conveys the theme of digital electronics.
