Conceptual Issues In Environmental Archaeology:

Conceptual Issues in Environmental Archaeology, 1988

Umberto Albarella, 2013-04-17 Despite the fact that the human life of the past cannot be understood without taking into account its ecological relationships environmental studies are often marginalised in archaeology This is the first book that by discussing the meaning and purpose we give to the expression environmental archaeology investigates the reasons for such a problem This is achieved through the use of theoretical considerations and the aid of a number of case studies which by taking us from Anglo Saxon England to pre Columbian Venezuela and from Classical Greece to late Antique Egypt emphasise the potential of an integrated approach The book is written by archaeologists with different backgrounds and is addressed to all researchers who care about the past relationship between people and the rest of Nature Despite the complexity of some of the issues tackled the book is written in an accessible manner and should be of interest to all students who want to understand the essence of archaeology beyond the boundary of the individual sub disciplines

Conceptual Issues in Environmental Archaeology John L. Bintliff, Donald A. Davidson, Eric G. Grant, 1988 Papers in this book evolved from a symposium on title held at Oxford U Feb 1985 They examine issues connected with the integration of environmental research with archaeology and are diverse in terms of topic and approach The editors provide section introductions and an overview chapter by the Secretary of the Smithsonian is included Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Case Studies in Environmental Archaeology Elizabeth Reitz, C. Margaret Scarry, Sylvia J. Scudder, 2008 This book highlights studies addressing significant anthropological issues in the Americas from the perspective of environmental archaeology The book uses case studies to resolve questions related to human behavior in the past rather than to demonstrate the application of methods Each chapter is an original or revised work by an internationally recognized scientist This second edition is based on the 1996 book of the same title The editors have invited back a number of contributors from the first edition to revise and update their chapter New studies are included in order to cover recent developments in the field or additional pertinent topics

Archaeology: The Key Concepts Colin Renfrew, Paul Bahn, 2013-09-05 An invaluable resource providing an up to date and comprehensive survey of the key terms used in this discipline today

Environmental Archaeology Chris Turney, Matthew Canti, Nick Branch, Peter Clark, 2014-05-12 Environmental Archaeology Theoretical and Practical Approaches outlines and assesses the various methods used to reconstruct and explain the past interaction between people and their environment Emphasising the importance of a highly scientific approach to the subject the book combines geoarchaeological bioarchaeological archaeobotany and zooarchaeology and geochronological information and examines how these various aspects of archaeology may be used to enhance our knowledge and understanding of past human environments Drawing from both the practical experiences of the authors and cutting edge research Environmental Archaeology Theoretical and Practical Approaches is a valuable contribution to the subject It will be essential reading for students and professionals in archaeology geography and anthropology Environmental Archaeology and the Social Order John G. Evans,2004-02-24 This original and controversial volume sets a new agenda for the study and understanding of environmental archaeology and shows the environment as a means through which people explore their social world

Archaeology in Environment and Technology David Frankel,Susan Lawrence,Jennifer Webb,2013-05-02 Environments landscapes and ecological systems are often seen as fundamental by archaeologists but how they relate to society is understood in very different ways The chapters in this book take environment culture and technology together All have been the focus of much attention often one or other has been seen as the starting point for analysis but this volume argues that it is the study of the inter relationships between these three factors that offers a way forward The contributions to this book pick up different strands within the tangled web of intersections between environment technology and society providing a series of case studies which explore facets of this common theme in different settings and circumstances and from different perspectives As well as addressing themes of theoretical and methodological interest these case studies draw on primary research dealing with time periods from the late Pleistocene glacial maximum to the very recent past and involve societies of very different types Running through all the contributions however is a concern with the archaeological record and the ways in which scales of observation and availability of evidence affect the development of questions and explanations The diversity of the chapters in this volume demonstrates the inherent weakness in any attempt to prioritise environment technology or society These three factors are all embedded in any human activity as change in one will result in change in the others social and technical changes alter relations with the environment and indeed the environment itself and as environmental change drives changes in society and technology As this book shows it is possible to consider the relationship between the three factors from different perspectives but any attempt to consider one or even two in isolation will mean that valuable insights will be missed Reconstructing Past Population Trends in Mediterranean Europe (3000 BC - AD 1800) John Bintliff,Kostas Sbonias,2016-10-03 Archaeology of Populus Monograph in Archaeology of Mediterranean

Landscapes Series Population trends and demographics in general are discussed through a variety of case studies based in Mediterranean Europe The range of archaeological techniques and methods of analysis includes regional field surveys artifact scatter analysis palaeoanthropology historical and documentary sources and studies of cemeteries Rock Art and the Prehistory of Atlantic Europe Mr Richard Bradley,Richard Bradley,2002-11-01 Along the Atlantic seaboard from Scotland to Spain are numerous rock carvings made four to five thousand years ago whose interpretation poses a major challenge to the archaeologist In the first full length treatment of the subject based largely on new fieldwork Richard Bradley argues that these carvings should be interpreted as a series of symbolic messages that are shared between monuments artefacts and natural places in the landscape He discusses the cultural setting of the rock carvings and the ways in which they can be interpreted in relation to ancient land use the creation of ritual monuments and the burial of the dead

Integrating this fascinating yet little known material into the mainstream of prehistoric studies Richard Bradley demonstrates that these carvings played a fundamental role in the organization of the prehistoric landscape

A Companion to Environmental Geography Noel Castree, David Demeritt, Diana Liverman, Bruce Rhoads, 2016-10-03 A Companion to Environmental Geography is the first book to comprehensively and systematically map the research frontier of human environment geography in an accessible and comprehensive way Cross cuts several areas of a discipline which has traditionally been seen as divided presenting work by human and physical geographers in the same volume Presents both the current state of the art research and charts future possibilities for the discipline Extends the term environmental geography beyond its traditional meanings to include new work on nature and environment by human and physical geographers not just hazards resources and conservation geographers Contains essays from an outstanding group of international contributors from among established scholars and rising stars in geography

The Oxford Handbook of Ancient Anatolia Sharon R. Steadman, Gregory McMahon, 2011-09-15 This title provides comprehensive overviews on archaeological philological linguistic and historical issues at the forefront of Anatolian scholarship in the 21st century

The Origins of Agriculture in Europe I. J. Thorpe, 2003-09-02 The Origins of Agriculture in Europe takes a look at current ideas in the light of a considerable mass of literature and archaeological evidence examining the transition to agriculture through the comparison of social and economic developments across Europe In this volume I J Thorpe manages to evaluate various alternative explanations in detailed examples whilst also succeeding in addressing the broader theoretical questions which form the nucleus of contemporary debates This clearly written and accessible text is an extremely valuable resource for students of European prehistory

Marine Molluscan Remains from Franchthi Cave Judith C. Shackleton, 2018-10-26 the archaeological and paleoenvironmental data from Franchthi Cave are unique in providing a site specific record of the cultural responses to great environmental changes Quarterly Research The marine molluscan material covered here is the largest sample of its kind yet excavated in Greece

Geomorphology of Desert Environments A. D. Abrahams, A. Parsons, 2013-04-17 Over the last twenty years there has been a major expansion of knowledge in the field of landforms and landforming processes of deserts This advanced level book provides a benchmark for the current state of science and is written by an international team of authors who are acknowledged experts in their fields

The Origins And Spread Of Agriculture And Pastoralism In Eurasia David R. Harris, 2024-11-01 As the first book to examine the origins and spread of agriculture and pastoralism in Europe and Asia as a whole this major contribution should be essential reading for archaeologists anthropologists biologists and geographers Adopting a novel approach to the subject the authors examine it first in terms of seven different disciplinary perspectives social ecological genetic linguistic biomolecular epidemiological and geographical Then 20 case studies are presented which are based primarily on archaeological and biological evidence and which relate to three major regions Southwest Asia Europe and Central Asia to the Pacific The book concludes with an overview of Eurasia as a whole The transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture had revolutionary consequences for human society It led to the emergence of urban civilizations and ultimately to humanity's almost complete dependence on relatively few domesticated animals and plants The subject has been much studied but the results have tended to be interpreted largely in terms of local cultural sequences with insufficient comparison made with evidence from other areas In contrast this book provides a continental scale framework with its scope extended to pastoralism because in Eurasia both the raising of livestock and the cultivation of crops were integral components of the agricultural revolution from its inception some 10 000 years ago Comprehensive and authoritative The Origins and Spread of Agriculture and Pastoralism in Eurasia should appeal strongly to the wide readership of students and specialists concerned with the prehistoric antecedents of modern civilization

A Companion to Assyria Eckart Frahm, 2017-06-12 A Companion to Assyria is a collection of original essays on ancient Assyria written by key international scholars These new scholarly contributions have substantially reshaped contemporary understanding of society and life in this ancient civilization The only detailed up to date introduction providing a scholarly overview of ancient Assyria in English within the last fifty years Original essays written and edited by a team of respected Assyriology scholars from around the world An in depth exploration of Assyrian society and life including the latest thought on cities art religion literature economy and technology and political and military history

Ten Thousand Years of Cultivation at Kuk Swamp in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea Jack Golson, Tim Denham, Philip Hughes, Pamela Swadling, John Muke, 2017-07-07 Kuk is a settlement at c 1600 m altitude in the upper Wahgi Valley of the Western Highlands Province of Papua New Guinea near Mount Hagen the provincial capital The site forms part of the highland spine that runs for more than 2500 km from the western head of the island of New Guinea to the end of its eastern tail Until the early 1930s when the region was first explored by European outsiders it was thought to be a single uninhabited mountain chain Instead it was found to be a complex area of valleys and basins inhabited by large populations of people and pigs supported by the intensive cultivation of the tropical American sweet potato on the slopes above swampy valley bottoms With the end of World War II the area with others became a focus for the development of coffee and tea plantations of which the establishment of Kuk Research Station was a result Large scale drainage of the swamps produced abundant evidence in the form of stone axes and preserved wooden digging sticks and spades for their past use in cultivation Investigations in 1966 at a tea plantation in the upper Wahgi Valley by a small team from The Australian National University yielded a date of over 2000 years ago for a wooden stick collected from the bottom of a prehistoric ditch The establishment of Kuk Research Station a few kilometres away shortly afterwards provided an ideal opportunity for a research project

Landscape and Land Use in Postglacial Greece Paul Halstead, Charles Frederick, 2000-12-01 Collaboration between prehistorians and palaeoecologists is radically changing our understanding of the relationship between landscape land use and human settlement in Greece The chapters in this volume include case studies and broader syntheses developments of both on site and off site field methodology

explorations of palaeoecological and archaeological evidence and discussions of how the palaeoecological and archaeological records are formed Contributions range geographically over the contrasting natural and cultural landscapes of northern and southern Greece and the lowlands and highlands and chronologically over the whole postglacial period including studies of plant and animal ecology and of palaeoecological formation processes in the present The difficulty of disentangling climatic and anthropogenic causes of palaeoecological change is a recurrent theme Imagining Babylon Mario

Liverani, 2016-07-11 Ever since the archaeological rediscovery of the Ancient Near East generations of scholars have attempted to reconstruct the real Babylon known to us before from the evocative biblical account of the Tower of Babel After two centuries of excavations and scholarship Mario Liverani provides an insightful overview of modern Western approaches theories and accounts of the ancient Near Eastern city
