Alternative Routes to Formal Education H. D. Perraton, 1982 Alternative Routes to Formal Education H. D. Perraton, 1982 Alternative Routes to Formal Education World Bank. Research Committee, 1979 Alternative Routes to Formal Education Hilary Perraton, 1982 Distance Education for Teacher Training Hilary Perraton, 2002-03-11

Distance education combining the use of correspondence texts broadcasting and limited opportunities for face to face study has been used in at least a hundred teacher training programmes over the last 25 years Distance Education for Teacher Training is the first comparative review of the use of distance education and open learning for the training and upgrading of teachers The book contains case studies using a broadly common format both to describe and analyse distance teacher training programmes in eleven countries across five continents The case studies describe the methods used to examine how far the craft of teaching can be studied at a distance Using a standardised microeconomic framework they provide unique data on the comparative costs of training teachers by distance and conventional methods The authors then draw general conclusions about the advantages and drawbacks of using distance education or open learning about the conditions for success and about comparative effects and costs Distance Education for Teacher Training will be of value to all concerned with teacher education whether in developing or industrialised countries and to those working in and planning for distance education and open learning

Non-Formal Education Alan Rogers, 2007-03-06 The Comparative Education Research Centre CERC at the University of Hong Kong is proud and privileged to present this book in its series CERC Studies in Comparative Education Alan Rogers is a distinguished figure in the field of non formal education and brings to this volume more than three decades of experience The book is a masterly account which will be seen as a milestone in the literature It is based on the one hand on an exhaustive review of the literature and on the other hand on extensive practical experience in all parts of the world It is a truly comparative work which fits admirably into the series Much of the thrust of Rogers work is an analysis not only of the significance of non formal education but also of the reasons for changing fashions in the development community Confronting a major question at the outset Rogers ask why the terminology of non formal education which was so much in vogue in the 1970s and 1980s practically disappeared from the mainstream discourse in the 1990s and initial years of the present century Much of the book is therefore about paradigms in the domain of development studies and about the ways that fashions may gloss over substance
