C.R. Symmons, 2024-10-28 Literary Materialisations and Interferential Reading Ingrid Hotz-Davies, Martin Middeke, Christoph Reinfandt, 2025-03-28 This book traces literature's long history of repurposing representational language use for performative material effects It brings this tradition into dialogue with the recent material turn in literary and cultural theory which seeks to supplant or at least rethink the foundational influence of the linguistic turn in the field Drawing on a variety of cutting edge new materialist theories this book programmatically outlines the contours of a methodology of Interferential Reading that is then brought to bear on examples ranging from Shakespeare Donne Keats and Tennyson to Northern Irish poets Colette Bryce and Sin ad Morrissey and Scottish poet Kathleen Jamie from British thing essays to J G Ballard John Berger Nicola Barker Richard Powers Colum McCann Tim Crouch Hanya Yanagihara and Korean writer Han Kang winner of the 2024 Nobel Prize for literature and from the history of theatrical bodies to the intermedial as well as affective textures in very recent experimental theatre live theatre broadcasting and media art Carbon-13

commonly regarded as a mundane prosaic material whilst the sea is perceived as a fearsome environment endowed with mystery Mystery stems from lack of knowledge and to that extent both concrete and sea have something in common we fall a long way short of knowing enough about them Fortunately we have learned enough from our investigations and experiences to be able to set the limits within which we should operate It is important for the engineer to seek to quantify the effects of the environment on materials and structures so that these can be made safe and adequately durable for their intended economic life This is especially true for marine structures Thus the primary purpose of this book is to provide a useful synthesis of the behaviour of concrete and concrete structures in the marine environment An outline of the content of the book is provided in the latter part of the first chapter and so will not be anticipated here The chief aim throughout however is to work as far as possible within a context of the appropriate governing physical phenomena giving due consideration to the mathematical relationships between them Moreover without intending to be a design manual an introduction is given to the sources of information which designers are likely to use as well as to structural achievements It is hoped that there should emerge an implicit integration between structure and constituent materials and the surrounding environment Bulletin United States. Department of Transportation,1983 The Expressway World Richard J. Williams,2025-04-28 In the demonology of the contemporary city is there anything more toxic than the expressway Dividing neighbourhoods depressing land values concentrating atmospheric pollutants the mammoth infrastructure of the expressway is now increasingly crumbling into the ground How did we build the expressway world in the first place And what are we going to do now with it now This eye opening book explores these questions partly through the great expressway abolitions of recent years such as Boston's Central Artery buried and covered by a park and Seoul's Cheonggyecheon replaced with an artificial river. But the book also uncovers the hidden stories of expressways that have become weird attractions in their own right from London's Westway to São Paulo's Minhocão celebrated in art and literature. Above all, the book proposes counterintuitively that we find ways to live with the expressway world and to adapt it to a different future inspired by the many examples where people have already reinvented this challenging legacy on their own terms. Engaging with case studies across the world and recent thinking in the environmental humanities and architectural theory, this is a thought-provoking invitation to reconsider the most maligned structures of the recent urban past.

The Angle Between Two Walls Roger Luckhurst, 1998-01-01 This is the first theoretically informed book on Ballard reading his work not only within the science fiction genre but also connecting it to issues of popular culture and legitimisation postmodernism and the legacy of the avant-garde. Aiming where necessary to contextualise Ballard's fiction within the science fiction genre, Luckhurst's study also travels over many terrains more or less foreign to SF: existentialism, Surrealism, Pop Art, psychoanalysis, ethnologies of contemporary modernity and the theory of autobiography.

Sculpture Robin Peck, 2004 Sculpture examines the philosophy, history and material technology of sculpture within the frame of a travel narrative from Canada to New York and across Europe.

Spatial Politics in Contemporary London Literature Laura Colombino, 2013-06-19 This book analyses the spatial politics of a range of British novelists writing on London since the 1950s, emphasizing spatial representation as an embodied practice at the point where the architectural landscape and the body enter into relation with each other. Colombino visits the city in connection with its boundaries, abstract spaces and natural microcosms as they stand in for all the conflicting realms of identity; its interstices and ruins are seen as inhabited by bodies that reproduce internally the external conditions of political and social struggle. The study brings into focus the fiction in which London provides not a residual interest but a strong psychic phenomenological grounding and where the awareness of the physical reality of buildings and landscape conditions shape the concept of the subject traversing this space. Authors such as J.G. Ballard, Geoff Dyer, Michael Moorcock, Peter Ackroyd, Iain Sinclair, Geoff Ryman, Tom McCarthy, Michael Bracewell and Zadie Smith are considered in order to map the relationship of body, architecture and spatial politics in contemporary creative prose on the city. Through readings that are consistently informed by recent developments in urban studies and reflections formulated by architects, sociologists, anthropologists and art critics, this book offers a substantial contribution to the burgeoning field of literary urban studies.
