Comrade Editor China Books & Periodicals, Incorporated, 1980-01-01 Urban Life in Contemporary China Martin King Whyte, William L. Parish, 1985-11-15 Through interviews with city residents Martin King Whyte and William L Parish provide a unique survey of urban life in the last decade of Mao Zedong's rule They conclude that changes in society produced under communism were truly revolutionary and that in the decade under scrutiny the Chinese avoided ostensibly universal evils of urbanism with considerable success At the same time however they find that this successful effort spawned new and equally serious urban problems bureaucratic rigidity low production and more Korea Briefing Kong Dan Oh, Ralph C. Hassig, 2002 This new edition of Korea Briefing provides a timely analysis of the evolving relationship between South and North Korea In June 2000 after years of ignoring the South Korean government the North Korean leader Kim Jong II finally agreed to a summit meeting with South Korea's President Kim Dae Jung As a sign of reconciliation the summit meeting has prompted Korea and its neighbors to rethink the assumptions of the Cold War era With contributions by a multi national panel of Korean experts the book discusses a wide range of topics including South Korean politics and economy Korea s relations with its neighbors and with the United States recent changes in North Korea the fate of North Korean defectors and lessons in German reunification for the two Koreas The discussions are supplemented by a glossary a chronology of events occurring from June 1999 to June 2001 and a bibliography Agrarian Radicalism in China, 1968-1981 David Zweig, 1989 During and after the Cultural Revolution radical leaders in the Chinese Communist Party tried to mobilize rural society for socioeconomic and political changes and move rural China to even higher stages of collectivism David Zweig argues that because advocates of agrarian radicalism formed a minority group within China's central leadership they acted in opposition to the dominant moderate forces and resorted to alternative strategies to mobilize support for their unofficial policies The limited institutionalization of the system allowed the radicals to promote their principles through policy winds speeches generated by newspaper articles networks of political allies and organized visits they also linked their policies to ongoing political and economic campaigns In spite of this radical ideology and frequent upheavals in the countryside Zweig finds that Chinese peasants had no ideological affinity for Mao s theory of the continuing revolution and reacted to each policy change on the basis of how it affected their personal family or collective interests Despite intense propaganda cadres adjusted the impact of these radical policies so that the peasants conservative mindset entrepreneurial spirit and desire to improve their own lot remained intact Zweig examines the local realities of the radicals program by describing the results of specific policies he discriminates among the responses of officials at different bureaucratic levels peasants of varying income levels and family structures and villages with specific geographic and socioeconomic characteristics He draws on his own field research in Chinese villages and interviews with Chinese college students and their friends who had lived in the countryside and emigr s in Hong Kong who had lived and worked in rural China People's China ,1956 A History of
