

Viola Concerto in C major

RV 396

Viola and Piano

Composed in Venice between 1720 and 1724 by Antonio Vivaldi

Transcribed
in Rome in 2019
by Santino Carrà

The original version of the manuscript is:
"Viola d'Amore Concerto in A major"

I.

Allegro $\text{♩} = 112$

The musical score is presented in four systems. Each system contains a Viola part on a single staff and a Piano part on a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The key signature is C major and the time signature is common time (C). The tempo is marked 'Allegro' with a quarter note equal to 112 beats per minute. The score includes various musical notations such as slurs, accents, and dynamic markings like 'p' (piano) and 'cresc.' (crescendo). The first system shows the initial rhythmic patterns for both instruments. The second system continues the development of these patterns. The third system features a prominent piano part with a crescendo and a more melodic Viola line. The fourth system concludes the first movement with a final cadence.

Concerto In C Set:

The Scoring of Baroque Concertos C. R. F. Maunder, 2004 Evidence indicates that the concertos of Vivaldi Bach Haydn etc were performed as chamber music not the full orchestral works commonly assumed The concertos of Vivaldi Bach Handel and their contemporaries are some of the most popular and the most frequently performed pieces of classical music and the assumption has always been they were full orchestral works This book takes issue with this orthodox opinion to argue quite the reverse that contemporaries regarded the concerto as chamber music The author surveys the evidence from surviving printed and manuscript performance material from concerts throughout Europe between 1685 and 1750 the heyday of the concerto demonstrating that concertos were nearly always played one to a part at that time He makes a particularly close study of the scoring of the bass line discussing the question of what instruments were most appropriate and what was used when The late Dr RICHARD MAUNDER was Fellow of Christ s College Cambridge Catalog, Columbia Records Columbia Recording Corporation, *Six Concertos for the Piano-Forte or Harpsichord ...
