political reading of early modern philosophy of space Space and Political Universalism in Early Modern Physics and Philosophy reveals the connections between the logical development of early modern science the contemporary elaborations of the philosophy of the State and the historical articulations of the Westphalian system early capitalist social formations and the European colonial project In doing so it offers a powerful reflection on how we might detach democracy from the perilous metaphysics of infinite space that has engendered political violence and domination positing space as an emptiness that prevents the closure of the political itself

Space, Imagination and the Cosmos from Antiquity to the Early Modern Period Frederik A. Bakker, Delphine Bellis, Carla Rita Palmerino, 2019-02-05 This volume provides a much needed historically accurate narrative of the development of theories of space up to the beginning of the eighteenth century It studies conceptions of space that were implicitly or explicitly entailed by ancient medieval and early modern representations of the cosmos The authors reassess Alexandre Koyr's groundbreaking work From the Closed World to the Infinite Universe 1957 and they trace the permanence of arguments to be found throughout the Middle Ages and beyond By adopting a long timescale this book sheds new light on the continuity between various cosmological representations and their impact on the ontology and epistemology of space Readers may explore the work of a variety of authors including Aristotle Epicurus Henry of Ghent John Duns Scotus John Wyclif Peter Auriol Nicholas Bonet Francisco Suarez Francesco Patrizi Giordano Bruno Libert Froidmont Marin Mersenne Pierre Gassendi Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz and Samuel Clarke We see how reflections on space imagination and the cosmos were the product of a plurality of philosophical traditions that found themselves confronted with and enriched by various scientific and theological challenges which induced multiple conceptual adaptations and innovations This volume is a useful resource for historians of philosophy those with an interest in the history of science and particularly those seeking to understand the historical background of the philosophy of space The Poetics of Perspective James Elkins, 2018-10-18 Perspective has been a divided subject orphaned among various disciplines from philosophy to gardening In the first book to bring together recent thinking on perspective from such fields as art history literary theory aesthetics psychology and the history of mathematics James Elkins leads us to a new understanding of how we talk about pictures Elkins provides an abundantly illustrated history of the theory and practice of perspective Looking at key texts from the Renaissance to the present he traces a fundamental historical change that took place in the way in which perspective was conceptualized first a technique for constructing pictures it slowly became a metaphor for subjectivity That gradual transformation he observes has led to the rifts that today separate those who understand perspective as a historical or formal property of pictures from those who see it as a linguistic cognitive or epistemological metaphor Elkins considers how the principal concepts of perspective have been rewritten in work by Erwin Panofsky Hubert Damisch Martin Jay Paul Ricoeur Jacques Lacan Maurice Merleau Ponty and E H Gombrich The Poetics of Perspective illustrates that perspective is an unusual kind of subject it exists as a coherent idea but no one discipline offers an adequate exposition of it Rather than presenting perspective as a resonant metaphor for subjectivity a painter's tool without meaning a disused historical practice or a model for vision and representation Elkins proposes a comprehensive revaluation The perspective he describes is at once a series of specific pictorial decisions and a powerful figure for our knowledge of the world Historical Epistemology of Space Matthias Schemmel, 2015-12-11 This monograph investigates the development of human spatial knowledge by analyzing its elementary structures and studying how it is further shaped by various societal conditions By taking a thoroughly historical perspective on knowledge and integrating results from various disciplines this work throws new light on long standing problems in epistemology such as the relation between experience and preformed structures of cognition What do the orientation of apes and the theory of relativity have to do with each other Readers will learn how different forms of spatial thinking are related in a long term history of knowledge Scientific concepts of space such as Newton's absolute space or Einstein's curved spacetime are shown to be rooted in pre scientific structures of knowledge while at the same time enabling the integration of an ever expanding corpus of experiential knowledge This work addresses all readers interested in questions of epistemology in particular philosophers and historians of science It integrates forms of spatial knowledge from disciplines including anthropology developmental psychology and cognitive sciences amongst others Space, Time, World Michael Fortescue, 2024-02-15 Although major cognitively based studies of SPACE and TIME in language have appeared in terms of Frames of Reference these do not extend to a wide selection of the world's languages nor do they combine SPACE and TIME in the overarching concept of WORLD which has its own corresponding frames of reference The aim of relating and unifying these concepts and their expression across languages constitutes the unique thrust of the present book which will represent a significant extension of earlier approaches Among its main conclusions will be that the complete separation of terms for SPACE and TIME is a relatively recent cultural phenomenon rather than just a metaphorical extension of the latter from the former The book will be of interest to all students and practitioners of Linguistics in particular Cognitive Linguistics and Linguistic typology but also to a more general readership interested in the historical evolution of concepts of SPACE and TIME

Space and Self in Early Modern European Cultures David Warren Sabean,Malina Stefanovska,2012-01-01 The notion of selfhood conjures up images of self sufficiency integrity introspectiveness and autonomy characteristics typically associated with modernity The seventeenth century marks the crucial transition to a new form of bourgeois selfhood although the concept goes back to the pre modern and early modern period A richly interdisciplinary collection Space and Self integrates perspectives from history history of literature and history of art to link the issue of selfhood to the new and vital literature on space As Space and Self shows there have at all times been multiple paths and alternative possibilities for forming identities marking personhood and experiencing life as a concrete singular individual Positioning self and space as specific and evolving constructs a diverse group of contributors explore how persons become embodied in particular places or inscribed in concrete space Space and Self thus sets the terms for current discussion of these topics and provides new approaches to studying their cultural specificity
